Cash Register Stolen

In the empty A. W. Propst building at Union where there has been some store equipment stored, among it a cash register, there was stolen a few nights ago the register. Just what a thief would want of a cash register at this time when very few people are in need of such an accessory to their business is rather hard to understand. However, they probably had in mind selling it for a few dollars, and it is the people who buy such questionable goods at give-away prices who do more to encourage thievery than any one else. If caught, they should be made equally guilty with the one who actually does the stealing, although in most cases they are able to build up an alibi that keeps them out of trouble.

Enjoyed Fine Dinner

On last Sunday at the home of S. W. Copenhaver there were assembled to partake of a fine midday meal, W. H. Porter and wife. They enjoyed a fine visit together.

Home from Hospital

Mrs. Goldie Brannan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Joseph Lindsay, who went to an Omaha hospital a week ago Sunday, where she underwent an operation for relief from appendicitis, was very fortunate in that she was able to return to her father's home on last Sunday and is getting along nicely.

Stole Gas from Railroad

Besides the gasoline and a pair that were stolen from the Standard Oil company, there was also some fifty gallons of gas stolen from the Missouri Pacific railroad as well. Numerous thefts lately have led to a declaration of war on all such miscreants and someone will wake up with a nice lead of buckshot in their anatomy. Better watch your step, all you petty thieves, or you will be caught in the act.

Will Make Civic Improvement

Steps have been taken for the beginning of Union's civic works project, which received approval of the state CWA board at Lincoln Monday evening. All cost of labor will be met by the federal government, and up to 10 per cent of the amount of the job for material. The work will be under way in full force in a few days and provide employment to all who are in need of it and are registered with the county re-employment office. Married men with dependents and men on the charity relief roll are first in line for the new jobs created, but with a nice allotment given to Union for its street work project, there should be sufficient work for all who really desire to work.

The total amount allotted to Union was $1,700 for street work and $640 for school improvement and that will pay for a good many man-hours at 40 cents per hour.

To Celebrate Thanksgiving

The Baptist church and Bible school of Union are to serve dinner at the church building as they have a splendid dining room and at the same time they will give a very pleasant program from 11 to 12 o'clock, which will be a dramatization of the Book of Ruth and which the young people have turned into a very fine play, and one which no one should miss.

Advised of Sister's Death

J. Clayton Gurl, who has made his home in the vicinity of Union for many years, recently received a sad message, informing him of the death of his sister, Mrs. Charles Grant, of near Fairplay, Mo., who passed away at the age of sixty-one years. Mr. Gurl and Fred Grant, of Union, the latter being a son of the deceased, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hardaway, of Wabash, hastened to Fair Play, where they went to attend the funeral of the mother and sister. Mrs. Grant died on November 13 and was buried November 16. She was a devout member of the Methodist church. Her husband had preceded her in death about three years ago. She leaves to mourn her departure, her brother, J. C. Gurl, of Union, a son, Fred Grant, of Union, and a daughter, Mrs. Sherman Hardaway, of Wabash. Interment was made at the Prairie cemetery seven miles west of Fairplay, Mo.

Visited Friends Here

Conductor Perry, who for many years was a familiar figure in Union, serving the Missouri Pacific on their branch line between here and Lincoln, but who has been retired on a pension for some time because of old age and his long years of service with the company, was here last Sunday evening, coming down from his home in Lincoln to visit with friends and renew old acquaintances. All were pleased to meet this excellent man and railroad worker and to note that he is hale and hearty and enjoying good health.

didate for governor, accompanied by Mrs. Banning were visitors in Lincoln last Saturday, taking in the Iowa-Nebraska football game, which was won by the Cornhuskers.

Mr. Banning is receiving much encouragement from friends all over the state since announcing his candidacy for governor, and certainly there is no better qualified man in the state to hold this responsible office, his long experience in public affairs giving him a keen insight into the needs of the state.

Married by the Judge

Judge Phillip F. Rihn was called upon to officiate at a wedding on last Wednesday, November 15th, which was duly performed by the genial magistrate. The parties who were joined in wedlock were Miss Delene Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Eaton, and a young woman of high character and many fine accomplishments, and Howard Kennell, a young man residing near Nebraska City. Their attendants were Miss James and Herbert Eaton.

