City Council Has Busy Time at Session

day drinking in booths and became very intoxicated and then came out on the streets.

Mayor Lushinsky stated that it was necessary to secure definite proof of law violations to secure the removal of a license.

Councilman Bestor stated that under the state law the outside places had to have the same closing hours as that of the nearest incorporated town or city. He also stated that drinking in cars or spiking beer was contrary to the state law. If a license or two was revoked it would set an object lesson to all of the dealers.

The motion to prepare a closing hour amendment was defeated however by a 6 to 4 vote, Bestor, Tippens, Hall and Brittain for the closing hour ordinance and Webb, Rebal, Puls, Johnson, Schutz and Vroman voting no.

Considerable discussion was had over the claim of John Bauer for $16.87 for repairs on one of the old trucks that had been bought a year ago for WPA work on Sixth street. The truck had been borrowed for use in the cemetery and it was claimed had been put out of commission. The truck was driven by a member of the city force and the dispute was over whether or not the proper driver had been used. Councilman Bestor, who had objected to the allowing of the claim, stated that the three men that he had recommended as truck drivers were well acquainted with the truck and able to handle them better than someone that was unused to these old trucks.

Councilman Tippens failed to see why a man that could drive a car could not drive a truck.

The matter was settled by the motion of Hall that the amount of $16.87 be paid out of the general fund as it would have to be paid by some part of the city government. This was carried with Councilman Bestor voting no.

Dinner Honors Ninetieth Year of Pioneer Lady

Mrs. Catherine Perry Celebrates Her Birthday at the Home of Her Daughter in Elmwood.

Mrs. Catherine Perry was honored at a dinner celebrating her ninetyeth birthday Sunday. The party was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Cook at Elmwood, with whom Mrs. Perry is making her home this winter. Forty guests were present, including children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Many friends remembered Mrs. Perry with letters, cards, and gifts, among which was a large turkey sent by her son, Verner Perry of Big Springs, Nebr. It was enjoyed as a part of the birthday feast.

Program During Afternoon
For the enjoyment of Grandmother Perry during the afternoon the young folks sang the Christmas carols and a number of the old loved hymns. While in fair health for one of her years, Mrs. Perry is not able to attend church services regularly. However she enjoys the songs and sermons she hears by radio.

Mrs. Perry has a very interesting life history. She was born near Pittsboro in Chatham county, North Carolina, on December 13, 1846. Her home was Methodist and she has remained active in the church. She is a member of the Methodist church in Plattsmouth at the present time.

Tells of Early Days
She tells many interesting stories of her early days in North Carolina. Her school days, the families' methods of working, modes of travel, homes with their split rail fences, dresses—all so different from those of today prove fascinating subjects. She is also able to tell of the hardships caused by the Civil war when the confederate money was of little value and a calico dress cost $70. A pair of shoes would cost $70. The ladies spun and wove their own breads and blankets as well as other materials. They made candles for lights.

In 1863, Mrs. Perry's father, Anderson Thompson Glenn, died. Two years later her mother, Susan Richardson Glenn, also left. Catherine was married to Peter Perry in 1865. They lived in North Carolina until 1877 when they came to Nebraska and settled on a farm at the then thriving village of Eight Mile Grove. Their family of 5 boys and 6 girls were educated and grew to manhood and womanhood in this community.

Mr. Perry died in 1911 and since then one daughter, Mrs. Etta Barker of Plattsmouth, and two sons, Glenn of Plattsmouth and John of Long Beach, Calif., have also passed on.

Has Sister 95 Years of Age.
Grandmother Perry, as she is familiarly called by many friends, now has eight living children, 26 grandchildren, and 39 great grandchildren. She also has a sister in North Carolina who is 95 years of age.

During the World war Mrs. Perry was active in Red Cross work and knit 6 sweaters and 52 pairs of socks for the boys in the army. She had two grandsons in the army, one of whom went overseas.

Mrs. Perry has traveled quite extensively, having been in 26 states, Canada and Mexico. She has visited her old home in North Carolina twice since leaving there. She has spent several winters in California with members of her family who have made their homes there.

Retires from Farm
As she advanced in years and was no longer able to live on the farm alone she sold the farm in 1929. Since that time she makes her home with her sons and daughters. She enjoys visiting others and having friends and relatives visit with her. She is still quite active and wants to keep busy so spends many hours piecing quilt blocks, reading, and writing letters. She keeps posted on the events of the day.

Mrs. Perry has had many wonderful experiences during her ninety years. She has seen many changes and improvements as well as many wonderful inventions. She has seen the transition from log houses to modern homes, from candle to electricity, from ox teams to aeroplanes, from the single cultivator to tractors, from cradles for mowing grain to combines, from the early inadequate schools to the high schools, colleges and universities of today. She enjoys recalling the good times of her young days, the parties, husking bees, quiltings, camp meetings and the hospitality of the people of the south.

May she continue in good health and enjoy many more birthdays in the wish of her host of friends.

