Intense Cold is Killing Birds in Nebraska

Many Die Even Where Feed is Plentiful, O'Connell Reports; Waterfowl Gain.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 17.—Frank B. O'Connell, chief conservation officer, said Monday the severe cold wave, rather than lack of feed, is killing Nebraska's game birds.

"If this cold wave continues," O'Connell said, "the situation of our game birds will be very serious. They are rapidly losing their reserve supplies of fat and other natural protections against winter."

O'Connell said investigations by deputy game wardens have disclosed birds are dying where there is plenty of feed and that the loss is greatest in northeast Nebraska.

About one thousand dollars has been spent to date on bird feed, O'Connell said. He estimated five hundred dollars of this was contributed by the state and five hundred dollars by communities and local organizations.

Waterfowl Increase, Survey Reveals.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Biological Survey officials Monday said preliminary returns of the national duck inventory made several weeks ago indicated an increase in the numbers of migratory waterfowl this year.

About 20 days will be required to complete stabulations and to ascertain exactly how many ducks are in this country at the present time.

The 1935 duck inventory resulted in an estimate that there were 17 million ducks in this country and about 10 million in Mexico. A large part of the indicated increase this year was attributed to the stringent hunting regulations placed in effect last fall.

SAINT JOSEPH OF MOUNT ROYAL

Following a tradition that dates back to 1928, there will be again this year a solemn world-wide novena at Saint Joseph's Oratory, Montreal, extending from the 10th to the 19th of March.

To participate in this novena, it is necessary only to send one's intentions to Saint Joseph's Shrine, Cote-des-Neiges, Montreal, where they will be placed before the statue of Saint Joseph during the novena. A medal and a novena leaflet are sent on request.

Hundreds of thousands reap many blessings from this field of devotion.

Weeping Water

George Moomey, who resides seven miles from Weeping Water, with a number of his neighbors drove to town with a four horse team, taking two and a half hours to make the trip.

W. O. Johnson has just about completed the alterations in his cafe and has a much more attractive place of business than heretofore, in fact, it is one that would do credit to towns much larger than Weeping Water.

The postoffice furniture has been rearranged in such manner as to allow more room for the distribution of the mail and thus give better service to the patrons, as well as increase the general appearance of the office.

G. R. Binger, who has been very busy with the selling and delivery of coal, of which he has an abundant supply, was able to get away today (Thursday) for a few hours to attend the convention of the Nebraska Retail Lumbermen's association, which is being held in Lincoln.

Jack Jourgensen and his two sons, who have been sick, are all improving at this time. The father was in the most serious condition of the three, having a severe siege of the quinsy that was so bad he had to have his throat lanced several different times and suffered much pain from the affliction.

My dirt of hard work and a lot of snow shoveling, a group of neighbors managed to get their cream and eggs to Manley a few days ago and there arranged with Harold Krecklow to bring them on into Weeping Water, where they disposed of same and took back needed supplies of groceries and provisions.

Purchases Farm Machinery
Richard Cole, who is to engage in farming near Avoca this year, has been busy during the past week purchasing his outfit of farm machinery and getting the same in readiness to go to work when spring arrives. The place he will farm is located just north of Avoca.

Aged Man Suffers Stroke
Uncle George Schaeffer, of Manley, who has passed the advanced age of 86 years, was stricken with paralysis a few days ago and remained in a very serious condition. His son, Leonard, who makes his home in Omaha, drove down via Union and over to Weeping Water and Manley to visit the father. He is being cared for by his daughter, Miss Carrie Schaeffer and also by another sister, Mrs. Edward Pankonin of south of Weeping Water. While everything possible is being done for the aged patient, he still remains very poorly. His many friends are hoping he may soon be restored to better health.

Will Grow Turkeys
W. J. Partridge, who embarked in the chicken business several weeks ago and equipped himself with the modern devices for growing chickens, had ill luck with his first shipment of one thousand, as they were chilled due to the cold weather. As a result, there are only about 400 of the thousand now living. Mr. Partridge has decided to discontinue the growing of chickens and embark in the turkey raising business, thus being able to utilize his present equipment. He expects to secure a large number of young turkeys at once.

