

Sewing Projects Over State Makes Many Garments

This Feature of WPA Secures Excellent Results in Fifty-three Centers in State.

Fast flying needles in the hands of 2,761 women employed on the 53 WPA sewing centers in Nebraska have produced 334,722 garments since the sewing projects were started last November, D. F. Felton, Nebraska WPA administrator, announced today.

All of the clothing manufactured in the centers is distributed to needy families on relief thru the surplus commodities project, Felton said.

"We are very proud of what has been accomplished by these sewing projects," the WPA administrator said. "Through their efforts, many families have been given warm clothing and bed clothing during the cold winter months and this much of the burden has been taken from the books of the already financially hard pressed counties.

"This type of project is a concrete refutation of charges of boondoggling. Not only do we provide clothing for those on relief—and thus help the local communities—but those projects also employ an average of 2,700 women who have been taken from the relief rolls and made self sustaining," he continued.

"We consider this one of the best kinds of projects because 82.1 per cent of the money expended goes for labor, while only 17.9 per cent goes for material," Felton asserted.

The largest sewing center in the state is at Omaha where 1,023 women are employed, 500 of whom are housed in one building, Lincoln's sewing center on which 218 women have been assigned for work is the second largest in the state, but nearly every county has at least one project of this kind, Felton said.

Mrs. Ethel May Sammann of Lincoln is state director of women's and professional projects and has supervision over the sewing centers.

The average wage paid the workers on this project is $45 for 136 hours work per month, Mrs. Sammann said.

"We try to not only make the women workers good seamstresses but also better housewives," Mrs. Sammann declared. "Each woman is given six hours instruction a month along lines that will improve their homes. They are taught the essentials of dieting, of budgeting the family income, and of disease prevention through sanitation. Thus, we are not only giving them jobs but also rehabilitating them."

The 53 sewing centers have produced the following articles of clothing since last November: 27,208 ladies' dresses; 11,368 ladies' slips; 2,069 ladies' aprons; 375 ladies' blouses; 2,657 ladies' smocks; 4,653 ladies' bloomers; 1,368 ladies' brassiers; 876 ladies' step-ins; 11,763

Cheyenne Wheat a Head Liner in Grain Exhibits

Portrait of Alexander Legge May Be Presented to Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Plans are rapidly being completed for the holding of the annual crops field day at the college of agriculture at Lincoln Tuesday, June 23, with indications for one of the largest crowds in the history of the event. Dr. T. A. Kiesselbach is in charge of plans.

Increased interest in grass and legume planting thruout Nebraska is expected to draw many farmers to the campus for the meeting which will feature discussions regarding these things. The grass nurseries will be inspected, and a tour of the agronomy experimental farm during the afternoon will show up the various varieties of alfalfa and the practicality of temporary pasture systems.

Winter wheat varieties will be on display during the afternoon also at the agronomy farm. Most farm interest is expected to be shown in the Cheyenne variety which for several years has shown up exceedingly well in experiment station and outstate tests. Spring small grain is not expected to show up to an advantage, since the oat and barley crops are exceedingly light.

Possibility that a portrait of the late Alexander Legge will be presented to the college of agriculture on crops day was also foreseen. The Legge memorial commission is presenting two such paintings to the two outstanding colleges in the country, and Nebraska may be included. If so, the presentation will be made on the morning program.

Hybrid corn is scheduled to be discussed by D. L. Gross, extension agronomist. With more acres devoted to hybrids this year than ever before, considerable interest is expected to develop around this discussion. E. F. Frolik will present some of his pasture management observations of recent weeks. Dr. F. D. Keim will speak about weeds. K. S. Quisenberry, H. F. Engstrom and M. D. Weldon are others scheduled to speak. Dean Burr will welcome the visitors to the campus.

FIND PREHISTORIC ANIMAL

Bradshaw, Neb.—University of Nebraska paleontologists excavated the remains of a prehistoric mammoth discovered on a farm southeast of here last fall. Jaw bones, two tusks, several vertebrae, limb bones and ribs were unearthed and members of the party hoped to find the skull. The animal, which resembled a modern elephant except for a coat of shaggy fur, roamed this region in prehistoric ages, probably in the ice age about 50,000 years ago.

