Wind Storm Does Damage to Power Lines in South

Union and Nehawka Are Without Light for Some Time—Emergency Force On Scene.

The high wind that swept the intense dust storm on its path over this section of the west, did considerable damage in the vicinity of Nehawka and Union when poles of the power lines were blown down.

The blowing down of the poles placed the lines out of commission for some time and the two towns were deprived of electricity for some hours. As soon as the effect of the storm was learned here a force of the linemen and workers of the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power Co. were rushed to the scene to repair the damage and place the line back in shape.
Small buildings on several of the farms suffered a great deal from the storm and many were blown down by the force of the wind.
The dust feature of the storm was the worst that has been visited in this section and left in its wake piles of dirt along highways as well as penetrating into homes and business houses.
