

Complete List of Nominees for the Unicameral

Eighty-six Will Seek Seats in the State's First One-House Legislature

Lincoln, Neb., April 15.—Experienced legislators will occupy at least 18 of the 43 seats in Nebraska's first unicameral legislature when it convenes next January.

Both nominees in 18 of the districts were members of the last bicameral legislature or sat in previous Nebraska law-making bodies. Of 71 known nominees for the 86 places on the November general election ballot, 51 were experienced in law-making. In only two districts—Second and the Forty-first—were new faces assured.

Some of the races were exceptionally close and the mail vote may hump some third place candidates up ahead of some who held second place precariously.

One instance of that kind was in the Fourteenth district where W. H. O'Hara of Laurel, speaker of the last two houses of representatives, had only 27 votes to the good over Rev. Martin Schroeder of Bloomfield. State Senator John D. Reynolds led both by about five hundred votes for first place.

In eight districts—six in Omaha and the Twenty-ninth and Thirty-fourth—returns lagged and the nominees were not yet decided.

Of the 51 who had legislative experience, 32 were democrats and 19 republicans.

MOTHER OF FIVE HANGED

Birmingham, England.—Mrs. Dorothy Waddingham, 34 year old mother of five children, died on the gallows of the Winson Green prison while police guarded the approaches against a demonstration in protest at "this disgrace." Mrs. Violet Van Der Elst, energetic campaigners against capital punishment, organized the demonstration, broadcasting appeals to a crowd of 2,000 to attempt to prevent the hanging. The throng looked on quietly, however, some smiling at Mrs. Van Der Elst's exhortations, some praying for Mrs. Waddingham while the convicted poison slayer of a patient in her Nottingham nursing home died within the prison.

Newspapers insisted the crime must have been premeditated and that even the strong recommendation of mercy by the jury which convicted Mrs. Waddingham Feb. 27, should not be allowed to deter the punishment.

ASKS MRS. HEWITT RETURN

Trenton, N. J.—Governor Merriam of California asked New Jersey's governor to permit extradition of Mrs. Marjorie Cooper Hewitt to that state to face two charges of "conspiracy to commit mayhem" on her daughter, Anna Cooper Hewitt. Governor Hoffman's office announced he would probably decide Friday what day to conduct a hearing on the request. The hearing, made necessary by Mrs. Hewitt's protest she is too ill to be transported across the country, will probably be delayed for at least a week because of California's request that its representatives be given opportunity to appear.

Supreme Court Holds Old 3.2 Beer Law Valid

Question Raised on Appeal from Cass County of Case of State of Nebraska vs. George Wilson.

The state supreme court on Thursday announced their decision in the case of the State of Nebraska vs. George Wilson, charged with selling beer without the proper license from the village of Elmwood, holding that the old law covering the manufacture, sale and licensing of 3.2 beer, enacted by the legislature in 1933, was valid.

The case originated in Cass county where on August 11, 1934, agents made purchase of two bottles of the 3.2 beer from the restaurant of Mr. Wilson in Elmwood and he being at that time without the proper license to sell the same.

The case was tried here before a jury in November term of the district court and on December 13, 1934, Mr. Wilson was found guilty and later fined $500 and costs. The court in its findings Thursday held that the fine imposed was excessive as to the offense and reduced the same to $200.

The attorneys for Mr. Wilson in appealing contended that if the 3.2 beer was intoxicating that it was in violation of the then prohibition amendment to the state constitution, which, however has since been repealed. It was also contended that if the beverage was not intoxicating that a license was not necessary to permit its sale.

MANLEY NEWS

Fay Kestard, of Atchison, Kansas, was visiting Mr. and Mrs. David Brann during the fore part of last week.

Miss Mary Murphy, who spent the winter with relatives in Omaha, returned home last Sunday and will make her home here for the summer.

Mrs. Harry Haws has been in poor health for a number of days, being confined to her bed, but at latest report, there has been a slight improvement in her condition.

Oscar Dowler was placing a green slate coated roof on his home in Manley, which not only protects the home against rain, but adds much to the appearance of the place.

Frank Stander, of Omaha, was a caller in Manley and was looking after some business matters last Monday, driving down in his car and calling at a number of places in the country.

