Preparing for Annual Old Settlers' Meet

Committee to Make Affair One of the Big Events of the Fall Festival.

The committee in charge of the Old Settlers' Reunion, a part of the fall festival program, are working hard on the plans to make this an outstanding feature of the big annual gathering, September 19th to 22nd inclusive.

The committee comprises E. H. Schulhof, Judge Charles L. Graves and George B. Mann, who were out in the county Friday and came in touch with a large number of residents in the different communities, inviting them in for the reunion and secured the promises of many attractions from the several communities that will be featured on the program.

The reunion is the outgrowth of the Old Settlers which was held for so many years at Union, Judge Graves being one of those who first launched the event in 1889. In the years of the depression the reunion was abandoned and has been held here as a part of the fall festival for the past two years.

There will be musical programs appropriate to the celebration of the old timers, the place of holding this to be announced later.

One of the features of the reunion will be the wonderful collection of old time pictures that is owned by George B. Mann, this embracing many of the old buildings, scenes and persons who have been residents in Cass county in the past seventy years. To the old time residents who will be here for the day, the collection will be an unfailing source of interest and to the younger they may find many interesting historic personages in the collection.

The Peerless scored runs in the first and fourth innings to have a two to nothing lead against the Eagles when the lodgemen came to bat in the last of the fifth when several errors, two walks and three hits, including a home run by Louie Kief, brought the lodgemen three scores and a one point lead.

The game exploded in the first of the sixth when Bill Smith singled and was followed by Svoboda with a triple that was the bone of contention. The umpires ruled the triple a fair ball and which scored Smith and tied up the game. The Eagles protesting the game declined to play further unless the ruling was changed and the game therefore was forfeited formally to the Peerless team.

AUTOMOBILE TURNED OVER

On Tuesday morning Chas. F. Wood happened with an auto accident three miles north of Elmwood. He was coming down the hill there from the north when something went wrong with his car and it began to swerve around in the road, he losing control of it. The car turned over twice according to Charley and landed on its side on the west side of the road. From all appearances it seems that it turned over once just before going over the bank and then again. Charley was able to get out by himself and the only injury that he received was a scratch on his arm aside from a good shaking up. The car was not damaged greatly and no glasses in it were broken. He feels rather lucky at the outcome of the accident and says that it could have been much worse. The car was brought into town and within a little while was going again. It was thought afterward that the accident was due to a tire blowing out—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

PIANO RECITAL

Mrs. Roy Cole presents her class of piano pupils in recital, Tuesday evening, September 11th at 8:15 at the Mynard church. The public is invited.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Mrs. Harry White, superintendent of the children's department of Foreign Missions, in the Methodist church, entertained the little ones at a very happy party on Friday, after school. It was given on the lawn north of the church. Here games were heartily entered into by the guests, Mrs. White, and Mrs. Potter, her helper.

The peanut hunt was especially successful, everyone finding at least a few. While the peanuts were being disposed of, Mrs. Frank Barkus related a short missionary story to the children.

They were then summoned to enjoy the delicious lunch which their leader had prepared.

All had been saving pennies and other small change for their little boxes, to bring to the party. When Mrs. White counted them, Kathryn Kopiciska had the largest amount, so she was given a big cheer by the others.

Soon all the children thanked Mrs. White for her gay party and hoped she would have another next year.
