RIVERSIDE CLUB

The meeting of the Riverside club was held this week at the home of Mrs. Georgia Creamer and with Mrs. Homer Shrader assisting as hostess.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Joe Campbell, vice-president, who later turned the conduct of the club affairs over to Mrs. Fred Slagel, the president.

The members joined in singing two of the beloved old songs, "Rock of Ages" and "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp."

The club also discussed the plans for a float in the parade at the King Korn Carnival the latter part of September.

The club held the election of officers with Mrs. Robert Patterson as president; Mrs. Greeley Bell, vice-president; Miss Elsie Hoyt, secretary-treasurer; Miss Elsie Hoyt, Mrs. Georgia Creamer and Mrs. Frank Hull, project leaders; Mrs. Harold Hull, news reporter.

There was one new member received into the club, Mrs. Ben Hull.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Harold Sack and Miss Elsie Hoyt.

VISIT RELATIVES HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Muri Harpham, of Chicago, were here over the week-end as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lamphere, parents of Mrs. Harpham, as well as with friends.

ASSIGN PASTORS

The assignment of the United Brethren pastors for Nebraska for the ensuing year, was made at the close of the annual conference at Hastings Sunday.

The many friends here are pleased to learn that Rev. H. A. McKelvey, who has served for the past few years as the pastor at Mynard, has been again assigned to that church. The congregation as well as the citizens in general will be pleased to learn of the action of the conference and that the genial pastor will be here to serve in the spiritual training in the community.

The Nehawka church will have as their pastor for the next year, Rev. A. B. Small, who will take the place of Rev. Otto Engebretson, who has been assigned to the church at Miller.

New Teachers Find Locations in City Homes

Thirty-two Members of the School Faculty for 1936-37 Term— Many Home Teachers.

Teachers have found their homes for the 1936-37 term of school. A few have apartments but the majority have taken rooms in homes of the city.

Out-of-town members of the high school and junior high faculty will be at the following homes. Miss Florence Beighley will stay at the Glen Valley home. Misses Katherine Luke and Jeanne Ray are to be with Dr. and Mrs. Frank Cummins this winter. Miss Lois Brandhorst will stay with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rawls.

Men on the faculty experienced some difficulty in finding apartments for their families. Dow Armstrong and wife are located at the home of Dr. R. P. Westover. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Boggess will be with Fred Lugsch, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Knoll are temporarily located at the J. Howard Davis home. Mr. and Mrs. Milo Price have rooms at Elmer Webb's home. Lumir Gerner will be with J. R. Reeder, another of the high school faculty.

Home girls in this section of the faculty are Misses Estelle Baird, Pearl Staats, Clara Weyrich, Jessie Whalen, and Helene Perry.

Central Teachers Located.

Four teachers come from out-of-town to the Central school building. Misses Dorothy Glock and Selma Diehm will stay at the Elmer Sundstrom home this year. Miss Evelyn Lee returns to the Glen Valley home and Miss Helen Hall will be at the William Henriksen home.

Home girls in the Central grades are: Misses Marie Nolting, Agnes Muenster, Rose Prohaska, Helen Farley, and Amelia Martens.

Other Ward Teachers

Three teachers are in Columbian. Miss Bernice Wieland will stay at the Herold apartments. Miss Birdie Mae Johnson will be with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Giles, and Miss Margaret Iverson is a home teacher.

Miss Garnette Clair will stay at the John Albert home. Miss Margaret Bauer is a Plattsmouth girl.

Miss Yvonne King of First Ward stays at the L. D. Hiatt home and Mrs. Zella Trout, teaching in Mercerville, makes her home here.

D. A. R. DISCUSSES CONSTITUTION

"The Constitution of the United States" was the subject for the meeting of the D. A. R. yesterday at the home of Mrs. George Mann. This is constitution month so the topic was very fitting.

Mrs. Otto Keck gave a talk upon the constitution. Her report included the history and significance of the framing of the constitution. Some of the interesting facts brought out in the talk were: After the constitution was written and ready for reading, George Washington suggested only one change—the granting of more representation to the people. Prior to the drawing up of the constitution, under the Articles of Confederation, the country was in a state of chaos and bankruptcy. The dollar was worth only 2 1/2¢. All the citizens were in a state of despair. Less than four years after the adoption the country had established foreign credit. The dollar had rapidly increased in value and a period of prosperity had been established.

At the close of the talk, a summary was given of the benefits given by the constitution to the individual and several not granted by any other country in the world were mentioned.

Sturdy Stake Body on Ford V-8 Truck

THOUSANDS of Ford V-8 stake trucks like the unit shown above are serving businesses throughout the country. Mounted on a standard 157 inch chassis, the stake body provides a load space 142 inches long and 82 inches wide. Stakes sections are held together securely by inter-locking plates, and large name panels are provided on the front side sections. The full floating rear axle, heavy torque tube and radius rod assembly and deep rugged frame are important features of the sturdy V-8 truck chassis. Directed flow crankcase ventilation, dual carburetion, exhaust valve seat inserts, precision set valves, and mirror-finish cylinder walls are only a few of the engine features contributing to economy of operation. The stake body is also available for the 131 1/2-inch chassis.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ORDER

The spirit of the fall cleanup and making ready for the winter, is reflected in the redecoration and cleaning up of two local places of business in the past two days.

