

Interesting Trip to National Red Cross Convent'n

Cass County Ladies Spend Pleasant Four Days at Annual Meeting Held in Chicago.

Monday morning, May 11, two happy delegates from the Cass County Chapter, American Red Cross (Miss Augusta Robb, of Union, the county chairman, and Mrs. H. A. Tool, of Mardock, secretary-treasurer of the county chapter) landed at the LaSalle street station in Chicago — with only a few minutes' ride to the Stevens hotel, headquarters of the convention.

The city of Chicago voiced its greeting and welcome in a very colorful array of Red Cross emblems, flying from conveyances, and State street and Michigan avenue were lined with National flags, the Chicago flag of welcome and Red Cross flags, swinging from the light standards. Red Cross officials and the State Street council placed the final welcome banner at State and Madison with an appropriate ceremony in which Henry G. Hart, president of the council welcomed the convention to the windy city.

Monday afternoon the Chicago chapter tendered a reception to the 2,000 delegates and 500 members of the Chicago chapter at the Chicago Historical Society building in Lincoln park. This gave the visitors an opportunity to meet the Chicago officers and the National officers as well as to view the exhibits loaned to the Chicago chapter from Washington headquarters, consisting of the historical documents dating back to the beginning of the Red Cross, together with Florence Nightingale, which were housed in the many historical rooms of this spacious building. Red Cross nurses wearing the blue cape with slashing of red acted as ushers. About thirty men in colonial costume on black chargers lined either side of the walk in front of the building. A very impressive sight!

A total of 2,226 delegates (of whom 735 were Juniors) gathered under the one roof of the Stevens hotel for the best convention in the history of American Red Cross. The convention session was opened with a concert by the U. S. Naval Training Station band, and as the bugle sounded a procession of uniformed nurses, volunteers, First Aid and Life Saving corps, Motor corps and Juniors representing all nations of Red Cross societies, from the Chicago chapter, marched into the ball room, where James Forgan, Jr., chairman of the Chicago chapter, presided. A most cordial welcome was extended to the visitors by Mayor Kelley.

Admiral Grayson, national chairman of the American Red Cross, in addressing the convention, said: "I like to think of the Red Cross as a lamp of understanding. I believe the Red Cross spirit shining through the world will one day bring peace to all. And I hope, through its benevolence, it will at last prevent the hurts that fall upon mankind."

Thomas Gosling, director of Junior Red Cross, presented the flag for the state having the largest Junior membership to George Nelson, representing the Madison, Wis., chapter. Ralph Christian, senior in the Birmingham, Ala., high school, is sponsor for the 8,000,000 Juniors of America and over 16,000,000 of other nations of the world. Dr. Gosling said the Junior Red Cross may truly be called one of the most wholesome influences in contemporary American life. "The history of the Red Cross challenges the imagination of the youth of the modern world."

"Far-seeing educators saw in the program of the Junior Red Cross an opportunity to better equip the youth of the present day to meet existing problems and a definite means of character moulding and development in correlating these activities with those of the normal school curriculum," said Junior Ralph Christian.

Mrs. Elizabeth Vaughn was presented with the Florence Nightingale medal for distinguished service by Admiral Grayson.

"Red Cross in Field of Health," was presented by Dr. Farran, Jr., surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health, with Miss Demming, Public Health, nursing.

James Flesser, vice chairman of Domestic Operations, reviewed the disasters of the past year, also the major catastrophes since 1889 that have dealt death to many hundreds of people, impressing upon all chapters the importance of disaster preparedness. He stated that every dollar of relief money continues its work indefinitely.

Miss Clara Noyes, director of Nursing, speaking of the anniversary of Florence Nightingale May 12th, said no other organization has a keener appreciation of a good nurse than the American Red Cross. There are 66,000 graduate nurses enrolled. The service they have rendered during recent floods, tornadoes and other disasters was highly praised by Miss Noyes, who said this bulwark of preparedness "gives hope and courage to the suffering and destitute."

William M. Baxter, Jr., of our own midwestern area, speaking on "The Significance of Red Cross Membership," said, "It teaches us to care. Life is enriched if some being really cares, and this makes for a better world, creating a bond of closer fellowship nationally and internationally as well." This was felt all through the convention. Your membership does its part in helping to care for a stricken community.

Governor Earle, of Pennsylvania, addressing the 1,700 delegates present at the dinner Tuesday evening, gave a most vivid description of the work done by the Red Cross in caring for the destitute and homeless in the eastern area flood district this spring. He said the best thing the state of Pennsylvania ever did was to turn over its facilities and man power to the direction of trained Red Cross disaster workers, who were able to get things done in seemingly almost impossible time. Every organization in all cities gave their co-operation, but the thing that was needed was trained leadership, which the Red Cross provided.

Moving pictures were shown during the convention of this area of flood destruction.