This was the first adventure in the tying of a nuptial knot by Judge Rihn who is to be congratulated on the clever manner in which he performed the nuptial rites. With his fame now established, it is highly probable he will be called upon again and often to perform similar services for other young couples seeking to consummate their life's happiness.

TOWN TEAM WINS GAME

From Wednesday's Daily
The Plattsmouth town team last evening had a practice game with the team of the Service Co., of the 17th infantry at Fort Crook and in which the locals were winners by the score of 88 to 4.

The town team showed up well and gives promise of being an organization that can take on the best of the basketball teams in this part of the country and one that has speed and plenty of scoring power.

Robert Rummel, former high school star, was one of the forwards, and led the scoring, with Louis Knodlock and Sam Arn as his co-forwards in the game, all looking good. Joe Krejci, was again a wizard at the guard and center positions and placed a large number of baskets. Clarence Forbes, former all state high school guard, played his usual brilliant game and has lost none of the fire of his high school days.

The team expects to secure dates with many of the leading teams here and that are touring over the country and with their showing should have good crowds out to see their games.

Henry Donat, center, suffered an injured ankle during the practice game and was forced to retire from the game, but should be back in shape for the next practice.

Obtaining Corn Loans.

The first step in obtaining the 45 cent loan on ear corn is to have the crib inspected, sealed and certified under provision of the Nebraska warehousing law, the State Railway Commission, which administers the warehousing law, advises. The commission has appointed W. B. Banning of Union as local inspector in this county. Mr. Banning has the application blanks and some additional information. He will be glad to answer questions for farmers who want to know more about getting the loans.

What the Farmer Gets: Forty-five cents a bushel on merchantable ear corn stored on the farm. Previous information lead Nebraska people to believe that both shelled corn and ear corn would be acceptable, but the shelled corn in bins will not be considered.

What the Farmer Must Do:

1. Sign agreement to reduce corn and hogs according to corn-hog program.

2. Pay 4 per cent interest on the loan.

3. Have stored corn sealed and warehouse certificate issued by county warehousing board.

4. Pay off loan at any time desired, or if price of corn goes down and the borrower prefers to let the government take the corn, he can discharge the obligation in full by shelling corn and delivering it at nearest elevator at time set by government after August 1, 1934.

When Loans Will Be Available: Warehouse boards are being set up now. Loans will be made as soon as loan blanks arrive, probably on or about December 1.

Corn pledged must be of the Flint or Dent variety in the ear, must be of merchantable quality to grade not less than No. 4 and must be stored in a sound crib, tightly roofed and floored and sealed under the Nebraska Farm Storage Act, as evidenced by a properly issued negotiable certificate.

Some of the pertinent questions regarding the corn loan are answered by Secretary Wallace as follows:

Q. Can we borrow on 1933 corn as well as old corn?

A. Yes.

Q. Can a man who bought corn for speculation borrow?

A. No. A farmer can borrow only on corn stored on his own farm, and the corn must be some he has raised himself or has bought for feeding purposes. A corn speculator who tries to get a loan will lay himself open to criminal prosecution.

Q. If I want a loan how do I go about it?

A. Call up your local warehouse

'Give Me a Chance to Explain!' Holmes Cried; 'You Gave Brooke Hart No Chance!' Mob Shrieks

Battered almost into insensibility by the aroused manhood and womanhood of San Jose, Cal., Jack Holmes, confessed kidnaper and slayer of Brooke L. Hart, was lynched at midnight last Sunday night, a few minutes after he was dragged fighting and cursing from his cell in the San Jose county jail to St. James park across the street. Every vestige of clothing was stripped from his body by the infuriated mob, the pair of shorts shown in the picture having been painted on the body by an International News artist to somewhat relieve the stark horror of the scene. When Holmes finally cried for mercy he was struck to the ground again and reminded of the mercilessness which he admitted having shown to the pleading Hart boy.

After Thomas H. Thurmond was flung aloft by a Vigilante committee of fifty San Jose citizens, someone hurled a bucket of kerosene on the swaying victim and another touched it off with a match. For a moment the body of the confessed slayer and kidnaper of Brooke L. Hart was enveloped in a sheet of flame. Other vigilantes quickly doused the flames, and in doing so tore Thurmond's trousers off. The grotesque figure, garbed only in coat and shirt, continued to sway in the mild breeze under the sycamore tree in St. James park.
