Mrs. F. E. White Dies at Home in Los Angeles

Pioneer Resident of Plattsmouth Succumbs at 80—Daughter of Late Jacob Vallery, Jr.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Mrs. Francis E. White, 80, died at her home in Los Angeles, Calif., yesterday noon after a long illness. She was the eldest daughter of the late Jacob Vallery, Jr. of this city, and a resident here until moving to Omaha in 1903.

Charlotte Vallery was born August 6, 1856 at Plattsmouth. She grew to womanhood in this community and on May 27, 1875 was married to Francis E. White of Plattsmouth. Mr. White was grand secretary to the Masons in Nebraska from 1903 to 1925 and the couple was very active in the community life.

In 1905 Mr. and Mrs. White moved to Omaha and ten years ago they went to make their home in Los Angeles, Calif. Mrs. White had been ill for some time before her death.

She leaves her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Haller and Miss Bertha White, and one son, Vallery White, all of Los Angeles, also a son, Robert White, of New York City. Two sisters, Mrs. Kate Minor of Los Angeles and Mrs. E. T. Dutcher of Warrensburg, Mo., and two brothers, Charles Vallery of St. Joe, Mo., and Louis Vallery of Los Angeles, also survive.

Among the relatives in this community who mourn the death are two sisters-in-law, Mrs. V. V. Leonard and Mrs. Walter White, and two brothers-in-law, Dr. T. P. Livingston and W. J. Streight.

Services and burial were held in Los Angeles.

HAVE A SPIRITED DEBATE

From Tuesday's Daily—

The Rotarians at their luncheon today had a very interesting and up to the minute subject to command their attention, the question "Should the Game of Bridge Be Abolished?" Superintendent L. S. Devoe took the side of the champions of the game of bridge and extolled its benefits and the interest that it created, while Mr. Rea brought forth the arguments against the game. The debate was one that kept the members in an uproar of laughter as the speakers scored the points for their respective arguments.

The debate was one that followed the recent article in the Rotarian of bridge, both from the pro and con side of the case.

"John's Recollections of the Risen Lord"

John 20:19-29; 21:20-24.

The curtain went down on April 7 A. D. on the greatest drama the world ever witnessed; it ended in a tragedy. There was consternation among his followers. "We trusted that it had been he which should redeem Israel." (Luke 24:21). All hope is gone. A deep gloom had settled on the disciples. Forgotten all the promises of Jesus' resurrection; not so his murderers! They were very uneasy, and to prevent any deception by the disciples, they came to Pilate saying, "We remember that this deceiver said . . . after three days I will arise." (Matt. 27:63).

Well, John had not forgotten, but busy in making Mother Mary comfortable, the intervals passed quickly—there is another curtain rise—April 9, before sunrise, there is an earthquake. (Matt. 27:52). An angel rolls the stone from the sepulchre—the sun rises—the guards had fled and made their report. (Matt. 28:11). Mary Magdalene is the first to see the risen Lord. Woman becomes the first missionary. "Go tell my brethren the glorious news. Jesus lives!" (John 20:17).

We behold the empty tomb. We see the grave clothes not disturbed—the body of Jesus had passed thru them, as he did through doors that were locked. Peter and John examined the tomb closely (See John 20:5-8). John "looked in;" Peter "went into the sepulcher;" then John went in "and believed."

It is significant that all of the Gospels are silent as to when Christ actually came forth from the tomb. No one saw him rising from the dead. The empty tomb has never been questioned by either friend or foe. That it was the same tomb in which the body of Christ was placed, was never questioned, because there was only one tomb in the garden as far as known. We pass up the story of the soldier guard.

John recorded some appearances of Jesus that are very precious to us, he being a witness to them. On the evening of the first resurrection day, Jesus met with ten of his disciples—having been seen by Mary Magdalene, Peter and two on the way to Emmaus. What joy there was in the upper room is indescribable; "then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord." (John 20:20). Was it the same body that was buried? Will we arise with the same body that we had here? Yes—the same. The nailprints are there, the open wound in the side, but glorified and spiritualized. So we shall know each other.