Robert E. Bondy, director of Disaster Relief Service, urged chapters to organize Disaster preparedness committees. This system of relief and service has grown through the years, but the Red Cross must go forward in the matter of prevention. He further stated: "Your magnificent success in raising a relief fund of between seven and eight million dollars is a tribute to your zeal and ability and evidence of the fact that Americans are willing to lend aid in time of emergency. Even more significant is this voluntary giving to the Red Cross to make relief in time of disaster possible. You know that our annual national disaster appropriation made possible largely from roll call receipts has met only one-third of the cost of providing disaster relief in recent years, not including the other four national disaster appeals made during that time. The other two-thirds must be contributed when disaster comes, as in the case of the spring disasters this year. So it must be made clear that when our own communities are affected, the Red Cross care of those in need is made possible by our ability to make emergency contributions. The Red Cross stands today as America's disaster relief agency, its position confirmed and attested to time and again as need has arisen. It is the symbol around which we rally, the pass word sign, so to speak. I recall the U. S. Post Office Department inspector who called on me the third day of the flood, troubled and concerned because his five trucks of mail would not be admitted to Johnston without the Red Cross stickers on the windshield. I gave the stickers and the mail came through. The Red Cross was there—symbol of service in this great emergency, and we hope it always will be—with full support of its 3,700 chapters and the American people."

Life Saving and First Aid program was stressed by H. J. Callahan of Fort Dodge (Iowa) chapter and First Aid by Captain Mingle of the Highway Accidents and Emergency State Highway patrol, of Columbus. He said there were two persons killed and 21 injured on state highways each day last year. The movement of Highway and First Aid Station units supervised by trained persons is a great undertaking in the interest of public welfare.

Dill Denies "Guilt"

Margie Eaton Dill

Charging that former Senator Clarence C. Dill of Mount Vernon, O., and his sister-in-law had conspired to break up her marriage to Wendell Dill, 20-year-old son of Mrs. Grace Dill, and had allegedly arranged an illegal operation performed on the plaintiff in Washington, D. C., Margie Eaton Dill, above, brought suit for $25,000 on grounds of alienation of affections from her estranged husband. On taking the stand to testify in his own defense Dill denied all responsibility in the matter.

of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, said: "It is a disgrace to America that more lives are lost through accidents (motor and otherwise) than during the World war. Figures are not interesting, but we must think of them not as figures, but as men, women and children."

Players from WBBM broadcasting studio gave two dramatizations, one of a motor accident on the highway and the other "The Last Laugh," a play showing disaster destruction.

Harold F. Enlow, director of Life Saving and First Aid, stated that more of the medical group had given volunteer service in instructing classes in these services than ever before.

Miss Mabel T. Boardman, National executive secretary and director of Volunteer Service, presented a pageant of the ten fields of service. Each group upon the completion of the course wears the costume of that service—the administration, staff workers, production, Braille, canteen, motor health aids, home service, hospital and recreation.

The convention was not without music, given by the U. S. Naval Station Third Artillery band, of Fort Sheridan, Ill., Hamilton club male chorus, A Capella Chori of Senn high school, the Hammond organ in the Stevens hotel and a pageant by the Juniors of Grinnell, Iowa, entitled "The Greatest Mother." This was presented by children from six to ten years old.

Strength, speed and endurance in service for all emergencies to humanity, spreading the spirit of good will and unselfish devotion was the key note of the convention.

With the 2,226 delegates, of whom 735 were Junior delegates, the greatest Red Cross convention came to a close. One high spot was the final summary of the Junior Red Cross convention given by the Junior vice chairman Don Ward of the Omaha, Nebraska, Junior Red Cross. All Nebraskans present were proud of him. He received a wonderful ovation.

If every delegate could carry home to his people the spirit of this great organization, the membership this fall would go over the five million mark, for you would be so happy to be even a small part of this human agent of mercy over the world.

It was the greatest privilege ever given to any delegate to be sent to this 1936 convention by the Cass County Chapter. Our only hope is that our chapter may be benefited and the true spirit of the Red Cross felt with a greater and deeper feeling by all who contribute in the least possible amount to the whole program far and wide. To mingle with Red Cross folks from every corner of the U. S., Canada and even Puerto Rico chapter chairman brought us a message—was an inspiration.

We hope to meet you all at the annual meeting in Weeping Water the last of June. Time and place will be announced later.

Faithfully,
YOUR CHAPTER CHAIRMAN.

MANLEY NEWS

Harold Krecklow is painting the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rough, both inside and out.

Rev. Father Harte was in Auburn last Monday, going to participate in a 40 hours devotion at the church at that place.

Henry Taylor, father of Mrs. Fred Fleischman, of Louisville, was visiting at the Fleischman home in Manley last Sunday.

John F. Carper and William Sheehan, Jr., were in Omaha last Friday, where they were looking after some business matters.

Rudolph Bergman and wife were in Omaha last Tuesday, where they were looking after business matters. They made the trip in their car.

Miss Teresa Rauth was a guest last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rauth, where all enjoyed the day with a fine visit and an excellent dinner.

Theo Harms and wife were in Omaha last Wednesday, where they were called to look after some business matters for the day and also made the purchase of goods for the store.