Business Much Better
Henry Snell, who operates a produce business, found little to do during the past several weeks of continued cold weather and blocked roads. However, with the coming of milder weather Wednesday, a number were able to get to town who had not been here for a long time. They came with sleds and wagons and with them came large quantities of cream, eggs and other farm produce.

One man brought for himself and his neighbors, 70 gallons of cream, and during the day Henry received 120 gallons of cream, as well as many cases of eggs. The same conditions existed at the produce stations of Peter H. Miller and E. A. Oldham, and the boys were all smiling that they were able once more to do a little business after their long period of enforced idleness.

Made Relay Trip
P. V. Gobelman started with his team and bob sled on his first trip to town in more than a fortnight. He brought with him some cream and eggs. After having gotten as far as the A. V. Stander farm, another team was added there, making four horses to pull the sled. When they reached the Walter Mockenhaupt place, the horses, which were somewhat winded, were put in the barn to rest and fresh horses secured there. In this manner they were able to get through to the broken highway and on into town. They had a large amount of cream and other produce with them, and took back supplies of groceries and other provisions. Withal, they stated, they did not bring near all the cream, as they were afraid the sled might be tipped over and the cream spilled.

Entertained Tourists Last Week
On Friday of last week, when the storm blew up and drifted the roads full of snow, preventing traveling, some thirteen people who could not get through and became stalled on the highway, were received by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tefft, who reside near the O street road and cared for during the night. The following day they were able to go on their way rejoicing. Verily, there is always an opportunity to do good to those who need it and a good deed will always redound to the benefit of the doer.

Get Stuck in Snow
Last Friday night Harvey Rich got his truck stuck in a snowbank on highway No. 1 several miles east of Manley. Ray Haslam was called to get the truck out. Roy hastened to render assistance and when he arrived at the scene found the drifting snow had just about covered up the stalled truck. He also found it impossible to get it out or to proceed back to town with his own wrecker, so had to leave it there with the stalled truck—and they have been there ever since.

It is hoped to soon have the road opened up and then the two machines can be gotten out. They are standing in the highway near the home of Julius Engelkenier.

Completes Legal Training
Winifred Shields, son of Ross S. Shields, who has been attending a law school at Colorado City, completed his course last week and came to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross S. Shields. For the present he will make his home here.

Accepts Petition for Judge
Attorney C. E. Tefft, who has been urged to be a candidate for the position of District Judge, was definitely placed in the running this week when friends to the number of more than a thousand signed a petition asking that his name be placed on the primary ballot. He has accepted the filing and will be an active candidate for the office.

Passing of Excellent Citizen
The passing of the late Fred Nutzman at a Lincoln hospital Monday removes from the community one of the pioneer citizens who have helped to make Nebraska the splendid state it is today. Able and honest, he was an outstanding figure in the life of his community, being thrice elected as a member of the state legislature, and holding other positions of trust and honor.

The Hobson Funeral Home was called to go to Lincoln Monday and bring the body of Mr. Nutzman to Weeping Water, which they hastened to do, and only by hurrying were they able to get back before the roads were again drifted full of snow. For three days men have been working to clear the road to the Mt. Pleasant cemetery and the home of the deceased man, so that the funeral and burial may be held.

Solve Hunger Problem.
A large number of farmers residing northeast of Weeping Water phoned Knude Jensen to bring a truck load of groceries in their direction as far as he could and there he would be met by the assembled farmers who would take the groceries. Mr. Jensen took the load as far as he could where the farmers met him with hand sleds and sacks to carry the provisions home. It is hoped the roads may be opened soon for travel.

To Receive Car Load of Maytags.
Mr. O. O. Kimber, manager of the Maytag washing machines in Weeping Water has been selling many machines and is now awaiting the receipt of a car load shipment from the factory at Newton, Iowa, which has been on the road for a number of days. He has sold a large number of the machines, which he is waiting to deliver.

