News of the 4-H Clubs.

The first application for a 4-H club for the winter and spring of 1936-37 has been received from Miss Berdena Rosenow of Louisville. Miss Rosenow has organized a Keep-Well club with the 20 pupils of Dutch Academy school as members. In connection with their Keep-Well club they are studying good health habits, with particular emphasis on posture. Good food habits, care of the teeth, red blood and fresh air, the care of the body windows—feet and shoes, are other subjects which they will study. They enjoy doing the health exercises and are careful to observe good posture rules as they attend classes, sit at their desks or walk about.

Frances Rehmeier of Weeping Water has submitted the record of her 4-H activities since she first enrolled in a 4-H club in 1929, to be considered in the awarding of the President's Trophy, an award made annually to the 4-H club boy and girl in the United States who have the most outstanding record of achievements in 4-H. With the fine 4-H record which she has, Frances should go far in this contest.

Mary Fager, Ruth Schwartz, Cleo Bergman, George Oberle, and Warren Rikli, outstanding county members in Home Economics, cooking, baby beef, swine, and dairy projects, submitted their achievement records to the state 4-H club committee last week for consideration in the awarding of Chicago trips to state winners. We are hoping that some of them may be fortunate enough to win one of these trips and help represent Nebraska at the National 4-H Club Congress the first week in December.

Checks representing premiums won at county and state fair by Cass county 4-H club members, were mailed out last week to the club leaders, with the exception of those clubs whose final reports have not been turned in. Clubs whose final reports and leader's summaries have not been received will not be mailed their checks until the reports are filed in the county office. Many of the checks are for large amounts, but large or small, we know that the club members will be delighted to receive them.

Oscar Brandt, Robert Pollard and Merritt Pollard are busy these days doing practice judging in preparation for the national livestock judging contest in Chicago the first week in December, where they will be Nebraska's representatives. They enjoyed a good workout at the College of Agriculture Saturday.

Sargo Makes Large Yield.

Oscar Domingo of Weeping Water has just finished cutting his field of twenty acres of Atlas Sargo. He says it made over 262 tons. Corn in the same community did well to make three ton per acre.

This is certainly evidence that Atlas is one crop that defies the drouth and will insure farms a feed supply. Every Cass county farmer that has a silo could insure himself a feed supply by planting a field of Atlas.

Seed Corn Situation.

The results of an incomplete seed corn survey being made in the eastern part of the county shows that there is better than five thousand bushel of 1936 seed corn available. If more farmers that have a surplus of seed corn will return the questionnaire, a source of supply list can be made available to the buyers.

Nebraska is one of but very few states that has no bonded indebtedness.

Our temptingly light rolls give that happy variety and zest to meals that make the home-maker's tasks so much easier. Serve them often. They cost so little and are so wholesome and delightfully appetizing.

Work Starts on Road.

The WPA project which has been under discussion for some time has finally gotten under way and the road east from Nehawka is being put in condition for the spreading of the stone ballast or hard surfacing which is to be placed. The road which was expected to run east to the north and south road which leads on to Union has been changed at the last and will run east to cross the creek east of James Chappels when it will be turned north to the corner near the Opp place where the old house stands, thence east to the north and south road. When the roadway has been put in condition the stone surfacing will be applied. The county crusher has been brought here for the work of crushing the stone.

Henry Feltes Dies.

Henry Feltes, 61 years of age and having resided in Nehawka for many years, a painter by trade, has during the past few years been in very poor health and feeble, not able to work, was receiving a blind pension of $15 on which he was living. However he had very poor eyesight and so he got along on as small amount as possible so as to get a pair of glasses which would enable him to read. He went to the University hospital at Omaha where he was able to secure the glasses but this left him but little to live on. He would go to the Missouri Pacific waiting room during the cooler nights and spend the nights there, coming to the stores early in the morning to get warm. He was very bad and it was thought to take him to an hospital and the intention was to take him last Saturday, but he died Friday and the body was taken to Plattsmouth by the Streight funeral home where he was buried in Oak Hill cemetery west of the city. He had a sister and a number of brothers, but the people here could not get in touch with any of the relatives. Another old resident is thus removed.

Olie Has a Problem.

To properly care for the trade which comes to his filling station, O. Lumberg has paved the street in front of his place of business so that he can serve his clients, and it has been the practice of many people to park directly in front of his gas pump. Mr. Lumberg has repeatedly asked the people not to park in front of the gas pumps but they persist in doing so. So on Monday of this week he painted a sign there "No

CONGRESSMAN RANKIN HITS AT NEW DEAL FOES

gress and a strong advocate of the TVA program.