On last Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haws went to Omaha to see the havoc which was done by the hail storm of Sunday afternoon and found plenty of drifts of ice when they got there.

John C. Rauth has some corn in his garden at this time which is well over a foot high and is looking fine. He is expecting to have roasting ears as early this year as anyone in this part of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mockenhaupt were in Plattsmouth last Saturday, where they were doing some shopping as well as visiting with friends.

Henry J. Hohlman and wife were looking after business matters in Omaha Monday.

Ferd Brunkow and son, Verle, were at Syracuse Wednesday of last week, where they attended the regular weekly community sale which is held there each Wednesday. They desired to make the purchase of a number of posts for use on the farm.

The Chilson school east of Manley closed its school year last Friday with a picnic at the school house, which was sponsored by the teacher, Miss Mildred Young. The school board has re-elected Miss Young to teach there again this coming year, as all are very well pleased with her services.

First of Free Picture Shows

Last Monday night there was presented at Manley the first of a series of free picture shows in Manley to be given each Monday night through the summer. A large crowd was present to enjoy the show and it is expected that the crowds will continue to come each week during the summer. A good grade of pictures has been booked for these free shows and Manley is doing her part to help provide free entertainment for the people of Cass county.

Changes at Elevator

The board of directors of the Manley Farmers Grain company met last Monday night and decided on some quite extensive improvements to their property. They are having the old coal sheds torn down. Andrew Schlieffert is doing the work under direction of Harry Haws, manager of the elevator. To replace them, new coal shed are to be built, which will be ready for use before the coming of the coal season this fall. The electric motor, which has been located in the basement of the elevator, is being removed to the top floor, where a better pull can be had and with the same amount of current a load of corn can be handled in one-third less time than now.

Three Weeks in North Woods

With the warm weather coming on, Mrs. Harry Haws and Mrs. Ralph Keckler left last week via auto for Fairbault, Minn., where Mrs. Haws has a sister and where they planned to visit a short time before continuing on to Veridge, Minn., which is deep in the north woods and near the Canadian line. They expect to spend some three weeks there and anticipate a very pleasant recreation in that pleasant climate.

Give Shower for Bride

A very pleasant shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. McDonald last Thursday evening, sponsored by Mrs. William Meyers, of Ashland, in honor of the newlyweds, Robert McDonald and bride, who was formerly Miss Julia Neilson of Avoca. The event was in the nature of a miscellaneous shower and a large crowd of young people was present to meet the bride and groom and help provide a merry evening of pleasure. Many valuable and beau-

Bartered Bride

Anna Marks

Conflicting versions of an unusual life drama were revealed in a Chicago court when pretty Anna Marks, 18-year-old gypsy girl, testified that her father sold her to her first husband for $2,500 and then sought to collect another fee when she obtained a divorce and remarried. The father, Peter Stevens of Detroit, charged that his daughter had stolen $3,000 from him.

Charivariwed Newlyweds

On last Tuesday night, when Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald arrived in Manley (having been married the previous Wednesday at Glenwood, Iowa) a party of the young friends of Robert and his bride arrived at the McDonald home and gave the newlyweds a very nice charivari, which was enjoyed alike by the happy couple and their many young friends. A treat was forthcoming and all were happy.

Enjoyed Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. McDonald entertained some thirty of their friends and relatives last Sunday, with a most enjoyable family dinner and a pleasant time being had by all. Those who were present were Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer and their little son, Billie, of Ashland; Mrs. Frank Moore and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Art Hanson and children and Mrs. Thomas Hanson, mother of Art, all of Murray; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hill and family of Council Bluffs; Mrs. Hesselstow and the children, of Council Bluffs; Mrs. Henry Meyers and son Ralph of Greenwood; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Koukal and children and Mrs. Anna Kelley, mother of Mrs. McDonald, of Plattsmouth, and Mrs. Myra McDonald of Murray, mother of Oscar McDonald, also C. E. Mockenhaupt and daughter, Miss Sue, of Manley.

VETERAN CONDUCTOR DIES

From Saturday's Daily Charles Mooney, 57, one of the veteran conductors in the passenger service of the Burlington railroad, died at an early hour this morning on his train, "The Aristocrat," or No. 6, as it was out of Friend a short time. The dying condition of the conductor was discovered by a passenger on the train who had been up early and gone to the observation car, discovering the dying man lying between a table on which he had been making his reports and the seat. Aid was called but Mr. Mooney passed away before the train reached Lincoln. He has been in the service of the Burlington for the past thirty-five years. His home was at Hastings and he has had the run from Hastings to Omaha for a number of years.

VISITING IN CITY

Miss Dorothy Holland, of Lincoln, is in the city, a guest at the home of Superintendent and Mrs. L. S. Devoe and family, Mrs. Devoe being an aunt of Miss Holland. During the past school year Miss Holland has been teaching kindergarten in the Pawnee City schools.

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons

DO you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination; backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They are recommended the world over. You can get the genuine, time-tested Doan's at any drug store.
