Wabash News

Frank Reese was looking after some business matters in Weeping Water Tuesday afternoon of last week.

John C. Browne, the elevator man, was in Alvo on Easter Sunday, spending the day at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. B. Stromer and husband.

John C. Browne was over to Elmwood, where he went to attend a meeting of the Masonic lodge last Saturday night, there being work in the M. M. degree.

Fred Towle and Ralph Dorr were in Alvo Saturday of last week, where they attended the John B. Elliott, Jr., sale and was also meeting many of his old friends.

Purchases Home in Elmwood
Minton V. Wood, who recently had a farm sale, is moving to Elmwood to make his home, having purchased a piece of property there in which to make his home. As the property is now occupied, his goods are being stored until it shall be vacated, when he will move in and also make some changes in the new home.

Bad Luck Pursues Him
Elwyn West, a student in the Wabash school, who recently suffered severe injuries in a fall from the hay mow of the barn on his father's farm, but has recovered from those injuries, suffered another bad fall this past week while engaged in play at school, when he was thrown off the rotary swing on the playground suffering a severe contusion of one of his legs and a green break in the leg which was broken before. He is at home and confined to his bed, where he will have to remain for some time before the present injuries are healed.

Calles Once More in Exile

Detective Romero General Calles
"I am very tired—I have nothing to say," was the comment made by General Plutarco Calles, former dictator of Mexico, when he arrived at Los Angeles airport, above, after he had again been exiled to United States. Detective Eddie Romero is at the left. Calles was forced to leave Mexico by President Lazaro Cardenas, allegedly because of a train wreck which the Mexican government charged Calles followers with engineering.

AAA Holding Back Pay Many Crop Contracts

Records Reveal That $157,000 Given to Farm in California for Not Raising Hogs.

Washington.—Records in the AAA comptroller's office revealed that benefit payments due on more than 131,000 crop control contracts had been suspended by the adjustment administration. Officials would make no estimates of the amount of money involved in the suspensions but said the action was temporary in most cases and that the farmers eventually would get their benefit checks.

In some cases, however, evidence of fraud was found, and high officials asserted that in such instances, when contracts had been violated, the suspension would become permanent. Technical errors, mistakes labeled by officials as "honest" and legal technicalities were said to have caused most of the suspensions. No estimate was made of the number of contracts suspended because of alleged violations.

96,000 Suspended for 1935.

The AAA books showed 96,865 contracts for 1935 had been suspended and the comptroller said about 35,000 additional suspensions have been carried over from previous years. A tabulation compiled by officials in the comptroller's office showed the following suspensions, as compared to the number of contracts in effect for 1935:

Wheat, 580,000 contracts, 41,608 suspensions; corn hogs 990,000 and 16,368; cotton 1,123,000 and 25,181; Bankhead cotton pool payments, 3,966 suspensions; peanuts, 10,500 contracts, 676 suspensions; rice 8,274 and 25; sugar 84,500 and 2,729; tobacco 217,000 and 6,313.

Largest Corn-Hog Check.

Coincidentally it was reported the largest payment made under the corn-hog program, approximately $157,000, went to Fontana Farms, Inc., of California. The farm was said to feed large numbers of hogs on garbage bought from cities.

Authoritative AAA sources said meanwhile there was some concern over how information pertaining to large benefit payments had been made public. Officials revealed an investigation was underway to locate the sources of this information. The same officials maintained the AAA could not make public these names and amounts unless specifically requested to do so by the senate.

No breakdown was available of the 35,000 suspended contracts carried over from previous years. Neither could an estimate be obtained of the percentage of small and large farmers involved.

SEE LIVELY DODGE SESSION

Fremont, Neb.—Democratic leaders here are predicting a lively session at the party's Dodge county convention April 30. The prediction arises from the fact a split has developed over the reappointment of Frank Fuhlrott as Fremont's postmaster, and the Fremont delegates at the party's national convention, elected at Tuesday's primary, seem almost equally divided on the question.

Tuesday's biggest upset among democrats here was the failure of John F. Rohn, long time democratic leader, to get backing as a delegate to the county convention. The former mayor ran 12th in the voting in his ward. The ward is entitled to 11 delegates.

IOWA STUDENT SHOTS SELF

Bedford, Ia., April 17.—Sheriff Tom Lacy reported Charles Blake, 15, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Dot Blake, shot and critically wounded himself at his home here Friday.

He was taken to Missouri Methodist hospital at St. Joseph, Mo.
Stephen A. Lamar, Bedford school superintendent, said the boy admitted Friday morning that he pilfered the high school locker room Thursday. Lamar said he became suspicious that the boy might run away from home when he did not return to school at noon. He said he went to the Blake home and found him lying on the floor.

EARL HOLTON, ATLANTIC, IS OUT FOR STATE SENATE

Atlantic, Ia., April 17.—Earl S. Holton of Anita, for six years Cass county attorney, Friday afternoon announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for state senator for the Cass-Shelby district.