RA OFFICIALS CONFER
Lincoln, Feb. 17.—Nebraska re-settlement administration officials conferred here Monday with county supervisors and home management workers of the eastern half of the state.

Discussions concerned problems of farm and home management plans, loan procedure, debt adjustment, collections, management and other phases of the program. Speakers were Cal A. Ward, regional RA director, and W. H. Brokaw, director of the Nebraska agricultural college extension service.

International Relations Theme of Rotary Meet

Miss Jessie Whelan of City Schools is Speaker on Importance of Better Understanding.

One of the most interesting programs that has been offered before the Rotarians of this city, was presented on Tuesday at their weekly luncheon. The meeting was devoted to international relations, one of the chief aims of the Rotarians for a better world understanding. Searl S. Davis was the leader of the meeting.

Miss Jessie Whelan, member of the city teaching force, was the speaker of the day and gave a very able and logical plea for world peace and the understanding of nations through a more intimate knowledge of their common aims and purposes. This was made much better by the practice of Rotary, an international organization in getting in personal touch with peoples of all nations in the interchange of ideas and facts as to their own countries and the common tie that made the world long for peace that all might pursue their ways in understanding and prosperity.

The students in the schools here, Miss Whelan pointed out, have gotten in touch with students in many of the foreign schools and conduct a correspondence with each other, telling of their work, ambitions and personal ideas that have produced some very delightful friendships by medium of the letters. Many of these letters were read during the talk and much enjoyed, one that had been written by Corbin Davis to a student at the Cork, Ireland, school, having been generally discussed in the Irish school and given much publicity with many interesting reactions given by the Irish students to the letter.

Another letter read was one received by Harold Flockhart from Tokyo, Japan, from an advanced student in a junior college and in which the student in very fine manner cited the educational methods of his native land that required several years more than in the United States to complete. He also was eloquent in his praise of the American nation, of the services of our country in the opening up of his nation to the civilized world. He urged that the two nations should strive to better understanding as they represented the two great Pacific powers. There were letters read from many countries that were followed with the greatest of interest by the Rotarians. Adding to the interest of the program, Mrs. J. R. Reader, at the introduction of the various letters gave a song suitable to the country from which the letter came.

NATIONAL FOOD CONTEST FOR 4-H GIRLS RENEWED

A national contest in food preparation will be again conducted for the 550,000 girls enrolled in the United States in 4-H club work, announces the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

State Club Leader L. I. Frisbie of Lincoln has accepted the contest for the Nebraska girls enrolled in 4-H clubs in this state who may obtain the rules from the county agent or local leader.

The gratifying results of last year's initial contest have prompted a substantial increase in awards by the sponsor, Servel, Inc., of Evansville, Ind. Besides the $400, $300 and $200 college scholarships offered for national winners, eight kerosene-operated Electrolux refrigerators are provided for sectional winners, and as heretofore a trip to the National Club Congress in Chicago to each state champion, and handsome gold medals of special design for county champions.

As a further aid to 4-H club work the sponsor has authorized its local dealers everywhere to cooperate as last year in loaning Electrolux refrigerators to club leaders for use at fairs, achievement days and summer camps to preserve perishable products.

Agnes M. Bruss of Bennet was this state's Chicago trip winner last year.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The administration is sending its chief political campaigner—Chairman James A. Farley of the democratic national committee—into Kansas, Governor Landon's home territory, for a Washington's birthday address.

Farley will speak at Topeka Saturday night and plans at least two other addresses through the corn belt area. His speech will be entitled, "The Campaign and the Corn Crop."

DOCTOR DELAYED BY DRIFTS

Wahoo.—Irene Mary Koutney, 10, was in critical condition in a Wahoo hospital Saturday night from appendicitis. Irene became ill Thursday afternoon, and Dr. F. W. McCaw of Colton was called. Snow blocked roads prevented a visit to the home, however, and the physician was unable to reach the patient until Friday afternoon. She was brought to a hospital here.
