

Center Assistance Under a Single Head

State Case Work Supervisor to Direct Four Branches of Work; Joint Announcement.

Irl D. Tolen, state assistance director, and Mrs. Maud E. Nuquist, state child welfare director, in a joint statement Friday announced Miss Mildred Kiklen, case work supervisor, will be in charge of field supervisors who will investigate dependent children, old age assistance, blind pension, and relief cases in counties.

The announcement was the result of a formal opinion obtained Thursday by Tolen in which the attorney general's office ruled the field supervisors could be used on all four activities. The dependent children program, however, will remain under the direction of the state child welfare bureau and will not come under the jurisdiction of the state assistance administration as indicated Thursday by Tolen.

Following a conference with Washington officials, Tolen and Mrs. Nuquist announced they agreed Miss Bilken will be responsible to the assistance director for old age assistance, blind assistance, and relief activities, and to the child welfare director for aid to dependent children.

Field supervisors, meanwhile, will be selected by the case supervisor and approved by the state assistance director and the state child welfare director. "The state child welfare bureau," the joint statement continued, "will retain the child welfare specialists on its staff to administer crippled children and child welfare services and the other duties of the bureau. These fields are reserved exclusively to it. A part of the development of the child welfare bureau will be the setting up in certain counties of demonstration units for child welfare." The plan, as now contemplated, "should mean a better quality of work in all phases of the programs," the statement read.

ADD TO FUN AT TOPEKA

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Matchulat of Lincoln, were among the younger people to add to the pep and fun attendant on the notification ceremonies of Governor Alf Landon at Topeka Thursday. Mr. Matchulat is chairman of the first district Young Republicans and with his wife, formerly Miss Violet Vallery of this city, was at Cleveland at the national convention and also at Topeka. Mrs. Matchulat created much fun as with a red lantern she sought on the streets of Topeka as well as on the special train to find a new deal democrat, who on this occasion were apparently in hiding. Mrs. Matchulat is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Vallery of Omaha.

HERE FROM OKLAHOMA

Mrs. Frank Lukasek and sons, Frank and Jimmy of Kingfisher, Oklahoma, are here visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Janca. This coming week they will visit in Lincoln and Omaha.

See the goods you buy. Catalog descriptions are flowery enough, but how about the goods when you get them?

Wabash News

Threshing at the E. F. Marshall farm, which was being done Wednesday of last week, showed a yield of about 23 bushels to the acre, and the grain was of very good quality.

Daniel Rueter had the misfortune to lose one of his faithful horses one day last week. The hot, dry weather has been plenty hard on animals as well as human beings.

Guy Hinds and the family were enjoying a visit at Avoca last Sunday, being guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Brendel. They got home ahead of the dust storm and were well pleased they were not out on the road when it struck.

Alexander Jones, who resides near South Bend and has been having difficulty getting enough water for his stock, had a new well dug, which at the very shallow depth of thirteen feet produced an abundance of good water, and it seems it cannot be pumped dry.

Mrs. Seward Day was a visitor here for a few days with the rural mail carrier, Miss Myrtle Wood, going from here to Denver and other points in the west, where she will visit for some time. Mr. Day is now located in the western part of the state, where he is operating an elevator.

Mrs. W. A. Jones and daughter, Miss Hazel, of near South Bend, who have been visiting at Los Angeles for some time, are returning home this week after having enjoyed a very pleasant visit. They made the trip, both going and coming, via the Union Pacific on one of their air-conditioned trains and found traveling in this manner most comfortable. There was no tire trouble or running out of gasoline either. They had a very pleasant visit in the west.

Decided Not to Go

L. R. Stanley and John C. Browne were planning on going to Topeka for the notification ceremonies last Thursday when Governor Alf Landon was to be informed (as if he already didn't know it) that the republicans have chosen him as their candidate for president, but after due consideration abandoned the idea, as Mr. Stanley was busy with his duties as postmaster and Mr. Browne was likewise busy taking care of the incoming wheat at the elevator. They were able to hear the proceedings over the radio without having to make a hot and dusty trip to Topeka, as did thousands from the middle west, in fact all over the nation.

Visited Friends Here

Clement Clarke, a former Wabash boy, who has been making his home in Omaha, accompanied by Edward Carey, were visitors here last Sunday, coming down from the metropolis to visit with Plas H. Clarke, a brother of the former. They found him busy threshing at the farm of Frank Marshall, but he joined them in a visit at Weeping Water, where a most pleasant time was had.

Selected the Wrong Spot

Warren T. Richards has been the owner of a horse of uncertain age, which was afflicted with rheumatism and a number of other ailments, to such an extent that it was expected to die shortly. Warren desired to have the horse remain in a certain place so that the ordeal of burial might be less laborious, but the animal concluded to and did stray off to another place and thus died in Nudists, Beware!

William A. Searles

Because his daughter wrecked the family automobile when she was distracted by the sight of members of the nudist colony next to his farm, Constable William A. Searles of Long Valley, N. J., has reopened his war on the colony. Searles, shown viewing his neighbors at long range, broke into the nation's headlines last year when he attempted to drive out the nudists.

the wrong place, where, with a heated south wind it soon began to "stink to high heavens" making conditions not the most comfortable for the people of Wabash and so Warren had to go and bury the long time friend.

