Cass County Farm Bureau Notes

Copy furnished from Office of County Agent Waincott

Make Application for Seed Oats.

Nineteen farmers in the county have made provision for their seed oats, barley, etc. for next spring by signing an application at the Farm Bureau office for enough to fill their needs. The orders total about 1000 bushels and will be supplied through a set-up for the distribution of grain by the Seed Stocks Committee of the United States Department of Agriculture, co-operating with local elevators which will be designated to serve in the capacity of distributors after the applications for seed have been filed, and approved by the county director.

Allotments of grain have been made to the various states. It is possible that the allotment made to Nebraska will be insufficient to meet orders. There is a distinct advantage therefore from the point of being sure to get the grain and of getting the better quality lots, in filing applications at once. For Nebraska territory, the oats will all classify as "White." It is believed that the price of oats will be about 76c. If you wish to file an application or wish other information regarding the availability of seed grains, write or call at the Farm Bureau office.

Skit and Song Contest Closes February 1st.

Cass county women made a fine showing in the original skit, poem, playlet and song contest conducted last year, winning first place on the skit and first place on original poem. A similar contest is being conducted this year for members of women's project clubs. A similar contest is being conducted this year for members of women's project clubs. The subjects to be covered pertain to the major project in women's work. The contest closes February 1st and awards will be made that month. The women winning first prize in the playlet, skit, poem and song contest will be awarded $3.00, the second place $2.00 and third place $1.50. Any other articles which are mimeographed and used for the Achievement Day programs will be awarded $1.00.

Project club women interested in entering the contest must submit two typed copies to the Home Extension Agent not later than February 1st. Copies of Living-at-Home Special 5 may be secured from the Home Agent and gives other details of the contest.

Tree Applications Available.

Application blanks for obtaining trees through the Extension Service under provisions of the Clarke-McNary Act, are available at the Farm Bureau office. Applications are approved in the order they are received. Last year the demand greatly exceeded the supply and a good many applications had to be refused. Get your applications in early if you wish these seedlings for windbreak and woodlot planting on the farm. The fee required covers only the handling, packing and shipping charges. For windbreaks, 100, 200, 300 or 400 trees, $1.00 per hundred; for woodlot plantings, 800, 900 or 1000 trees, 75c per hundred. The varieties of trees available are: American Elm, Chinese Elm, Cottonwood, Green Ash, Catalpa, Honey Locust, Soft Maple, Box Elder, Russian Mulberry, Russian Olive, Caragana, Austrian Pine, Yellow Pine, Scotch Pine and Jack Pine.

Chester Davis at Organized Agriculture 1935 Corn-Hog Program.

Chester Davis, administrator of the Triple A farm programs, will be the leading speaker of the winter Organized Agriculture meetings at Lincoln this year. He talks at the closing and Miss Ruth O'Brien of Washington and J. S. Jones of Minnesota are the other outstanding speakers of the general meetings at Lincoln.

Five hundred corn and wheat allotment committeemen of Nebraska have been urged to come to Lincoln for the Thursday meeting with Chester Davis. A special forenoon program is being planned particularly for the allotment committeemen.

In addition to the opportunity to meet with the federal administrator, the allotment committeemen will hear a final report of a special committee appointed by W. H. Brokaw, state administrator, to draw up recommendations regarding the set up of the 1935 corn hog program in Nebraska. The special committee is made up of seven allotment committeemen from all parts of the state and six district supervisors who will work under Brokaw's direction in 1935.

lotment committeemen at the January tenth meeting, the recommendations of the committee will serve as a guide for all county associations to follow in getting the applications and contracts signed for 1935. Local meetings are likely to be held in most counties during the latter part of January and farmers will be making out their 1935 papers soon after the meetings.

Reports coming in to the state office from some counties indicate that many farmers are ready to sign contracts for the coming year. Other reports indicate that quite a number of men want to get their seed supply and figure out how they will handle their farm work with a limited amount of horse power before they make the decision regarding the 1935 contract. Under the provisions of the new contract, the signer agrees to reduce his corn acreage but can use the land for small grain or other crops.

Home Economics Program.

The Home Economics program, planned in connection with Organized Agriculture is varied and interesting. Miss Ruth O'Brien who is chief of the Textile and Clothing Division of the Bureau of Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, and recognized as an authority on consumer problems, is scheduled to speak at 3:30 p. m. on Wednesday, January 9, on "Using Present Buying Guides." She speaks again on Thursday at 10:15 a. m. on "Our Bureau of Home Economics." If interested in attending any of the sessions on the Home Economics program, ask for a detailed program at the Farm Bureau office.

