

Named in Hollywood Reconciliation Epidemic

According to boulevard gossips, the doctrine of "first love, best love" is enjoying popularity in Hollywood just now. To prove their point they cite at least three cases of parted stars slowly, but surely, drifting together again. Ruth Chatterton, who divorced Ralph Forbes and married George Brent, is one example. With the break-up of the Chatterton-Brent idyll, gossips predict Forbes will once more lead Miss Chatterton to the altar. Then, too, although Harry Bannister has been reported engaged several times since his divorce from Ann Harding, the betting is that they'll remarry. The breach between Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks grows narrower daily. Trans-Atlantic telephone conversations, flowers and birthday greetings by cable, are straws that show how the wind blows with the bounding Doug and "America's Sweetheart."

A Second Plan Proposed for One House Assembly

Norris and Boelts Both Have Proposals to Submit to the Nebraska Voters.

Nebraska voters may get a chance to vote on two schemes to give the state a one house legislature, but only one can take effect even if the electors approve both.

Petitions now are in circulation to place on the November general election ballot by initiative the proposed constitutional amendment of Senator Norris, embodying the independent republican dream of a small, non-partisan, one chamber legislature, and also the counter proposal for a 100 member body, offered by State Senator John G. Boelts, a Merrick county farmer.

Both sponsors look on their plans as a means of getting the government closer to the people. Norris thinks a small chamber will permit responsibility to be fixed more definitely and assure better government. Boelts thinks if the number is reduced below 100, the size of the present state house of representatives, it would make it easier for lobbyists to control the legislature. Both see two chambers as a means of cluttering up the legislative record and preventing people from knowing what really is going on.

The principle of a unicameral legislature will be under fire from several former legislators and other persons interested in state government, who think the present two house plan prevents mistakes and careless legislation.

It takes only a majority of the votes cast on a constitutional amendment to place it in the Nebraska constitution, provided the affirmative votes are 35 percent of the total cast in the general election. If both amendments are approved in the required manner, the one with the largest number of affirmative votes would be effective.

This never has happened, but sponsors of an amendment for increasing authority of municipalities for construction and extension of public electric power plants feared it would a few years ago. Three somewhat similar proposals appeared on the ballot, the one favored by municipal ownership forces and two others which they charged were inspired by private power interests and differed just enough to make the enactments ineffective if adopted. The one favored by the municipal ownership forces, however, carried and the others were defeated.

That Old Ragged Cap

I know that old cap of mine is quite delapidated: A fact my old friend Simon has often stated. He says, "You have worn it a dozen years or more. For the bill is quite ragged and the back is all tore." It is all I have, but I cannot complain— For I've worn it in sunshine, in snow and in rain. In years, I have worn it quite a number in succession; I have worn it in good times, and also in depression. I know it is all torn, and quite out of style. But I am inclined to keep on wearing it yet for a while. For what people say, I do not give a rap. For there is nothing that gives so much comfort as that old ragged cap. It will do for a laborer, but not for some gent; And the truth of it is, it only cost me fifteen cents. It has lasted me now for quite a good while. Even though it is ragged and all out of style. —O. ### TWO HELD ON INDICTMENTS

Fargo, N. D.—Two persons were arrested here on indictments returned by the federal grand jury investigating alleged levies on salaries of relief workers in North Dakota. Accused in the indictments, and under arrest, are R. A. Kinzer and J. A. Kinzer, father and son, of Valley City. Kinzer formerly was executive secretary of the federal relief setup in North Dakota. The indictments charge violations of federal statutes covering demands on federal employees.

The grand jury began its inquiry Tuesday. Federal officials had indicated the investigation would be made when they recently removed Governor Langer as head of federal relief activities in North Dakota, charging relief workers had been forced to contribute to the support of an administration newspaper. The governor denied the charges.

Nine Persons Seized in Hunt for Barrow

$4,000 in $20 Bills Is Taken, But Wanted Desperado Not in the Building.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 12.—A police raid on the suspected hideout of Clyde Barrow in an apartment house here today failed to turn up the Texas desperado. However, it led to the arrest of six men and three women and the finding of about four thousand dollars in $20 bills.

They were held for investigation. Police said after questioning them that they apparently had obtained the money legitimately. The women said they were wives of three of the prisoners.

As the police closed in on the place, two men and a woman with a 6-month-old baby ran out, entered a car and sped away.

Police overtook the fleeing car on a highway, arresting the occupants who gave their names as Bill H. Thorne, 42, of Deming, N. M., his wife and baby, and Clifford Kell, 26, of Julia, Tex.

Those arrested in the apartment house identified themselves as Frank Montgomery, 37, of Amarillo, Tex.; Jess Grover Butts, 41, of Huntsville, Ark., and his wife; Guy Taylor, 24, of Little Rock and Alexandria, La.; Andrew McDaniel, 18, of Hot Springs, and the wife of Krell.

Treasury Calls for Bonds Worth Billion Dollars

Moves to Slash Interest by Redeeming Fourth Liberty Issues—Draw for Numbers.

Washington.—The treasury called 1,200 billions in Fourth Liberty bonds for redemption next October in a second administration move to slash public debt interest charges. Secretary Morgenthau drew from a glass jar to select the serial numbers of the bonds called for April 15. "I don't know whether you've ever seen this before, but here goes," Morgenthau smiled to newsmen as he grasped a paper cylinder.

The result was that holders of the 4 1/2 percent Fourth Liberties whose bonds have serial numbers ending with an 8 or 2 will be notified that their securities are due in the middle of next October. A treasury announcement indicated they would have an opportunity to exchange these called bonds for later issues of government securities.

The new call was made just as Morgenthau announced that the conversion offering of 3 1/2 percent 10 to 12 year bonds for Fourth Liberties, called last October for April 15, and for $244,234,600 in 3 percent notes maturing May 2 totalled $1,031,000,000.

Of approximately a billion in Fourth Liberties called for this month, exchange subscriptions came to 797 millions. At the lower interest rate this means an annual saving of nearly 8 millions. The 234 million dollar exchange of notes for bonds that pay an additional one-half percent, however, increases carrying charges nearly $600,000.

CONVICTED OF HERESY

Independence, Mo.—Samuel Wood of Presco, Calif., formerly a member of a quorum of twelve of the Church of Christ, was deprived of his robes of priesthood in a resolution adopted by the general assembly here. Church officials said his position was declared vacant on the basis of the report of a court of three elders which convicted him of three charges—heresy, open rebellion against the church's rules and regulations, and unchristian conduct in quorum session.

Blue Book Beauties Scaling Movie Heights

It is the "poor little rich girls" who are getting the "breaks" in the movies. In recent months Hollywood has gone social register with gusto. Among the society buds who are climbing the ladder of film fame are Elizabeth Young, of New York; Virginia Peine Lehman, of Chicago; Merry Farmney, also of the Windy City; Janet Snowden, New York and Newport, who tired of being a princess after five days as the wife of Prince Caravita; Winnie Flint, society wife of Gil Berry, All-American grid star, and Rosamond Pinchot, niece of the Governor of Pennsylvania. According to a studio executive, all these girls are winning success on their merits. It is pointed out that they possess the appearance of breeding, beauty of face and figure and ability to deliver their lines convincingly that are today essential to film success.