Mr. Rankin in his opening paid high compliment to Congressman Luckey for his work in congress, Governor R. L. Cochran for his fine state administration, and to Senator George W. Norris, who was titled by the speaker, "the greatest friend that the common people of the United States had in congress."

Mr. Rankin took up the political situation of the nation in 1921 when the administration of Harding came to office with unrestricted power, the building up of the tariff policy and the financial manipulation of the country by Andrew Mellon and Ogden Mills that had eventually led to the disaster that came later. The policy pursued in 1926 cut the circulating volume of the money of the nation from a per capita of $34 to a pre-war per capita of $14 and which had broke the farmer, the small business man and stated the march to disaster that culminated in the dire days of the Hoover regime. The speaker told his audience that he had heard the testimony that many of the large banking and financial heads had not paid income tax for several years. The congress and president had closed that loophole and the next year they would have to pay their just proportion of the tax. The ranks of the Liberty League were recruited from those who had been touched on the tax evasions and also hit by the plans to tax undistributed profits. The election, Mr. Rankin pointed out, was the most important since the civil war for the common people against the great vested interests, who now hate the president.

The speaker told of the steps that the administration had taken to remove the control of the gold of the nation from private hands and to increase the per capita of money by the devaluation of the gold dollar, which had worked successfully and checked the former control of the great financial interests over the money of the country. It was to prevent the attempt to break down the financial policies of the nation that congress had voted the president the temporary right to issue $6,000,000 in additional currency if necessary while congress was not in session.

Mr. Rankin took up the story of the tragedy of the Hoover administration and stressed the fact that those now battling for the republican national ticket were the same that had ruled the nation in the days of 1929-1933, who were again striving to gain power.

The speaker urged that President Roosevelt be sustained and that Senator Norris and Congressman Luckey also be returned to aid in the work of completing the Roosevelt program.

Mr. Rankin in his plea for the return of Senator Norris to the senate, gave a very thorough review of the TVA hydro-electric power proposition, citing price of current from this as well as other power projects.

Mr. Rankin is one of the able speakers of congress and his rapier like thrusts at the former administrations and the foes of Roosevelt enlivened the address as did the many stories that were given during the address.

CLUB LADIES ENTERTAINED

An interesting meeting of the Merry Workers club, was held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Leonard, Tuesday, Oct. 13.

The majority of the members were present to enjoy the covered dish luncheon served at noon. After this Mrs. A. W. Leonard, president, assisted by Mrs. George Topfiff, social leader and Mrs. C. D. Geary, secretary, gave the lesson on "The Important Job of Homemaking."

Truly—if every woman of our day took these given helps to heart—we'd have many more happy homes and people in our land.

"Yes, that is true and something more;

You'll find wherever you roam,
That marble floors and glazed walls
Can never make a home.

"But every home where love abides
And Friendship is a guest
Is surely home, and home sweet home,
For there the heart can rest."

The next meeting will be held Nov. 17 at the home of Mrs. R. G. Kiser. Everyone who cares to come is welcome and we are to learn some helps to beautify this home. Covered dish luncheon is served at the noon hour. You are invited.

ELMWOOD M. E. CHURCH

Sermon subject for Sunday morning is: "Detours." It is the story of one of the greatest romances in history.

Sunday is Rally Day. We are working for 200 in Sunday school. Last Sunday the attendance reached 161 in Sunday school and 141 in church. The Epworth League attendance was 34. The candle lighting service was fine and ten new members were admitted into membership.

The Ladies Aid society has 100 members. The officers are: Mrs. H. Penterman, president; Mrs. G. R. Eveland, vice president; Mrs. G. G. Douglas, secretary; Mrs. Harry Linder, treasurer. The society met for the first business meeting of the year and voted to pay the first hundred dollars they make on the note. The treasurer has $50 now and will have the balance after the bazaar Saturday, Dec. 12.

We seem to be short of the Cokesbury hymnals at the church. As our crowds increase we need these books very much. They must be in the homes. If, so please, bring them back to the church next Sunday.

We were glad to notice the visitors in church last Sunday. A father, mother and daughter paused at the door and said, "We enjoyed the service very much." They were asked if they were visiting someone in Elmwood and they said, "No, we are traveling, but we always stop for church."

We saw some folks go home from church, get their lunch basket, get into their family car and off they went for a good time. I am sure they had a good time because they had put the church services first, in the day's program.

The Jr. Queen Esther Society is to meet Saturday, Oct. 24, at the home of Mrs. Herbert Olson. Meet at 1:30 at the home of Darlene Hollenbeck for transportation. All girls in the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th grades are welcome.