Henry Reider, chief preparator at the university museum, is in charge of the party. He explained it would be impossible to classify the mammoth definitely until teeth are found. The other members of the party, Jack Graham and Emery Blue, left for Broadwater to begin excavating a mastodon discovered there.

Benefits Under the Old AAA Run Up into Millions

Secretary Wallace Submits Report Called for by the Senate—Sugar Tops the List.

Washington, June 19.—Secretary Wallace submitted to the senate a report that a shifting group of around 300 producers had received better than $10,000 a year under the old AAA, and that $38,460,000 had been paid into these higher brackets over a three year period. The report, requested by the senate April 24 in adopting a resolution by Senator Anderson, contained figures to the effect that $38,460,000 to this group came out of a total of $1,171,069,967 paid in benefits under the court-invalidated administration.

Sugar producers received the biggest AAA checks. Other largest payments went to cotton planters in Arkansas and Mississippi, to a hog farm in California, a wheat ranch in Montana and rice farms in Louisiana.

Leading the sugar list was the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar company, Ltd., which was paid $1,022,037. The Oahu Sugar company of Hawaii received $904,562. Other sugar producers in Hawaii receiving large payments were the Lihue Plantation company, $815,409; Ewa Plantation company, $751,843; Waialua Agricultural company, Ltd., $740,095.

Florida a Beneficiary
In continental United States, the U. S. Sugar Corporation of Florida led the list with total payments of $785,038.

In Puerto Rico, on one contract, the Eastern Sugar associates received $278,810, and the National City bank of New York $705,488. On another joint contract there, the Compania Giorgette received $71,462, and the Bank of Nova Scotia, $478,925.

The largest cotton payments went to Lee Wilson & Co., Mississippi county, Ark., which received $392,702, and the Delta and Pine Land company of Mississippi, $318,287.

Oscar Johnson, manager of the AAA cotton pool, is manager of the Delta and Pine Land company. Other large cotton payments were $80,000 in 1933 to banks in Danner, Crittenden county, Ark., and a total of $99,137 to the Tiller Mercantile company of Drew county, Ark.

Fontana farms, of San Bernardino county, Calif., received the largest corn-hog payment, $155,575. The Jersey Feed farms of New Jersey was paid $48,752 on a corn-hog contract, while the Riddle Contracting company, Inc., of New Jersey, was given $14,720.

Among the largest wheat payments was a total of $51,066 to the Campbell Farming corporation of Montana. This compared to a total of $6,302,386 in wheat payments for the whole state.

URGES DOMESTIC MARKET

Urbana, Ill., June 19.—H. R. Tolley, acting administrator of the AAA, urged farmers to concentrate their attention on the domestic market. To the American Institute of co-operation, Tolley said international trade generally was increasing slowly, and added: "But we (AAA leaders) can not fulfill our trust to the farmers by giving our moral sanction to a hysterical frenzy over farm imports which, while higher than in 1932, have been in a large part due to the drought and have been less than the 10-year average preceding 1932.

"We know that if the farmers permit their attention to be focused on these imports, which have an almost negligible effect on their economic position, they are likely to fail to do the things for themselves which would really count.

"We urge farmers to reject the unsound course and follow the sound one; to make the most of the home market by rejecting the unsound policy of complete exclusionism and supporting sound measures that will build up consumer purchasing power; and to build up the foreign market by rejecting unsound export subsidy proposals and following sane and realistic policies of two-way trade."

SARAH STONE

June 19th at 12 o'clock at the farm home of Mary Propst (which has been the home of the deceased for years) occurred the death of Sarah E. Stone, 62. Funeral will be held at the home Monday, June 22nd at 2:30 p. m. Burial at Pleasant Ridge cemetery, 2 miles south of Plattsmouth. Horton funeral home director.

RAIL EXECUTIVES ELECT

Chicago.—J. J. Brinkworth of Buffalo, N. Y., was elected president of the American association of railroad superintendents at the closing session of the association's annual meeting. Brinkworth is assistant superintendent of the New York Central railroad.

