

Camps for the Mothers Being Arranged

Farm Women to Enjoy Recreation Periods During Hot Weather in Summer Camps.

Vacation camps for Nebraska farm and town women were announced this week by Mary-Ellen Brown, in charge of home demonstration work at the agricultural college extension service. The dates and sites: Neligh, July 11-14; Chadron, July 18-21; Omaha, July 25-28; and Curtis, Aug. 1-4.

Known as "mother vacation camps," these affairs have been held at various places in the state for the past few years. Usually about 70 farm and town women attend each camp, where educational and recreational periods are held.

N. W. Gaines of the college of agriculture is to speak at each gathering. The camp at Neligh will cost $3.25 plus six eggs and six potatoes. Women having hobbies, such as scrap books, memory books or poetry books, are being urged to bring them. Women in the northwestern section will gather at Chadron state park for their camp.

Eastern Nebraska women have been invited to attend Camp Brewster, a Y. W. C. A. camp near Omaha. A charge of $4.50 will be made. The camp at Curtis will be held in the school of agriculture dormitory. There the cost will be $3.25 plus six eggs and six potatoes.

ROTARIANS HEAR EX-CHIEF

Mexico, D. F.—Rotarians in convention here, their numbers swelled to 6,000 by Monday night's flood-delayed late arrivals, heard Allen D. Aioert of Chicago, past president, describe how Rotary may help "make life more abundant for the multitude of men."

He urged the organization to continue its campaign against war, which he termed "the monster negation of man's right to live," thru "attaining to an understanding of each other across international boundaries."

Ten million more for river development insures new contracts and a navigable channel to Slou City within the coming two years.

MAY LINK POWER PROJECTS

Washington.—Terms of an agreement for interconnecting the Platte valley and Loup river power districts in Nebraska were agreed upon Tuesday as PWA officials indicated increased allotments to the projects would be made soon. C. N. McElfresh, Columbus, attorney, left at noon with copies of the interconnection contracts which will be submitted to directors of the two projects. John P. Hogan, consulting engineer for the Platte valley project, will join John McElfresh at Cleveland and take copies of the contracts to North Platte.

The PWA said Tuesday the increased allotments probably would be given final approval soon. Meanwhile, Harold Kramer, secretary of the Loup project, and Eric Floor, its engineer, conferred with PWA engineers on tentative plans for asking still further increased allotments for distribution systems in eastern Nebraska.

FIGHT SHORT HAUL REPEAL

Washington.—New protests against repeal of the long-short haul clause governing railroad freight rates were laid before a house interstate commerce subcommittee. Charles A. Root of Boise, Ida., chief of transportation of the Idaho utilities commission, joined with Ed P. Byers of Fort Worth, Tex., president of the Southwestern Industrial Traffic League, in passing the Pettingill bill and other measures to modify or do away with the controverted "section four." They contended that if railroads were permitted to charge low rates for long hauls to meet water competition, the tariff for short trips to noncompetitive points would be correspondingly increased. "It would be a severe blow to interior cities and communities," Byers said, "because it would mean that upon their shoulders would be placed the transportation burden of the nation."

ORDER NEGRO ADMITTED

Baltimore.—Associate Judge O'Dunne of the Baltimore supreme bench granted a writ of mandamus ordering that a Negro be admitted to the university of Maryland law school next September. The writ was asked by Donald Gaines Murray, 22, Amherst graduate.

LACK BLANK SUPPLY

The local old age pension board, composed of the county commissioners and the county treasurer, have in the last few days received a large number of requests for applications for filing under the revisions of the new law. The local board has been handicapped by the fact that the necessary blanks on which the applications are to be made, have not as yet been sent them. The local board in communication with the state commission were informed that it would probably be the first of July or shortly after that when these blanks would be available. The lack of the blanks makes it necessary to postpone the registration and the prospective applicants are urged not to call until after the first of July.

Corn stalks are made into wall board, rayon silk and numerous other articles for which there is a good demand. Why not factories to process this abundant product of Cass county farms? If the answer has been 'high shipping cost,' river navigation should help to solve that drawback.

Obituary.

Ed G. Wachtler was born on the 2nd of November, in the year 1878. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wachtler of Eagle, Nebraska. The days of his childhood and youth were spent in Eagle and vicinity, attending the public schools of his community.

On the 21st of December, 1897, he was united in marriage to Mary E. Hardy. The young couple established their home near Eagle and in this community he lived his life. After an illness of three months or so, he passed from time into eternity on the 14th of June, 1935, at the hour of 7. Thus his position of earthly time was 59 years, 7 months and 12 days.

He is survived by his wife, Mary, two daughters, Ann Peterson of Lincoln, and Mable Ensign of Gandy, Nebr.; two sons, Albert of Sedalia, Missouri, and Lauren, at home and five grandchildren. His aged mother, affectionately known as Grandmother Wachtler, two brothers, Herman of Palmyra, and Theodore of Eagle, three sisters, Laura Wright of Eagle, Marie Hamilton of Omaha and Dorothy Mick of Lincoln, share the sorrow of the wife and children.

Mr. Wachtler was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran church, a friend and neighbor to all, and will be missed in his community.

"Rest for the toiling hand, Rest for the anxious brow, Rest for the weary, wayward feet, Rest from all labor now."

Funeral services were held from Trinity Lutheran church of Eagle Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. R. E. Rangier officiating. Interment was made in the Eagle cemetery.

FOUR MILE CLUB

Plan Memorial to Texas Ranger

Alamo at San Antonio.

Ranger on the trail.

To preserve for posterity some record of the deeds of valor of the Texas rangers, a memorial monument in their honor is planned. The hard-riding old rangers with their six-shooters were disbanded when their duties as prohibition enforcement agents turned public sentiment against them. They were replaced by a new Texas ranger, answerable only to the governor, and supplied with automobiles, machine guns and airplanes. Disbanded but not forgotten, the old Texas ranger lives on in memory. These fearless rangers who often rode the entire day in pursuit of duty received only $40 a month for a private and $125 for a captain. When the legislature makes financial provision, the proposed monument will be a likeness of the late Captain W. J. McDonald who for 30 years was in command of a company of rangers. McDonald is said to have done more than any one man to rid Texas of its lawlessness. Traditions established at the Alamo by David Crockett and his 180 men were carried on by the Texas rangers.
