Causes Wife-Slayer to Confess

Mrs. Frances Birch (above), 30-year-old widow, allegedly for whose love Guy Tallmadge, 58-year-old Rockford, Ill., undertaker's assistant, killed his wife when she refused him a divorce. It is stated that he broke down and allegedly confessed the slaying of his wife, Bessie, 53, Tuesday (May 19) near Oregon, Ill., when confronted by Mrs. Birch at the Oregon jail today.

In sponsoring the Scout movement, the Brotherhood is performing a very meritorious service and one that will benefit a large number of our boys. Scouting is not simply an organization to "belong" to, but a progressive movement with the boys advancing in rank as their own diligence permits. It provides a contact with the boys of a community that could not be established in any other way.

The duties of a sponsoring organization are to provide an active troop committee of three to five members who shall be responsible for the advancement of the troop, selection of a Scoutmaster, providing the funds to maintain the program, etc.

The new troop here will be a part of the Cornhusker area, covering a total of some 53 counties in Nebraska lying south of the Platte, and having headquarters in Lincoln.

An Accommodating Gentleman

While "No Trespassing" signs are found at the entrance to many natural beauty spots along the highways where motorists are wont to stop for a picnic, Frank Cook has desisted from the placing of such a sign at the Cook grove on what is known as the Dramer place, where he lives, even though a man of less patience would be sorely tempted to do so. Mr. Cook is pleased to have people make use of the grove, but at numerous times the visitors have left the gate open and his cattle have strayed out into the road and in neighbor's fields. He asks that they cooperate by seeing that the gate is kept closed.

Some city people are highly appreciative of the privileges accorded them by farm folk, but there are a small minority who ruthlessly destroy everything in sight, leave the gates open and scatter paper, etc. about the ground, and it is the action of these few that causes many farmers to post "No Trespassing" signs. We would say Mr. Cook is a man of much patience and with a kindly heart, and we are glad to call this condition to the attention of Journal readers, trusting that it may cease before it becomes absolutely necessary to close such a popular recreation spot in order to protect his own property. Picnickers, please note.

Clarence Price Dies in Prison at Fort Madison

Was Serving Life Term for Murder of Niece, Edith Kuhl, at Pacific Junction Last Summer.

Clarence Price, 50, sentenced to the Fort Madison, Iowa, state penitentiary for life for the slaying of his thirteen year old niece, Edith Kuhl, died Friday at the prison hospital.

Price was a sufferer from heart trouble for years and during his trial at Glenwood suffered several attacks and since being taken to the state prison he had grown much worse and was kept in the hospital for the greater part of the time. In recent weeks his pulse has been very low and the death was not unexpected.

In letters received by relatives in the early part of the year he had stated that he was again back in the hospital and in very serious shape and repeated denial of his guilt.

Reports of suicide reported by Des Moines newspapers seem without foundation in the message received here from the prison warden.

PAY TRIBUTE TO COACH

Thursday at the high school as a part of the honors convocation, Coach Fred A. Rother was honored by the young men of the school who have served on his athletic teams as well as a part of the alumni of former letter men.

The pupils and former pupils of Mr. Rother in athletics had joined in the purchase of a handsome silver loving cup as a remembrance of many years of pleasant associations, as he is severing his connection with the local school this year. The cup was handsomely engraved with the word "Coach" and "1923-1936" the years of the coach's services here.

The cup was presented by Joe Hendrix, senior class president, on behalf of the present and past athletes of the school and Mr. Rother very feelingly replied to the demonstration of appreciation and affection from those with whom he had been so closely associated in the past years.