Have Returned to Wabash

Clifford Browne and the family, who have been making their home at Maryville, Mo., for the past two years, moved back to Wabash again last week and are now nicely settled in their old home town. Mr. Browne has secured employment with the Ole Olsen quarries at Weeping Water, where he is now working.

In company with the family, they were all over to Havelock last Sunday, where they visited at the home of his brother, William Browne and family.

What Do You Think of This?

Now comes the report of a local dealer in automobiles who handles many of the leading brands, of finding sales for seven cars last Monday. If this is so, where is the money coming from for the winter's coal, clothing for the family and other necessities? Of course, the automobile is essential and in many instances has taken the place of Old Dobbin. But the sale of seven cars in a single day in a rural district such as this seems to us rather out of the ordinary.

DOING VERY NICELY

Miss Rose Prohaska, member of the faculty of the city schools, who was operated on Wednesday at the Methodist hospital at Omaha, is now reported as doing very nicely. Miss Prohaska has been suffering from appendicitis and it was found necessary to have the operation performed in order to give her relief. This will be very pleasing news to the many friends over the city.

Wild Life is Worth a Billion to the Nation

H. W. Whitaker Says, "Good Wild Life Cover Is Good Erosion Control Cover."

One and one-half billion dollars! That's the annual value of the nation of fish, birds and game animals, recent surveys show.

"The wild life crop," says H. W. Whitaker, regional director of the wild life management division of the soil conservation service in Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, "makes a real contribution to the utilization of low priced submarginal lands and supplements the income value of attractiveness of higher priced land."

Protecting wild life is recognized as one of the best possible ways to protect soil, he points out. The best erosion control is usually vegetative. The best wild life management is usually the improvement of the vegetative good and cover. Good wild life cover is good erosion control cover.

"There is," says Whitaker, "a perfect synchronization of the interests involved in the problem of soil conservation and wild life conservation."

The value of game crop produced can be used to partially justify the cost of many erosion control methods, farmers are told. Increase from wild life can be used to help pay taxes on forest lands or to supplement the low incomes of submarginal farms.

Erosion control programs, it is explained benefit wild life by conserving water and soil, by increasing the organic layer of forests and fields and by encouraging more grass and shrubs which the land has as cover.

NEGRO IS FATALLY HURT

Kimball, Neb.—Millard Evans, 35, Scottsbluff Negro, died in a hospital here of injuries suffered when the rented automobile in which he was returning from Cheyenne was wrecked near Bushnell.

Three other Negroes, all porters in Scottsbluff barber shops, suffered injuries. Carl Edmond, 18, was cut and bruised; Guy Wiley, 53, suffered a fractured arm and a possible skull fracture and Tom Murphy, 35, fractured both legs.

The wreck occurred at about 10 p. m. and the quartet remained at the scene until about 6 a. m. Friday when Deputy Sheriff Don Tebrinke learned of their plight and brought them to the Kimball hospital.

MERCY FLIGHT IS STARTED

Juneau, Alaska.—Another northland "mercy flight" was begun when Pilot Joseph Sheldon took off with a physician, three trained nurses and serum for Bristol bay, where a serious outbreak of typhoid fever, described as near epidemic proportions, was reported.

The epidemic reports, made to Gov. Troy's office by radio, said there were 14 serious cases at Dillingham and numerous minor ones. No reports had been received from other Eskimo villages bordering Bristol bay.

WOMAN FOUND HANGING

Valparaiso, Neb.—Mrs. Mary Bohac, 55, was found hanging from the rafter of a machine shed at her farm home near here by a son, John, Jr. She apparently jumped from the top of a tractor after tying the rope to the rafter. Co. Atty. Hood and Deputy Sheriff Kauffman, who investigated, said there would be no inquest. No reason for the act was given. John Bohac, husband of the woman, is critically ill. Eleven daughters and four sons survive.

SENATOR GLASS 'TRAPPED'

Washington.—Over his "most vigorous protest," the profile of Senator Glass is to appear on a 50 cent piece commemorating the 150th anniversary of his home city, Lynchburg, Va.

As a last step, the doughty Virginian called the mint to ask "if it were permissible for the profile of a live man to appear on coins." Told there was no law against it, Glass shook his head and said: "I had hoped there would be a avenue of escape."

YOUTH IS EXECUTED

San Quentin Prison, Calif.—Antonio Cabrera, 21, was hanged here for the murder of his 17 year old sweetheart, Alberta Smith, at San Bernardino in May, 1935.

A good crowd turned out to enjoy the program given by a group of Negro Spiritual Singers at the M. E. church Thursday evening. They were from Philander Smith college, of Little Rock, Arkansas. After the program, the crowd went to the basement of the church, where the ladies of the Guild served ice cream and cake.

Secret Marriage Revealed

Everette Reece, son of H. A. Reece of Greenwood and Irene Evans, daughter of Irvin Parrish of Scottsbluff, were secretly married at Shendoah, Iowa, December 3, 1935.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white satin, trimmed in white lace, and the groom wore a grey suit.

