Fine Progress on Work at the Scout Cabin

Crying Need Now for Material Money to Make It One of Finest in the Entire State.

From Friday's Daily

Framing and boxing of the Scout cabin at Camp Wheeler has been completed and yesterday workmen started laying shingles on the roof. The shingles were purchased by the Rotary club from the proceeds of a special birthday fund created by Past President William Baird when he was head of the club, and which had grown to some $90. The fund was created as a memorial to the Bairds' deceased son, and was dedicated to use in worthy boys' work, of which the Rotary club deemed the new cabin project most worthy. In addition to the purchase of the required fifteen squares of roofing material and roofing nails, the club has also paid the first year's rental on land leased for this recreational grounds, thereby practically exhausting the fund.

The roof is of "hex" type fireproof asbestos shingles in a pleasing color, and of a quality calculated to last for many years.

With but $94.60 allotted by the government for material, more than half of which has already been expended for lime, cement and sand with which to lay the foundation walls and chimneys, nails and expense of transporting material to the site, it will be necessary to raise some additional money for a floor for the large main building and adjoining kitchen, requiring upwards of 1,200 board feet, as all available salvaged material suitable for this purpose has been used. In addition it is hoped to cover the outside with stucco or log slabs to give it a log cabin appearance, either of which can be provided as cheaply as paint and to either plaster or wall board the inside partitions. Plenty of man hours to do all this work are provided in the government grant, but the crying need is for material.

The public is invited to visit the cabin and note the progress made in the work, also the possibilities of making it one of the finest in the state if a little money can be dug up for material. To reach the grounds, drive south on Highway 75 to where the transmission line turns west. Go east from that corner one mile to the Rock Creek schoolhouse, thence south a quarter of a mile over the Rock Creek bridge, where a foot gate has been provided. The cabin occupies a slightly position on the crest of the second hill back from the road, some forty feet above the rock ledge that forms the south bank of Rock Creek at that point.

Farney Co. to Have Offices in Business Section

General Officers Will Be Located at the Former First National Bank Building.

The general offices of the A. W. Farney Co. Inc., will in the future be located in the former First National bank building and where all of the business affairs of the company in connection with the Missouri river improvement work will be handled.

Heretofore the business of the company has been handled from the offices on the scene of the work, east of this city but with the closing down of the greater part of the work, the records and equipment of the business office will be brought here and located in the bank building, a place ideally suited for this line.

The bank building has been used as the pay station on Saturdays for the past several weeks and the new change will make it the regular headquarters for all of the company business.

Mr. McAllister and Mr. Oliver of the auditing department of the company will have their offices at the new location with their office staff.

Sues for Damage for Train-Car Wreck at Murray

Edith Bailar by Florence Bailar Next Friend, Asks $2,999 of the Missouri Pacific.

From Saturday's Daily

This morning in the office of the clerk of the district court there was filed an action by Edith Bailar, a minor, by her next friend, Mrs. Florence Bailar, in which damages in the sum of $2,999 is asked of the Missouri Pacific railroad.

The suit is one arising from the fatal accident at the Murray railroad crossing on the night of June 18, 1933, in which Mr. Bailar, his son, Robert, and a lady companion were killed and Mrs. Bailar and the plaintiff badly injured.

The plaintiff in her petition alleges that near the crossing there is a street light that is unprotected by a shade and blinds one driving east onto the crossing, that the railroad company had two box cars on the west sidetrack that obscured the view of any approaching train from the north and also that the alarm system maintained at the crossing, a bell and red light was out of commission and not in operation at the time of the accident.

The plaintiff claims to have sustained injuries that necessitated her treatment and care over a considerable period of time at the University hospital at Omaha and for the injuries sustained the plaintiff asks the sum of $2,999 in damages against the defendant railroad company.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE HERE

B. B. Dawson, of Lincoln, Scout executive of the Cornhusker Boy Scout area, comprising 55 Nebraska counties, was in Plattsmouth Wednesday for a brief conference with local Scout officials, being on his way to Nebraska City to attend the bi-monthly business meeting of this district, which was held there last night.