The barber shop of C. A. Rosenkrans in the Bates building on North Fifth street has just been treated to a thorough going over and is now one of the attractive places of business in that part of the city. The walls have been newly papered, the ceiling repainted and also the woodwork of the shop has been repainted and now makes a very snappy and attractive place.

The jewelry store of M. D. Brown in the Bekins building on North Sixth street also has been redecorated and furnishes a neat and comfortable store room for Mr. Brown as well as the offices of the Plattsmouth Loan & Building association which is also located there. The new paper and painting makes the place bright and attractive and is a much needed improvement.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, September 13th

By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

"The Council in Jerusalem"

Acts 15:22-29; Gal. 2:1, 2, 9, 10.

A crisis had developed in the young church, brought about by overzealous members of the Jewish Christians, who insisted that the converts from Gentiles must first become Jews, comply with the ceremonial law—proselytes—and then Christians. This was entirely contrary to precedent and God's direct revelation. (See Acts 10:15, 44).

Should the church survive and be a success then this matter must be, once and for all time, settled to the satisfaction of all concerned. There are some things that can never be tolerated unless the church loses its message and power. There are other things which we can easily allow and in which we can compromise without violating our conscience. From the study of this lesson, we should come to know what is important and can never be given up in the church and what is not so important and can readily be allowed. The time of this Council is 59 A. D. The Epistle to the Galatians was written about 57 A. D. The Council was held at Jerusalem; Galatians was written from Corinth. It was a wise move from the point of the leaders, to take the whole church into their confidence. Paul had been confirmed by the Lord, Jesus Christ, an apostle to the Gentiles, and given his message to them; that salvation was the free gift of God through faith in Jesus Christ, and the fruit of such acceptance of Christ would be shown in a holy life, whereby the Lord, Jesus Christ would be glorified and magnified. And God had approved of Paul's work, and put the stamp of his approval on his work. But Satan saw his kingdom slipping away, so he stirred up strife, dissension, but withal did not succeed in disturbing the church.

Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, Paul and Barnabas and "certain others" were sent to Jerusalem about this matter as described above. May we now look in at the most dignified body that ever assembled!

There are the Apostles, the Presbyters and Elders, James, not an apostle called to the chair. (It seems a preliminary meeting had preceded the council). The opposition stated their side. (See Acts 15:5). Now, the church is called together; after many remarks pro and con had been made, Peter takes the floor and states his experience, which was followed by a deep silence—then Paul got the floor and stated in his own convincing way what wonders and miracles

God had wrought among the Gentiles. That silenced the opposition.

Now the chairman sums up the case. He gave the most conservative of all the addresses that day. (See verses 13-21), conciliating both Jews and Gentiles, which pleased the entire church. The following resolution was then unanimously adopted and dispatched to the churches. May we stress in our teaching the declaration of these leaders when they say: "It seemed good to the Holy Spirit, and to us." Having first sought the approval of the Holy Spirit. If all our acts would meet and have the consent of God, how much friction would be avoided and how much better could we legislate for the church. It is remarkable that we find nine times the words, "of one accord" in the Acts, showing the church to be Christ-minded in its early years.

Fourteen years after his conversion Paul recounts his visit to Jerusalem to that first great council. Paul made five visits after his conversion to Jerusalem. Then he states that he went by "revelation." The council was God's plan, and he revealed it to Paul—in a vision? We do not know. When he arrived at Jerusalem, he was received by James, Peter and Paul, "pillars in the church." That would suggest the church to be an edifice, carried by pillars. So the church is regarded (2 Cor. 6:16; Rev. 3:12; Prov. 9:1). They supported and graced the Christian edifice—zealous, gifted, mighty and successful laborers.

It must not be overlooked how Paul rebuked Peter, who was charged with flagrant inconsistency and with glaring insincerity. He had forgotten his experience of years ago, on the housetop at Joppa, where God taught him not to regard unclean what God had cleansed. He had lived in free intercourse with Gentile believers; now he belies his own convictions.

For Peter now to demand that Gentile Christians should obey the Mosaic law was disloyalty to the Gospel of Christ. Undoubtedly Peter acknowledged his error. Impulsive Peter would be very sorry and humble. It was not an error of teaching, but of conduct and he was quite the man to confess his fault.

Once more Paul states the cardinal doctrine of all his preaching—justification by faith. Not by keeping the law is a man justified, but by faith in the everliving glorious Son of the living God. Would to God that this doctrine were more preached, for then we would have better and more loyal Christians.

"The Universal Car"

ONE NAME comes quickly to mind when you think of "The Universal Car." The description is distinctively Ford. No other car is used by so many millions of men and women in every part of the world. Everywhere it is the symbol of faithful service.