Mrs. Howard Brunkow of Murdock was Mrs. Reece's bridesmaid and Mr. Brunkow was best man. They were married by Mrs. Edith Sterlin, little minister of KMA, using the double ring ceremony. Mr. Reece's ring was a cameo and Mrs. Reece's band ring was lovely, set with five diamonds.

Mrs. Reece has been employed by Mrs. H. A. Wiggenshorn for nearly two years.

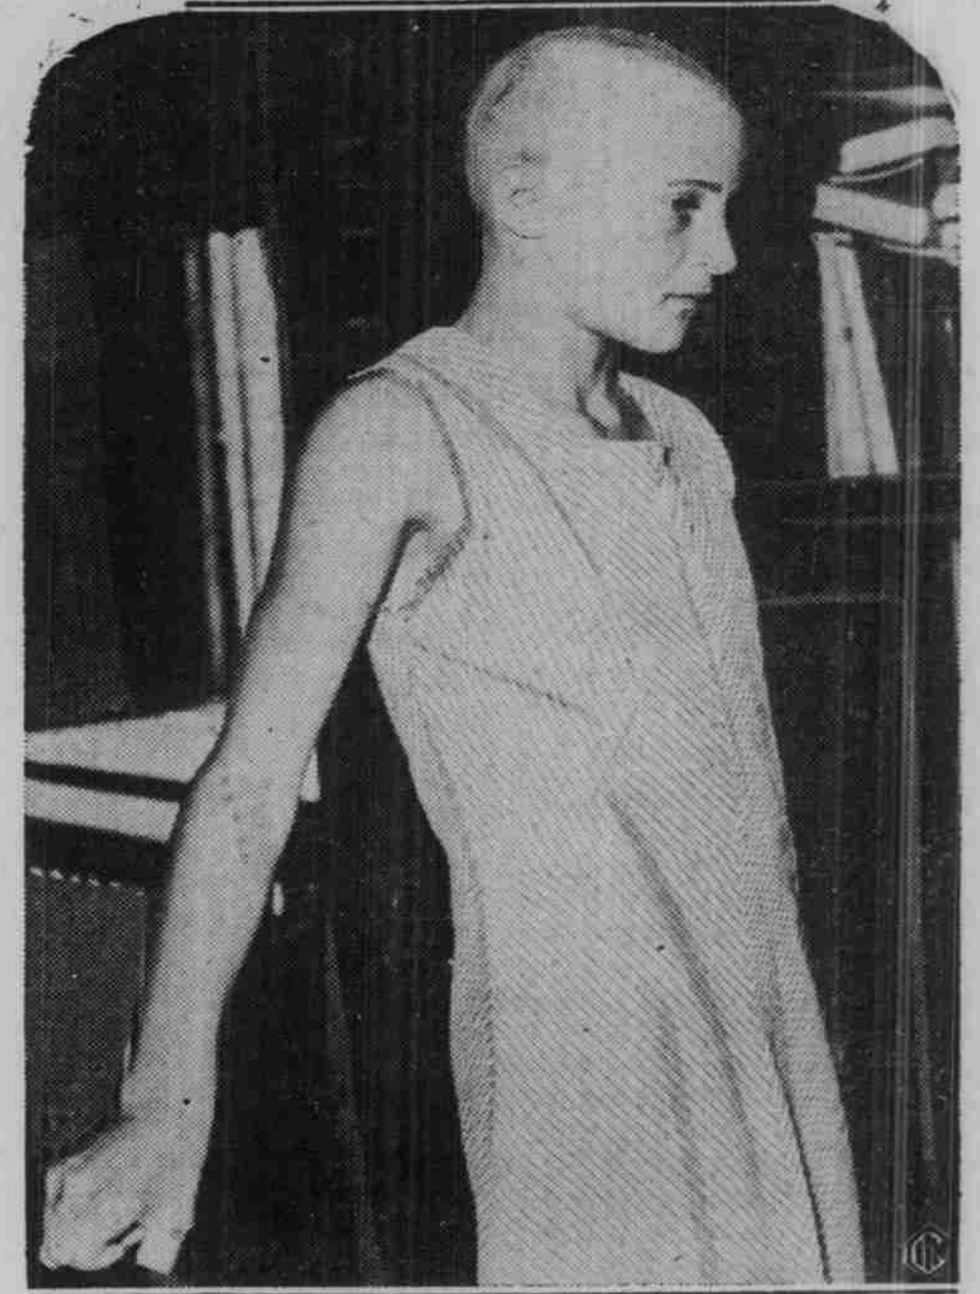

Mr. and Mrs. Reece plan to locate in Greenwood, where Mr. Reece is in business, after August 1.

"Shaved to Look Like Monkey"

Katherine Kovas

An amazing 20th century Cinderella story was revealed in court at St. Clairsville, O., as parents of Katharine Kovas faced charges of contributing to the dependency of a minor in connection with alleged cruel treatment of their daughter. At the court hearing, 13-year-old Katherine said she had been forced to slave for her family all her life and that when she revolted, took some money and bought herself a permanent and some clothes, her parents shaved her head, saying they wanted her "to look like a monkey".