Both Mr. Dawson and his assistant, Lee E. Harbottle, are kept constantly on the go covering the large territory that the Cornhusker area now embraces. Southeastern Nebraska towns, formerly connected with the now defunct Nemaha area, were only recently added to the Cornhusker area territory to reduce administration expenses, as the cost of maintaining the smaller area proved too great for the towns served under conditions existing the past few years.

The Cornhusker area is under able leadership and equipped to render service to each of the districts at a much smaller cost than the old plan entailed. Besides the bi-monthly business meetings of the district committees there are also bi-monthly courts of honor at the different towns over the various districts, the next of these for this district to be held in Plattsmouth on the evening of January 10. Boys will be here from some fifteen towns of Nemaha, Otoe and Cass counties, which comprise this district, to receive advancement and merit awards.

Mr. Dawson drove from here to Weeping Water to confer with Scout officials there before continuing on to Nebraska City for the evening business meeting. En route, he stopped to inspect the Scout cabin being erected at Camp Wheeler on Rock Creek six miles south of town, and expressed himself as well pleased with the splendid facilities that are to be provided local Scouts when the new cabin and swimming hole projects are completed.

He stated several other towns over the state have been allotted CWA funds for Scout projects since announcement was first made of the grant of funds for that purpose here.

One of the matters that was to have come before the district meeting last night was the selection of a district representative to go to Lincoln during Anniversary week in February and fill the position of some state office, but Mr. Dawson stated that no town in the district was able to qualify a boy for this place, the requirements of which were a First Class Scout, under 16 years of age, holding a Civics merit award. As a result some other district will be privileged to furnish an extra boy to fill the vacancy.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Mrs. D. C. Morgan of this city is to spend the holidays at Lincoln with her sister, Mrs. A. W. Hallam and family and Miss Catherine Schrack. The occasion will be made more pleasurable by the fact that Miss Amelia Schrack, of Portland, Oregon, a sister of Miss Catherine Schrack, will be a member of the holiday party at Lincoln. She is en route from her home to New York to attend a conference of the Y. W. C. A., being the official delegate of Portland and given the opportunity of traveling across the continent to attend the meeting that will bring representatives from all parts of the country.

This morning Sheriff E. W. Richter, sheriff at Manhattan, Kansas, arrived in the city to secure Victor Marmann, young man arrested Friday at Weeping Water by Sheriff Homer Sylvester. The young man is wanted at Manhattan on a charge of having stolen equipment belonging to the Blue Hill Gravel Co., of that place.

The young man has been at Weeping Water for some time, engaged in working in the rock quarries near that place and on the request of the Kansas authorities he was arrested and held for their arrival. The sheriff and his prisoner departed at once for Manhattan.

ISSUING LICENSES

The county treasurer's office has been busy the past week in the issuance of the new auto licenses for the year 1934. The new plates are green with white numerals and are smaller than in previous years, with Nebraska spelled out in full across the bottom. The treasurer, however, is not issuing commercial truck licenses as yet, awaiting instructions from the state as to the regulations that may be called for as regards the licenses.

Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor of Union, were in the city Friday for a short time to look after some matters of business and while here Rev. Taylor was a caller at the Journal office for a very pleasant visit.

HERE FOR HOLIDAYS

Mrs. William Hendricks, of Fairbault, Minnesota, is to arrive Saturday from her home in the north for a visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lepert and family at the farm south of this city. Mrs. Hendricks is the mother of Mrs. Lepert and the visit is one that the family is anticipating with the greatest of pleasure. She will remain here over the first of the year.

Death Cheated by 'Chute

Take a look at this wreck and imagine what Karl Day, air mail pilot, would have been if he hadn't become a caterpillar. Day, shown in insert with 'chute that saved his life, bailed out of his ship near Dearborn, Mich., after his motor conked out. The plane, which crashed in a nearby field, was a total loss.