FEELS APPRECIATION
One of the members of the committee that arranged and carried out the Golden Wedding feature of the King Korn Karnival has received the following very much appreciated expression of one of the fine couples that were here for that occasion:

"Don't know just where to send it to. We highly appreciate the kindly manner in which we were entertained at the Kass Kounty King Korn Karnival in Plattsmouth at the gathering honoring those who had been married for fifty years or more. We desire to express our thanks to the people of Plattsmouth, to the committee in charge, to the ladies who prepared and served the delightful supper, and for the picture which was taken of the group and presented to us with the kind wishes of the friends in Plattsmouth. Will you please pass on our appreciation to all those who had charge of it. We enjoyed it very much. Yours, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Wehrmann, Murdock, Nebr."

HAS SERIOUS OPERATION
Mrs. Everett Noble, formerly of this city, underwent a major operation Monday at the Immanuel hospital at Omaha. Mrs. Noble is reported as doing as well as could be expected in the short time following the operation. The many friends here will join in their hope that she may have a speedy recovery.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, December 20th By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

"The Supreme Law of Love" I John 4:7-19.

In our Christmas meditations, all our thinking centers in the "Babe of Bethlehem," which is all proper and logically correct; but when we look for a reason or motive for this extraordinary event, then the spirit of man has to search out "the deep things of God." (I Cor. 2:10). And that leads him to the foundation of all wisdom and that is God. God is love and Love found a way to redeem man, who was lost, in trespass and sin, without any exception "they are all under sin." (Rom. 3:9, 10; Ps. 14:3). So here comes John the "beloved" Apostle of Love, who seems to have drunk deeper of the fountain of Love, than any other living man; deeper than Paul, who gave us the matchless "hymn of Love," I Cor. 13. Yes, John goes back to the beginning (John 1:1) and in his Epistles it's the same, (I John 1:1), "That which was from the beginning . . . the life was manifested and we have seen it and bear witness. It is John who tells us that "God is light," "God is Love" and "God is Life." I John 1:5; 4:8; 5:11). Now we have the motive for our Christmas meditation and thinking: "God so loved the world . . ."

Love must manifest itself; it must have a subject to love, in this case it is man. The intensity of God's love to man is shown in that "he gave his only begotten Son" as a propitiation for a lost race—his enemies—sinners, aliens, strangers, all hopelessly lost. (See Eph. 2:1-19).

We study today the character of God, and the innermost experience of our hearts. The hardest and deepest lesson of the Year—yes of all the years and "who is sufficient for these things?" (II Cor. 2:16). But John in our lesson lifts the veil, opens the door, and lets the light shine in. The entire lesson deals with believers; only they can understand; "the natural man receiveth not the things of the spirit of God, for they are foolishness unto him, neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned." (I Cor., 2:14).

The word or term, Love, beloved, occurs twenty times in our lesson. One of the words for love used in the New Testament is that of mere human affection, although it is used also when God is spoken of as being a friend of man. The other word speaks of a more utterly unselfish affection, a love which is seen in all its fullness in God himself and which was manifested in our Lord, Jesus Christ, when here below; it is this love John has in mind when he says, "Beloveth, let us love one another." All love is of God; a true child of God is begotten of him, is a partaker of God's nature, is one of his children. If we are children of God, partakers of his nature, and God is love, it is inevitable that we shall love one another.

"God is Love." In three three words we have one of the most tremendous statements in the Bible. It is the Bible in miniature. Here is all we want. These are the words out of which all the other words come. This is the commentator of the whole scripture. The greatness of God's love is seen in that he loved us—so much, so intense, that he would give up the greatest treasure that he possessed—his only Son—to save man from destruction; to pay for our redemption the ransom demanded by law. It cost God a great price to save man (see I Pet. 1:18, 19; I Cor. 6:19, 20); now man is not his own master, to do as he pleases; he belongs to him who bought him—but with this difference so beautifully expressed by Paul to his friend Philemon (verse 16), "Not a servant, but above a servant, a brother," and our Lord has another word just as tender and beautiful: "Ye are my friends." (John 15:14). Having acknowledged that God is love and having partaken of His nature, man can do no other than to love his fellow creatures—otherwise he becomes a liar. (I John 4:20). A very illuminating statement follows (Chapt. 3:9, 10) which leaves no doubt of how God classifies such people. Our confession of Jesus Christ is very important. It is more than just to say: "I believe on the Lord Jesus Christ as my personal saviour." That is often only repeated after some "worker" has laid it into the mouth of some "seeker" at the altar, and then the "seeker" is made to believe that he or she is saved.

That is a calamity—it is tragic—it is deceit of the worst kind. No one need to tell a soul that he has "passed from death unto life" who, having been blind, now sees—for when God's spirit fills the soul, that person will not only know they have been abundantly saved but can sing with great fervor that old and familiar hymn:

"What a wonderful change in my life has been wrought
Since Jesus came into my heart—
I have light in my soul for which long I have sought
Since Jesus came into my heart—
Floods of joy o'er my soul
Like the sea billows roll
Since Jesus came into my heart!"

Thousands of "converts" of today have no experience such as described above. Poor, deluded souls! Who is to blame for their miserable religion? We love, because he first loved us. We do not guess at this; John says "we know" thirty-two times in this Epistle, and we KNOW it too. Praise the Lord!
