

Korn Klub Plans Dance and Floor Show June 19

Committee of Chamber of Commerce Plan Gala Event to Start the Campaign for Funds.

The committee in charge of the King Korn Klub festivities for the 1935 season, have decided on the presentation of a dance and floor show as the opening play of the season rather than a gun, as was first suggested some weeks ago.

The plans are for one of the most elaborate dancing parties held in this city and in which all of the community will be invited to participate and enjoy the dancing as well as the floor show that will be a part of the evening entertainment.

Mrs. Robert M. Walling, well known musician and Mrs. Frank Molak, herself a dancing artiste, will have the arrangement of the floor show and are working on the plans that will result in one of the most beautiful and attractive offerings ever seen in the city and which will be a part of the community dance.

The committee in charge have decided on Wednesday, June 19th as the day for the King Korn ball and show so remember the date and prepare to attend.

Improved crop conditions and higher prices for farm products will stimulate business. Shrewd advertisers recognize this and will go after increased trade.

PAID A SPLENDID TRIBUTE

Sister Celestine, grammar grades instructor and principal of the St. John's parochial school, who is this year celebrating her silver jubilee of twenty-five years service in the Ursuline religious order, was honored one day this week when a large number of her former eighth grade graduates from the local school during the seven years she has been assigned here as principal, called upon her to express the appreciation felt by all the graduates, numbering some eighty, for the manner in which she had guided and instructed them through their grade school days, and presented her with a beautiful lifetime fountain pen set in recognition of her silver jubilee year.

Robert Rea, Faustine Nowacek and Jack Kubicka were among those who expressed orally their gratitude for the instruction and guidance they received during the time they were students at St. John's school, and Joe Case made the presentation of the gift, to the purchase of which so many of the former graduates had contributed.

Sister Gertrude, another of the instructors at St. John's, who was a member of the same class in the convent at Louisville, Kentucky, as Sister Celestine, and who is also celebrating her silver jubilee this year, departed Thursday for Louisville to spend the vacation period taking further instruction in school work at the convent school.

A navigable Missouri river by 1937 will increase the market outlet for eastern Nebraska farm products and help to raise prices.

Revival of the NRA Provided in New Bill Passed

Seek Voluntary Codes to Aid Wages, Hours; President Warns of Anti-Trust Law Violation.

The Roosevelt administration's "stop-gap" NRA plan rode through the house of representatives Friday on the shoulders of the heavy democratic majority, coincident with a presidential warning to the business world that voluntary codes must not violate the anti-trust laws.

The house vote was 264 to 121. In addition, the president gave newspapermen a summary of the social objectives of his administration, asserting its purpose was to "increase the security and the happiness of a larger number of people in all occupations of life in all parts of the country." One aim, he said, was a "greater distribution" of wealth.

An hour later the president regretfully accepted the resignation of Donald R. Richberg, as chief of NRA effective June 16, when the original recovery act was scheduled to expire. Richberg announced several weeks ago he desired to return to the private practice of law.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope that Richberg might remain here "for a short period after June 16, in order to transfer, as effectively as possible, your duties as chairman to the succeeding administration."

Meanwhile, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, which previously had denounced the president's skeleton NRA as a "surrender" by the administration, met to map the future.

Dividing generally along party lines, the house gave preponderant approval to Mr. Roosevelt's 9 1/2-month proposal that a fragment of the staff be retained for statistical research—a piece of legislation carefully drawn to leave the way open for voluntary codes.

Leaves Section 5 In. The house NRA extension resolution definitely left in the law this section:

"Section 5. While this title is in effect (or in the case of a license, while Section 4-A is in effect) and for 60 days thereafter, any code, agreement or license approved, prescribed or issued and in effect under this title and any action complying with the provisions thereof taken during such period, shall be exempt from the provisions of the antitrust laws of the United States."

As finally approved by the house, the resolution extended NRA until April 1, 1936, and repealed those sections of the law which empowered the president to prescribe and enforce codes—that is, the compulsory sections of the act which were declared void by the high court.

Force Postponement. Despite the president's assertion that voluntary codes would have to conform with the antitrust laws, a dispute arose in the senate which appeared to force a postponement of action on the legislation until next week.

Just before the president's acceptance of his resignation, Richberg at his first press conference since the supreme court decision invalidating NRA, said voluntary agreements were "just a matter of possibility." He thought the president would have no power to approve codes in the sense that the word has formerly been used.

Favors Voluntary Codes. The president said at his press conference he fully favored voluntary codes and had no objection to the ratification by the states of compacts between themselves stipulating labor and business conduct practices to be enforced. Of the latter, he said he hoped they would work, but he pointed that an existing compact covering the oil industry did not include eight states which produce oil.

Anybody may draw up a voluntary code, he said, so long as it does not violate the antitrust laws. He added that he now had no authority to waive the application of those laws and was sworn in fact to see that they were enforced.

While congressional leaders talked of White house recommendations for inheritance and gift taxes as a wealth distributing move intended to further ultimate goals embodied in NRA, Mr. Roosevelt said he had not thought of taxes for a month. Nevertheless the expectancy that such recommendations would be forthcoming persisted.

LEGION POST TO BACK JUNIOR BASEBALL TEAM

From Friday's Daily. Attendance at last night's regular monthly Legion meeting was not as large as usual, due to various conflicting meetings. Supt. G. M. Corum and E. C. Alfrey of the Louisville post and Walter Wunderlich and District Commander W. H. Kruger, of Nehawka were the out-of-town guests.

