PRICES OF MEAT DOUBLED

Chicago.—Sale of championship meat exceeded last year's in all but two instances in two days of auctioneering at the international livestock exposition. Santa Claus is Planning to Visit This City

Busy Patron of Holidays Will Be Here Saturday, December 15, to Greet the Youngsters.

From Saturday's Daily Santa Claus, who made his definite acceptance of the invitation to visit this city yesterday, has fixed the date of his appearance here at Saturday, December 15th, when he will visit the children in this part of the west.

The genial Santa is urging the local committees for his reception to be all ready and that all of the children in this territory are on hand to greet him as he desires to meet every one of the youngsters.

Just what mode of travel Santa will take is not known as he has gone modern and especially in the changing weather he does not care to bring the reindeers from his home at Icy Cape, they not being used in the milder climes of the country farther south.

MAYOR WALMSLEY REMOVED

Baton Rouge, La.—Senator Huey Long had Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, his New Orleans enemy, removed as chairman of the democratic state central committee, and the senator was elected in his place by an overwhelming vote over a vigorous protest by the mayor.

Speaking before the committee's reorganization session at the state house, Walmsley challenged the committee's selection of a man to guide them who, he said, had criticized the government. "I wouldn't be true to myself, my party or the people who elected me if I let this thing go by unchallenged," Walmsley declared.

Thomas declined the deputyship when the Shubert school board gave him a new two-year contract.

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons? The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right dose of a liquid laxative brings a more natural movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after. The wrong cathartic may often do more harm than good. A properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin brings safe relief from constipation. It gently helps the average person's bowels until nature restores them to regularity.

WOULD STOP DEPORTATION Omaha.—Federal Judge Donohoe was appealed to by attorneys to save James E. Currie, 39, resident of Nebraska for thirty-five years, from deportation to Scotland.

Deportation proceedings were begun on Currie's recent release from Nebraska penitentiary, where he served a three year term for robbery. It was claimed Currie had served two sentences of one year or more for crimes involving moral turpitude.

Currie's attorneys asserted good behavior had cut the last sentence to ten months. Currie, the petition stated, had always considered himself an American citizen, had served three years in the national guard at Grand Island, and once had applied for citizenship papers. It would be a shame, the petition continued, to separate Currie from his parents and five brothers and sisters and send him to a country where he would be a total stranger.

District Judge Fitzgerald, who sentenced Currie on the robbery count, appealed to Judge Donohoe in Currie's behalf.

Filene Finds Flaws in Housing Program

Boston Merchant and Administration Supporter Sees Danger of Waste of Billions of Dollars.

Boston.—A nationwide housing project in which a worker might purchase transferable home ownership wherever his job called him was proposed by Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant and administration supporter. At the same time Filene declared the proposed nationwide home building program now under consideration in Washington "may prove to be a menace to lasting recovery, wasting billions of dollars and leaving masses of home owners in a condition rather worse than homeless."

The crux of the substitute plan which he advanced lay, he said, in recognition of the fact that "America is an industrial, not an agrarian, civilization and the population of an industrial civilization is more or less always on the move." He suggested that losses incident to abandonment of industrial homesteads under his plan could be covered by insurance at a negligible cost.

"I am quite as enthusiastic as anyone in advocating a nationwide housing project," said Filene. "It is economic insanity to permit millions to remain unemployed when they might be employed producing the things the masses need and could have if the masses generally were employed, and no one, surely, can question the need for better housing. The danger is that the action to be taken shall be dictated by sentiment instead of by the facts. Our centers of population are constantly shifting, especially in prosperous times. Within a few years, however, it often becomes desirable, or even imperative, to shift the industry to other centers, and while such a shift may mean progress and prosperity for the industry concerned, it frequently spells tragedy to thousands who have become rooted, by home-ownership, in the locality where they can no longer find jobs."

"The greatest losers and most pitiful sufferers are likely to be the most thrifty, most responsible workers, who have saved systematically for years and years so that they might own their own homes. No housing drive can be permanently successful unless it takes account of these industrial facts."

Four Billions to be Sought by Administration

President Roosevelt Charting Plan to Give Jobs for Four Millions Now on Relief.

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Roosevelt tonight shaped details of a plan aimed at giving work to the four million employable persons on direct relief and at co-ordinating emergency spending into one broad program to accomplish the task.

There were authoritative signs, as the president returned from Warm Springs refreshed and buoyant, that he intends to ask congress for emergency sums exceeding four billion dollars. This figure was mentioned in informed quarters as probably a minimum.

This central fund, some of Mr. Roosevelt's advisers reported, is expected to be apportioned out for carefully drawn projects. Whether one central agency will be designated to direct the expenditures contemplated apparently has not been decided but such a proposal has been under discussion.

Some of the things in mind are: Land and water conservation, relief, public works, roads, subsistence homesteads, rural rehabilitation. Throughout the day, the conferences that had marked the president's stay at Warm Springs were continued at the White House with a steady stream of cabinet and other official callers flowing through his remodeled executive office. Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, said that he did not expect any increase in the amount of emergency relief administration work relief this winter. Hopkins said there are about 4,200,000 families on relief and some 4,500,000 employable. See the goods you buy. Catalog descriptions are flowery enough, cut now about the goods when you get them?