Miss Lena Stander, who is employed in Omaha, was a visitor in Manley, coming down in order to visit with friends and to vote, as she was greatly interested in the results of the election.

August Krecklow was in Omaha last Tuesday with a load of cattle, the property of William Sheehan and John Rohrdanz. They found the market active and received a very good price.

The billboards that have graced (or disgraced, according to one's own way of thinking) the street corner in Manley, were blown down by the wind storm last Monday and made into kindling wood. They were also used as the background for the free moving pictures shown here during the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Stander entertained a number of friends and relatives at their home in Omaha on Easter day. Among those present at the Easter dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Harms, Walter O'Brien and family and Eddie Stander and family, of this vicinity. Needless to say, a most pleasant time was had.

Mrs. A. Steinkamp went to North Platte, expecting to visit a sister at that point, but had no more than arrived there when a message came from Illinois advising her of the serious condition of another sister. The message was received by her son, Roy Steinkamp, who forwarded the same to the mother. She wired back that she was leaving at once for the east, hastening to the bedside of her sister, and would do everything possible for the patient.

York, Neb.—Permanent improvements on Meridian highway No. 81, between York and Shelby, were set as a goal by York and Poly county groups which met here Thursday.

State Primary Races Marked by Close Vote

Mail Ballots, Official Counts To Decide Issue in Many Counties; Numerous Upsets.

Lincoln, Neb., April 15.—Virtual completion of unofficial compilation of returns Wednesday night indicated Tuesday's primary election produced the largest number of close and indecisive races in many years.

Only the addition of the mail vote and the official canvass will settle these major races:

Democratic attorney general: Richard C. Hunter of Omaha leading Francis V. Robinson of Lincoln, 34,152 to 33,698 in 1,979 of 2,025 precincts.

Good Leads Sullivan.

Democratic railway commissioner: F. A. Good of Lincoln leading John P. Sullivan of Omaha, 22,472, to 21,714 in 1,981 precincts.

Republican first district congressman: E. B. Perry of Lincoln leading Paul Weaver of Falls City, 5,949 to 5,864 with all 348 precincts in the district complete.

Republican fourth district congressman: Arthur J. Denney of Fairbury leading H. W. Churchill of Fairfield, 8,921 to 8,441 in 474 of 476 precincts in the district.

Other Close Races.

In addition, numerous legislative and delegate contests were in doubt. Those races where nominations appeared assured included many close decisions such as these:

Ex-Congressman Terry Carpenter of Scotts Bluff, defeated J. C. Quigley of Valentine for the democratic senatorial nomination by less than 4,000 votes.

Senator Edward R. Burke of Omaha defeated Ex-Congressman Dan V. Stephens of Fremont for democratic national committeemen by less than 11,000 votes.

Upset Victory.

Duane E. Swanson of Omaha upset Chairman Hugh H. Drake of the Nebraska railway commission for the republican nomination for railway commissioner by almost 2,500 votes.

William A. Burkett of Omaha defeated George C. Snow of Chadron for the republican secretary of state nomination by about 2,000 votes.

Richard O. Johnson of Lincoln won the republican attorney general nomination for the second consecutive time by a margin of about 4,700 votes over Clarence M. Davis of Ord.

TEN SHIPS ARE LYING IDLE

San Francisco.—San Francisco longshoremen, facing prospective idleness in the current waterfront labor battle between employers and left wing union leaders, received assurances of support from the Pacific Coast International Longshoremen's association. William J. Lewis, president of the district L. L. A., claiming a membership of between 12,000 and 15,000 men, reported it had no alternative but to stand behind the local union headed by militant Harry Bridges. Organized waterfront employers severed all connection with the local Monday in a move to circumvent what they called "radical and subversive" union leadership.

The local claims a membership of 4,200. Hiring of longshoremen stopped despite the invitation of employers to union stevedores to come direct to the docks and take jobs.

Altho 10 ships were reported lying idle at the docks, there was no sign the longshoremen were responding to the employers' invitation, which assured them they would have the same wages, hours and working conditions as before. Lewis said he was anxious for an immediate settlement. He requested a conference with Bridges and waterfront employers.

The NYA, she said, has aided 191,000 youths to attend secondary schools and 120,000 students to attend colleges and universities, in addition to providing work projects for 200,000 other youths throughout the nation.