A discussion of Junior baseball was among the principal matters of business transacted, the plans calling for at least four teams in Cass county, including one at Plattsmouth. The committee appointed at the last meeting reported progress in lining up a group of boys, but advised it would take two or three years, starting them out early to build up a winning team, such as has been developed at Neligh, with two state championship trophies in the past three years and good prospects for this year. Sufficient money to outfit the new team was appropriated from post funds.

The visitors were introduced and District Commander Kruger gave a short talk on the things he believes will be for the good of the Legion in the district and county, including the holding of annual county meetings to transact business and select the county commander, instead of having that business come up at county caucuses at the district conventions. He also urged revival of the county picnic for members of the Legion and Auxiliary, to be held during the mid-summer season. Kruger has named committees to draft certain resolutions for presentation to the state convention at Beatrice the latter part of August.

Following the meeting, coffee and doughnuts were served the members and visitors.

PLAN WELL FOR LAKE

Omaha.—Directors of Carter Lake Development society decided Thursday to sink a well to obtain water for maintaining the Carter lake water level. A committee recommended a well as the "most practical and economical way." The society proposes to pump from one and a half million to three million gallons of water into the lake every twenty-four hours.

OMAHA TO SEEK AIR BASE

Omaha.—Omaha will seek one of the seven gigantic air bases or auxiliary bases to be established in the new air base chain provided the Wilcox bill, passed by the house of representatives Wednesday, becomes a law. The chamber of commerce military affairs committee Thursday decided to bid for a base if the appropriation is voted.

Double Header Enjoyed by the Kittenball Fans

Chevrolets Win 10 to 0 from Rowdies While Norfolk Packers Win 6 to 4 in Hot Finish.

From Saturday's Daily: The Kittenball fans that braved the chill weather last evening had the pleasure of seeing two softball games at Athletic park, two of the few games it has been possible to stage this season.

The Chevrolets playing their first game of the season were the winners of the struggle with the South Park Rowdies by the score of 10 to 0. McClanahan did the hurling for the auto dealers and held his opponents safe at all stages of the game, allowing but two hits and received excellent support from his team mates. Oliver was the heavy sticker for the Chevies in the game.

In the nightcap of the evening the Norfolk Packers and the Cardinals staged a hectic finish when the team from west of the city came to the front in the first of the seventh to tie up the score.

In the last of the seventh the Packers were able to place a man on second where he was able to score when Rolph poled one over the heads of the outfielders for a home run and the game was the Packers by the score of 6 to 4.

The forecast was made by Senator Wheeler, its author, after a conference of senate leaders that lasted until the early hours of Friday morning and wiped out part of the opposition to the measure.

Wheeler (democrat, Montana) said the more than two score amendments proposed by Senator Bailey (democrat, North Carolina) seeking to limit the bill to merely that of a regulatory measure had been laid aside by the North Carolinian with the exception of a few emphasizing the interstate character of the measure, and one to trim the sweeping requirements of the registration clause.

STEFAN MAY GO TO MANILA

Washington.—Representative Stefan said he hoped to go to the Philippine islands next fall to help inaugurate the new Philippine government, but wasn't sure he could. As a member of the house insular affairs committee, Stefan would be a guest of the Philippine commission for the Nov. 15 events in Manila.

"It will depend," he said, "on how long congress stays in session whether I go or not. But I really expect to go. I am interested in whether the Filipinos really want independence. I want to see whether they are prepared to go ahead with the independence movement. I think every member of the insular committee should go and study first hand the economic problems which may arise and the issues which will come before our committee in future years."

UTILITY BILL HELD BACK

Washington.—The absence of a number of senators forced postponement of final action on the utility holding company bill until Monday, after administration leaders earlier had predicted quick passage.

The forecast was made by Senator Wheeler, its author, after a conference of senate leaders that lasted until the early hours of Friday morning and wiped out part of the opposition to the measure.

Wheeler (democrat, Montana) said the more than two score amendments proposed by Senator Bailey (democrat, North Carolina) seeking to limit the bill to merely that of a regulatory measure had been laid aside by the North Carolinian with the exception of a few emphasizing the interstate character of the measure, and one to trim the sweeping requirements of the registration clause.

ASK PROSECUTOR REMOVED

Washington, June 6.—A recommendation by a house committee for removal of U. S. Attorney Leslie C. Garrett and his aide, Karl W. Kindelberger, was presented to Attorney General Cummings and the District of Columbia commission. The house district committee approved a report of a subcommittee suggesting that the capital's law officers be ousted to improve law enforcement here. The subcommittee said outlawry and commercialized vice and gambling prevailed in the district to a considerable extent.

PENSION FUND SHORT

Fremont, Neb.—Dodge county supervisors face the problem of raising $1,320 to pay mothers' pensions during July and August. Taxes have not been coming in rapidly enough to build up the fund, the county board said, and June payments left the fund virtually exhausted. The pensions amount to about $660 per month.

COMPANY OVERASSESSED

Washington.—The treasury decided that the Metropolitan Life Insurance company had been overassessed $1,940,638 in taxes in 1924, 1925 and 1926. The amount of $582,285 was ordered refunded, and $448,754 was ordered credited on the books of the company.
