DINNER GIVEN FOR HOWARD

Columbus, Neb.—By way of congratulating him on his recovery from his recent illness and also of extending best wishes on the eve of his departure for Washington, 300 friends of Congressman Howard of Columbus attended a dinner here Thursday night. With District Judge Lightner presiding, short talks were given by Arthur J. Weaver of Falls City, R. L. Metcalfe of Omaha, Charles Smrha, now of Grand Island, and others.

Howard expressed appreciation for the friendliness shown and pledged his best efforts at the coming session of congress in helping make the recovery program of President Roosevelt a success. Letters and telegrams from a number of prominent men thruout the nation, including Vice President Garner, Governor Bryan, Mayor-elect LaGuardia of New York, Arthur Mullen, Joseph W. Byrnes, majority leader in the house of representatives, Henry T. Rainey, speaker of the house committee on agriculture, and Senator Thompson of Grand Island, were read.

Roosevelt Told Congress Ready to Support Him

Short, Businesslike Session Promised by Majority Leaders—Banking Outlook Good.

Washington.—Congressional leaders declared themselves against recovery tinkering efforts and promised President Roosevelt a short, businesslike session devoted almost exclusively to the enactment of the necessary budget measures. As this well defined administration program emerged, President Roosevelt neared a conclusion of his roundup of the national situation which brought a report from government fiscal aides of a "fine" banking outlook.

Winthrop Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National bank, joined in the white house business review and said conditions were "gradually improving."

Speaker Rainey sounded a keynote of "short, harmonious and constructive," for the congressional session opening next week. He made his prediction at the white house after a talk with the president. "We are going to have a very important session," said the speaker, "but it will be a working one rather than dramatic. We will pass the supply bills, the tax bills, the liquor measures and adjourn early in May."

Rainey's program excluded the much discussed permanent legislation to regulate railroads and stock exchanges, along with attempts to amend the recovery program that was enacted in the special session last spring.

Senator Connally, of Texas, a democratic member of the finance committee, assured the president of support for his dollar devaluation monetary program.

Rainey said there was very strong sentiment on capitol hill for additional aid for the silver industry and predicted some action "if any encouragement comes from the president."

None of the day's white house callers would discuss the monetary program, but the president kept close contact with those involved in the money situation and there were renewed anticipations of new monetary moves.

In a brief survey of the banking situation, the president talked with Acting Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury, Governor Black of the federal reserve board, J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, and Walter Cummings, head of the Bank Deposit Insurance corporation.

ASKS HELP FOR PRESIDENT

Police disclaimed knowledge of Van Pelt's whereabouts.

Radical Revolt in Argentina is Quickly Halted

Government Claims to Hold the Mastery After the Killing of Twenty.

Buenos Aires.—A state of siege was declared for an indefinite period by the Argentine government as the result of a revolutionary plot leading to violent disorders in four provinces. The action, which is similar to a state of war, followed upon a cabinet meeting at which it was decided that the disorders must be curbed at any cost.

Buenos Aires.—The Argentine government announced the suppressing of a revolutionary plot launched concerted before dawn in four provinces by extremist elements among the nation's million radical voters, disfranchised since a 1930 revolt. Private reports from Rosario, in Santa Fe province, said firing was renewed during the morning between rebels and loyal forces at Rosario, where twenty persons were slain. About 100 persons, including many soldiers, were hurt, and 500 were arrested.

Rebels claimed they controlled most of the police stations in Santa Fe, but Buenos Aires, where all policemen and two infantry regiments were held in readiness, and other cities were quiet. Government officials announced that "attempts to disturb the order in diverse locations, especially Santa Fe province, were quelled without major effort." A resumption of a state siege, last invoked with the discovery of an anti-government plot a year ago, was considered.

The day's disturbances coincided with a decision of the national convention of the radical party in Santa Fe to refrain from participating in March parliamentary elections. The party contended that the voting will be "manipulated" and that radical candidates would be defeated, altho President Justo promised fair elections and observers believed the radicals might be able to elect twenty-five deputies. In such an event, it was said, the gradual rehabilitation of the party, which has virtually been barred from elections for three years, would begin.

Disturbances in Rosario, Santa Fe, Caracana, San Jeronimo, Canada De Gomez, Santa Anna, Paso Libres, San Luis, La Plata, Arellanada, and Buenos Aires, affecting the provinces of Santa Fe, San Luis, Corrientes, and Buenos Aires, broke out at 3 a. m. Armed groups attacked postoffices, police stations, arsenals, coastguard stations, and firehouses in some cities, particularly Rosario, but in Buenos Aires and elsewhere police frustrated the insurgents' efforts by making arrests before the outbreaks. Political circles and public opinion here belittled the movement in view of the easy suppression.

"SEWED IN" FOR WINTER

Hindersville, Ark.—High up here in the Ozarks the "young 'uns" have been sewed in for the winter.

The winter supply of "chawin" terbacca" has been laid in and oak logs split for firewood; "wimminfolks" and men have donned their woollens, and the youngsters have been placed in red flannels.

On the heels of the first big cold spell of the mountains the elders corralled the children and sewed them into flannels, which will not be removed until warm weather comes again to the hills.

Baths are taboo with the youngsters in the wintertime. They simply can't get out of their flannels once they are "sewed in." No buttons are used.

Landslide Maroons Train Two Days

At left are two views of the landslide and washout which marooned the "Olympian," crack train of the Milwaukee Road, for two days in the mountains of western Montana. The train, which carried 120 passengers, narrowly escaped being plunged into the mountain lake, but was brought to a stop a few hundred yards from point where track was washed out. At right, the "Olympian," as it was halted in time to avert disaster. These pictures were made by Daniel Merriman, of Cambridge, Mass., one of the passengers.

LANDLORD WOUNDS WOMEN

Oakland, Calif.—Two women were shot, one perhaps fatally, and Jack Kutsch was held by police after he allegedly admitted turning a rifle upon them because they failed to pay $22.50 rent on a cottage he had let to them.

Mrs. Adella Wilmot and daughter, Mrs. Lois Maceto, 22, were the victims. Physicians said Mrs. Wilmot probably would not live and Mrs. Maceto was in serious condition.

Officers said Kutsch had rented a cottage to the rear of his home to Mrs. Maceto and her husband, Victor Maceto, a jobless man, and had been attempting several days to collect back rent. The Maceto family started moving out of the cottage Tuesday and Kutsch, police said, warned them not to take their household goods away without paying him. Kutsch displayed the rifle, members of the family said, and Maceto and his brother-in-law, Vernon Wilmot, went in search of a policeman. The officers said Kutsch then apparently flew into a rage and opened fire on the women.

MORE SHOOTING AT HAVANA

Havana.—Bullets spattered in Havana streets again, starting with a vicious fight in the shopping district between labor pickets and employes of an F. W. Woolworth company store. Police, answering a riot call, dispersed the crowd with clubs, firing at least 100 shots into the air.

Snipers perched on roofs took advantage of the racket to begin firing on their own account in several sections of the city. A careful check of hospitals and morgues revealed no casualties.