C. J. Brown of Kansas City, general manager of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, was named first vice president. Second, third and fourth vice presidents chosen were, respectively J. W. Graves, Hornell, N. Y., superintendent of the Erie railroad; A. P. Pelnar of Chicago, superintendent of the freight terminal of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad and W. A. Aiken, jr., of Richmond, Virginia, and Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad.

As he cleared up his desk preparatory to leaving for Philadelphia, where he will attend the convention as an Iowa delegate, the governor added that he hasn't had time to give the suggestion much consideration." A telegram which the governor made public was from J. R. Piles of Los Angeles, one-time candidate for governor of Iowa and now a leader of Roosevelt forces in California. It read: "In the event the nomination for the vice presidency should become open I sincerely hope you may permit your name to be presented. No living man could dim the prestige of Landon so well as yourself. Comparison of records would become an invited and inevitable challenge. Count me in should the contingency arise."

The telegram and messages the governor said he received are in addition to some he received from friends in other states, including Oklahoma and Florida, earlier in the year.

PEACE PROGRAM ACCEPTED

Atlantic City, N. J.—The program of the national peace conference for unifying peace forces in the United States was approved by the board of trustees of the Church Peace union.

The program includes a national defense policy based on protection of United States soil; stabilization of United States soil; stabilization of currency thru international action; active participation in international labor organization; control of the munitions industry to prevent rivalry in armaments and to take the profit out of war, and extension of neutrality legislation to include an embargo on supplementary war material.

PROGRESS IN PEACE TALKS

Nanking, China.—Peace negotiations between the Nanking (central) and the Canton (south western) governments of China are progressing slowly, officials said.

Despite this progress, the army of Nanking in Hunan and Kiangsi provinces is alert to meet any possible emergency. Additional troops are moving into Hunan from the north, along with a number of bombing airplanes, most of American manufacture.

DIES AS BONUS ARRIVES

Crete, Neb.—The veterans' bonus bonds got to Crete on time, but they were too late for Jess Beeman, 43. Beeman died a few moments before Postmaster E. B. Hardeman reached Veterans' hospital at Lincoln where Beeman had been confined for two weeks. Hardeman said after certain formalities the bonds would be assigned to Beeman's widow and his six children.

RETAINS FAITH IN G. O. P.

Chicago.—Mrs. Eleanor Gridley, who said she believed she is the only survivor of the meeting at Jackson, Mich., in July, 1854, at which many claim the republican party was born, celebrated her 90th birthday and reaffirmed her faith in the G. O. P.

AIR CORPS BILL SIGNED

Washington.—President Roosevelt signed a bill authorizing the calling of not to exceed 1,350 army air reserve corps officers to duty for periods of not more than five years.

Herring Suggested as the Running Mate

Iowa Governor Importuned to Make a Bid for Vice Presidency—Receives Many Messages.

Des Moines.—A personal friend of President Roosevelt, Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa, was being urged to seek the Philadelphia convention's selection as the president's running mate. The Iowa executive, announcing the suggestion that he permit his name to be advanced for the vice-presidency had been made to him verbally and in letters and telegrams, later commented: "I wouldn't want to do anything of which my good friend, Vice President Jack Garner, would not approve."

As he cleared up his desk preparatory to leaving for Philadelphia, where he will attend the convention as an Iowa delegate, the governor added that he hasn't had time to give the suggestion much consideration." A telegram which the governor made public was from J. R. Piles of Los Angeles, one-time candidate for governor of Iowa and now a leader of Roosevelt forces in California. It read: "In the event the nomination for the vice presidency should become open I sincerely hope you may permit your name to be presented. ARCHDUKE GIVES FORECAST

Vienna.—The archduke Eugene, grandniece of the archduke Otto, Hapsburg pretender, and World war field marshal of the Austro-Hungarian armies, in an address at Linz predicted the Austrian people "soon will have an opportunity to express an opinion on the question of restoration of the monarchy."

Legitimists, meanwhile, received another letter from Otto who pictured himself as neutral pacifier, uninvolved in Austrian political disputes, who could restore order.
