HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

From Saturday's Daily: This morning shortly after 11 o'clock the fine new residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stewart on North Fourth street, was discovered to be on fire, the fire being noticed by passersby and who gave the alarm.

The fire was burning in the upper portion of the house when first discovered and it was only through the heroic efforts of the firemen and neighbors that the blaze was checked and the home saved from complete tuction.

The interior of the house was damaged greatly by the fire that seems to have originated near the fire place in the living room, and while a part of the furniture was taken from the house it was all more or less badly damaged.

The loss will be very severe and the family feels doubly bereaved as the home has only recently been completed.

The firemen are to be commended for their work as it was necessary to run the line of hose from the hydrant near the First ward school, a distance of several blocks.

Sharper is Active in Investment Fields

Bureau of Securities Hears Many Complaints of Bad Practices in All Sections of State.

Paul Jones, assistant director in charge of the state bureau of securities, said Friday that a number of complaints have been received recently from all sections of the state from holders of stock in building and loan associations to the effect that they have been induced, by skillful argument and persuasion exercised by high pressure stock salesmen, to trade or exchange their holdings for securities which later proved of little or no value, entailing serious losses in many cases.

The fact that the depression lowered real estate values and in turn lessened or halted entirely the earning power of building and loan stock, a favorite investment for years for persons of small means who were unfamiliar with listed stocks gave the opportunity to the unscrupulous salesman.

"Generally these traders go in pairs," said Mr. Jones, "but if not, someone in the community who was not averse to picking up a paltry sum at the expense of his neighbor, is obtained to help put over the deal, which generally involves painting the trading stock in glowing colors and using glittering generalities, while that owned by the investor is depreciated to such an extent that the already discouraged and sorely depressed citizen is an easy victim."

Mr. Jones is sending letters to all the building and loan associations asking their co-operation in a plan he has evolved which includes the writing of a letter by each association to all stockholders acquainting them with all the facts, demonstrating concern for the safety of their investment, and asking that if anyone approaches them with proffers of trade they write the state bureau for information as to the cash value of the stock they are to receive, giving the amount and character of the stock they hold and the name and address of the dealer or salesmen.

Mr. Jones says that it is to the credit of the great majority of investment houses that they use every means to protect investors and are satisfied with a reasonable profit. He has received pledges of co-operation from building and loan associations and these investment houses, and says that this offers the only way to save people from the loss of thousands.