The annual farm family fun feed will be held Wednesday evening, January 9, beginning at 5:30. This is an event looked forward to each year by many farm families in the habit of attending Organized Agriculture. The annual meeting of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation is also being planned in connection with Organized Agriculture. A program is planned for Monday and Tuesday, January 7 and 8, presided over by C. Y. Thompson, West Point, who is president. J. S. Jones, Director Brokaw, Mrs. H. F. Capwell, C. J. Meckler and Mrs. Lee Meckler are outstanding speakers on the two days' program.

Cass county residents should buy everything possible in their home town. If you can't be supplied there, come to Plattsouth, your county seat and logical large town trading point.

Work Relief Largely Up to Cass County

Little Prospect of Aid Thru FERA and Program Will Have to Be Purely on Local Basis.

Wednesday a meeting was held at the court house between the board of county commissioners, the business men's committee, Chairman A. L. Tidd of the Workingmen's Council and representatives of the FERA.

The members had requested a representative of the FERA to be here for discussion of the situation, and Mr. Woods from the office of the state director was here to present the facts and figures as to just how much could be expected from them and the requirements demanded by the government.

The federal emergency relief administration is holding to its request of a levy by the counties of 1.93 mills and those who have not made this levy in addition to other regular levies as well as donating the inheritance tax and the one-quarter of the gasoline tax money due the county, seem to be out of luck. The FERA assumes the expenditure of the funds and supply what may be needed to give a set monthly payment of funds beyond from month to month is assured.

Cass county has not made the levy and the emergency relief work that may be carried out will necessarily be of a local nature and provided by funds from the county.

The county commissioners are taking a great interest in the matter of relief through work and will meet again Friday with the local committee to endeavor to arrange some plan that will permit work that will be of benefit to the road systems of the county and at the same time give employment in the emergency and not place the county in a bad position financially as many have found themselves.

The committee of citizens, Mr. Tidd and the commissioners are endeavoring to work out a program that will aid the work relief and still not have a great burden to fall on the taxpayers at a later date and this is entered in with the idea of making it possible to care for as many as the circumstances of the case will warrant.

Continental Oil Company Boosts Its Advertising

One of Large National Oil Companies Announces New Advertising Campaign for 1935.

Newspaper advertising will again form the backbone of Continental Oil company's 1935 sales promotion program, the largest in the history of the company, it was announced here today by L. L. McCarty, Conoco's local manager, who stated that the Plattsouth Journal has been selected to carry Conoco advertising.

"Proof of the value of newspaper advertising, backed by quality products and outstanding service," said Mr. McCarty "is seen in the fact that our company during 1934 showed a gain of 61 per cent in the sale of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil as compared to the previous year. "As a matter of fact, Conoco's gross sales in 1934 were better than for any year since 1929—a fact that leads us to believe that general business conditions are definitely on the upgrade. Of course, Continental Oil company hasn't just marked time, but has gone out after business, backed by a larger advertising program year after year.

"This year marks the sixtieth anniversary of Continental Oil company, and we expect 1935 to be the best in our history."

VISITS IN CITY

H. L. Grassmuck, of Arlington, Nebraska, was in the city for a short time Wednesday and while here was a caller at the Journal to renew old acquaintances. Rev. Grassmuck, who was the pastor of the First Christian church in this city for several years, is now in the evangelistic work and has been very successful in his meetings over the state. He desired to be remembered to all of the old friends in this section.

Western Democrats Planning to Bolt Leadership

Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota Solons Oppose "Gag Rule" System in Congress.

Washington—Omens of demands from middlewestern democrats for administration opposed legislation were sounded as a substantial block of representatives refused to support the majority party leadership in increasing the number necessary to force bills out of committee. Only four out of the sixteen representatives from Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota supported the administration proposal to require 218 members to sign petitions to take bills from committees for consideration on the floor. Some of the bloc which voted to keep the present rule requiring only 145 names are known supporters of inflationary legislation, the Frazier-

Lempke bill for farm debt refinancing, cost of production legislation for farmers and other measures not approved by the democratic administration. Several frankly said they wanted to preserve the chance of getting open consideration of such measures while some who joined republican opposition to the rule change said merely that they did not wish the democrats to go back "to the gag rule we knocked out such a few years ago."

Nebraska's four democrats divided evenly, Coffee and McLaughlin supporting the leadership and Binderup and Luckey voting for retention of the smaller number for forcing out bills. Stefan, only Nebraska republican, opposed the change, saying it would reduce the value of members attending congressional sessions. He said the democrats had a big enough majority to do anything they wanted but that the people should have all important measures threshed out on the floor. South Dakota's delegation was unanimous in opposing the stricter rule, both Hildebrandt and Werner, democrats abandoning the party leadership. "See it before you buy it."
