Her many friends trust her improvement will continue.

Grinds His Own Feed

George Lopp was in town Tuesday morning to purchase a large size water tank for use on the farm, as the old one was not only of insufficient size, but in poor condition, and in these times of water shortage it is imperative that all should be conserved, especially when one has to haul his supply as Mr. Lopp has been compelled to do of late. He gets the water from Nehawka, having a large tank of seven hundred gallon capacity rigged up on his truck. The new tank which he has purchased for storage and for the cattle to drink from will also have lead pipes to the hog troughs, so the water can be turned into them without having to carry it, thus providing plenty of water for the 75 head of hogs he is feeding.

Mr. Lopp grinds all his own feed, mixing about equal parts of oats, wheat and corn, which makes an excellent ration for the hogs, or in fact any other farm animal.

Visited in Murray Sunday

Charles Ellington, only son of the late William Ellington, who was the first sheriff of Cass county, came down from his home in Omaha to attend the Rock Bluff reunion and picnic, he having been a student at the Rock Bluff school when that town was booming and the population attained its high mark of nearly a thousand people. He met and enjoyed visiting with many of the old time friends whom he had known intimately in days gone by. He also visited briefly in Murray, where he found many old acquaintances.

The Ellington family made their home in Rock Bluff two years, later moving to Iowa, where they resided for some time, and then returned to Nebraska, having made their home in this state for many years.

Visited Here from West

William Holmes, a former resident of this community and one of the early inhabitants of old Rock Bluff, going from there many years ago to locate at Beaver City, where he has since resided, attended the Rock Bluff reunion and picnic Sunday, being accompanied by his daughter, Helen Holmes, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Mayme Noell. this vicinity over the week end and enjoyed very much attending the reunion and meeting the friends of years gone by.

Young, and sister of Albert and Rex Young, the latter now a resident of Plattsouth.

Ray Frans and family, who made a very pleasant evening for the genial practitioner and also reminded him that he had fulfilled his service to mankind, the allotted three score and ten years, as mentioned in the Bible. Well done, Doctor, you have relieved much suffering in your time and added much to the happiness of mankind.

Enjoy Swimming Party.

The members of the Young Peoples Society of the Presbyterian church went to the swimming pool north of Nebraska City Thursday p. m., where they enjoyed another of their famous swimming parties and picnic suppers, this being given in honor of Messrs. Perry and Philip Jones of Burlington, N. C., who were guests of their cousin, Margaret Todd the past week, and was a huge success in every respect. About thirty members and their friends were present.

After the swim and the bountiful picnic supper the young folks motored on into Nebraska City where they attended a moving picture show, and pronounced it all together a most enjoyable evening.

Entertain Relatives.

Mrs. Catherine Perry and the C. D. Spangler family entertained relatives last week from Burlington, North Carolina, they being Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jones and sons, Perry and Philip. As North Carolina was the home of the Perry family many years ago, and they still have a large number of friends and relatives there (among them being the 95 year old sister of Grandmother Perry) the visit was greatly enjoyed.

The Jones family had been on a long automobile tour all through the southern states and up the Pacific coast visiting many interesting places en route before stopping at various places in Nebraska to visit with the relatives. Among the important places where they stopped and took in the sights were New Orleans, the expositions at Dallas and San Diego, Boulder Dam, Yellowstone park, Salt Lake City, as well as visiting with friends and relatives in many places, a number of days being spent with the W. W. Perry and S. G. Unland families in California. On Friday the tourists resumed their journey and on Monday of this week Mr. Philip Jones was united in marriage in Chicago, with a young lady of that city, who will accompany the family back to North Carolina after viewing other places of interest en route.

WPA May Provide Community with a Band

State Director Billy Meyers, in Charge of This Work, Visits in City Tuesday Afternoon.

The proposition that is offered under the WPA recreational program for bands and musical groups trained and paid for their services was discussed Tuesday afternoon by Billy Meyers of Omaha, state director of these activities with a number of local civic bodies.

This plan of providing employment has been very successful in many places and those who have been enrolled have been formed into bands and other musical groups that have been of the greatest benefit in the training of the members and in the furnishing of musical entertainment.

The members of the organization are taken from those who have been certified for employment on government works, selecting those who have had musical experience that they may wish to improve or musicians who are in need of the work afforded by this branch of the WPA. The various groups are provided with instructors who will see that they are given thorough instruction. The members of the group are to rehearse a certain number of hours each day and for which they are to be paid.

Persons who are not certified on the re-employment rolls, may play with the organization if they wish for the instruction, but will not be paid for their services.

The plan where tried has proven very successful, and Omaha has a band as well as a symphony orchestra that have been in training for several months, as well as other chorus and vocal groups.

Mr. Meyers was accompanied by Mr. Hill, district supervisor of the recreational program of the WPA, and was joined here by G. M. Corum, of Louisville, the county director of this program.

The band and musical organization work as was explained, is on a county wide plan and residents of all parts of the county are eligible to participate if they are qualified.

These groups that have already been trained in Omaha have been sent out on many dates over the state and which covers merely the cost of the transportation of the units and they provide fine musical entertainment for the various communities. It is proposed to have the Omaha band brought here for a concert if local civic bodies can arrange the necessary transportation.

Anyone who might be able to accommodate a girl is asked to call Phone 103, Mr. L. S. Devos.

They will remain there for some two weeks and expect to enjoy a splendid time.

While there she called on Joseph Burton, father of her husband, who is confined at home suffering from an injury sustained when he slipped and fell.

Has Some Good Corn

A. J. Ross, who knows the art of farming and is not afraid to do the necessary work, has something to show for his work. He planted corn at different times and while some of it was light, there was some that had a good stand. The right piece now gives promise of yielding, even with no more rain, some 15 bushels to the acre, and more if rain comes within a reasonable time.

Mrs. Walters in Serious Condition

Mrs. Henry W. Walters, wife of Dr. Walters, who was bitten last week by a black widow spider, which poisoned her seriously, was taken to the Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln for treatment. Her condition is very serious and her husband, Dr. Walters is remaining at her bedside. The many friends here are hoping she will overcome the poisonous infection and be restored to health.

Coming Along Fine Now

Walter J. Wunderlich, who was so seriously injured in an auto collision two weeks ago, and was taken to the Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln for treatment, returned home last Sunday and is feeling greatly improved, although he has two very pretty shiners. The severe cut on his leg is healing slowly, and still looks pretty tough, but no infection is expected and it will gradually mend. He has not seen the wrecked car in which he was injured and says he is not anxious to see it. Walt is well pleased that he was not more seriously injured in the collision.