Charles E. Malone of Atlantic, democrat, present senator, was recommended Thursday for Atlantic postmaster and is to resign his senatorial position.

WEIGHT TABLES INACCURATE

St. Louis.—If you can't measure up to the age-height-weight table on the scales in front of the drug store on main street don't worry. These tables of common use were called "inaccurate" by Miss Eleanor Metheny, anthropometry expert at the University of Iowa. "Just because a race horse and a draft horse are of the same age and height is no reason for believing they are of the same weight," she declared in an interview. "And it's just as ridiculous to believe that 'race horses' and 'draft horse' types of persons should weigh the same." The Iowa child welfare research station, headed by Dr. C. H. McCloy with Miss Metheny and Dr. Arthur J. Wendler as members of the staff, has developed new devices and mathematical formulas to measure weight—it's called the science of anthropometry.

ADMITS POSING AS SHERIFF

Schuyler, Neb.—County Attorney Pospishil Friday filed charges of feloniously obtaining money by intimidation and coercion against John I. Pollard, 28, of Schuyler, in connection with a loss of $90 by Frank Cech, also of Schuyler.

The county attorney said he obtained a written confession Friday from Pollard indicating he represented himself as a sheriff from Columbus and threatened to put Cech in jail unless he turned over $90. Cech, the official said, drew the money out of the bank and paid Pollard.

Pollard was arrested by Sheriff Little following an investigation conducted by Little and Police Chief Ondracek upon information furnished by a bank official and neighbors of Cech.

LIQUOR LICENSE DENIED

Richard B. Jones was denied a license by the state liquor commission Friday to open a package liquor store in connection with his jewelry store at Weeping Water. The present mayor and the newly elected mayor, along with several merchants, told the commission one liquor store was almost too many for the town, and another would constitute unfair competition.

Vegetable Garden for Good Recreation

Healthful Exercise and Quality Produce Are the Rewards—It's Economical, Too.

The amateur who grows vegetables as a recreation has it all over his fellow hobby riders, for his playtime hours at this avocation not only cost him nothing, but actually save him money. This economic feature of vegetable gardening is not the important one, of course, but it is satisfying none the less, and makes the hobby more interesting.

We think of flower growing, or photography more often as hobbies. They seem to have an esthetic quality entirely apart from the necessities of life, and by indulging in them, we feel we are getting spiritual benefits which we would not ordinarily get in the general run of things. The fact that we eat the vegetables we grow may dampen the enthusiasm of some and make it work instead of pleasure.

But, the real gardener never thinks of this. He knows that there is as much beauty in orderly rows of green and yellow vegetables as in flowers. Beauty in plants is a relative thing. All plants bloom when they come to maturity. Dahlia roots are good to eat when properly cooked, but we never grow them for that purpose, because we have other roots in the vegetable garden which we like better. Why then should we say that the brilliant green foliage of carrots, or the tender leaves of lettuces are not beautiful?

Designing a vegetable garden should be as important as your street front landscape. Make it a comfortable place to work in and play. Make use of flowers as borders and accents, trim the paths, and keep the rows clean and straight. Pools, bird baths, arbors and garden furniture will fit in the vegetable garden as well as elsewhere, and make it more livable.

The other feature of vegetable gardening which makes it a hobby instead of a job is the quality which can be grown with a little careful work and selection. Many of us look forward to the months when we can get tomatoes in season, because they are so much better. But tomatoes grown in your own garden tend to be ripe a half better. This is even more true of sweet corn and peas, and even string beans deteriorate much in a few days on the way to market.

Garden fresh vegetables are reserved for the amateur who grows them, and can gather a supply an hour before mealtime. Modern methods of storage and refrigeration have improved the market vegetables immeasurably, but it still takes many hours or days to get them ready for the table, during which time they lose much of their sweetness and healthful qualities. On the other hand, the housewife can purchase only the standard and time-tried varieties on the market, whereas if she grows them herself, she has the choice of hundreds of types and varieties to fit in with the garden conditions and her fancy, and always have the newest and the best.

DEVELOP 'CORN DYNAMITE'

Kansas City.—Corn dynamite, a new product of the test tube, potentially superior to nitro-glycerin, was reported to the American Chemical society by its president, Prof. Edward Bartow, head of the University of Iowa department of chemistry.

Professor Bartow pictured the possibility of corn, processed in this new fashion, being used all over the country to blast stumps from fields, excavate road and skyscraper foundations, and "shoot" quarries, mines and oil wells.

The new explosive is one of several possibilities opened by production from corn of a sugar-like substance known as inositol, hitherto unavailable because extraction made it cost about $500 a pound. In the last two months, Professor Bartow said, Dr. W. W. Walker, in his department at Iowa, has discovered a method of extraction which tremendously cheapens the rare stuff, so that many laboratories already have started work on its possible uses.

THANKS TO VOTERS