Thomas missed the first meeting, but he was there the next time. His doubts are dispelled. He makes a greater confession than any of the other disciples. Thomas did not need the scientific procedure, i. e. testing the resurrection by the senses of sight and touch. He believed at once. The greatest doubt, attains to the fullest and firmest belief; his belief is a momentous doctrine—the divinity of Christ. Faith is the opposite of sight, because it asserts what is not seen. Faith now comes by hearing. (Rom. 10:17). Millions today have not seen the Lord Jesus, yet believing in him, they rejoice greatly with joy unspeakable and full of glory. (1 Pet. 1:8).

At the first appearance to the ten, Jesus breathed on them and said: "Receive ye the Holy Spirit." This is, of course, a prophetic breathing, symbolic and suggestive. They did not receive the Holy Spirit then. In the course of these days, he told them to wait until they received the Spirit. (Acts 1:4).

A question of much controversy is here injected, about men forgiving sins. May we state here that this prerogative belongs to God only. (See Isa. 43:25; Dan. 9:9; Mark 2:7). Sin is the transgression of the law. (1 John 3:4).

Sins against the law of God, He alone can forgive. When Jesus says, "Whosoever sins ye forgive, they are forgiven unto them; and whose soever sins ye retain, they are retained." (20:23)—this scripture should be coupled with Matt. 16:19, where the office of the Keys is referred to. This office Peter shared with all the apostles, but he opened the Kingdom to the Jews on Pentecost at Jerusalem, and to the Gentiles, at Caesarea. Here we adopt the interpretation of Dummelow on Bible Commentary, p. 682, which says: "The power of the Keys is (1) the power to govern the church; (2) the power to exercise discipline in it; (3) the power to decide who shall be admitted into it and on what conditions (subject, of course, to the law of Christ)."

The best New Testament parallel is Rev. 3:7. The breakfast by the Sea of Galilee is a specially beautiful scene. Seven disciples with Jesus at the table, and the full restoration of Peter into Apostleship. His ardent confession of his love to Christ is equal to his vehement denial. "He restoreth my soul" is his song.

That all the foregoing is an absolute true story, because the witness who wrote it says it's true, is John the "beloved;" he was there and lived a long while after and saw the outcome of it all.

Funeral of S. D. Fitchhorn is Held Here Yesterday

Long Time Resident of Community Laid to Rest in Horning Cemetery South of City.

From Monday's Daily—

The funeral services of the late S. D. Fitchhorn, Cass county pioneer, was held on Sunday afternoon at the Horton funeral home and very largely attended by the old friends and neighbors in the community where Mr. Fitchhorn had long made his home.

Dr. H. G. McClusky of the First Presbyterian church conducted the religious services at the funeral home.

During the services Frank A. Cloutier gave three numbers requested by the members of the family, "Asleep in Jesus," "Rock of Ages" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

The body was laid to the last rest in the Horning cemetery south of this city beside the wife who preceded him in death many years ago.

Obituary

Samuel Dickson Fitchhorn, son of Samuel and Elizabeth Fitchhorn, was born February 23, 1857, and departed this life at the family home south of this city, March 19, 1937.

Mr. Fitchhorn was married in 1883 at Goodland, Kansas, to Minnie McMillen, who preceded him in death. The family resided on a farm near Pacific Junction, Iowa, for a number of years and in 1911 they moved to Cass county to locate on the farm that has since remained in the family.

To Mr. and Mrs. Fitchhorn eight children were born, three sons preceding the father in death. The surviving children are Mrs. Katie Haworth of Omaha, Mrs. Virginia McCarroll, of Plattsmouth, Ira and Elmer Fitchhorn of this city and Jesse Fitchhorn of Moorcroft, Wyoming. There are also fourteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren as well as one brother, D. W. Fitchhorn of Williams, Iowa, to mourn his loss.

POSTPONE HEARING

From Monday's Daily—

A motion for a continuance in the case of the State of Nebraska vs. Fred Gauchat, was filed today by the attorneys of the defense, Jessen & Dieks of Nebraska City and Lee Kellogg of Auburn.

This case is one in which the defendant is charged with reckless driving and grows out of an accident near Union in Cass county and in which a highway worker named Raines was injured.

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Henry Timm, who has been at Omaha undergoing treatment for an attack of ulcers of the stomach, has so far recovered that he was able to return home Sunday evening. Mr. Timm will have to remain at home for some time however before he can resume his usual activities.

VISIT IN WEEPING WATER

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson of Arriba, Colo., arrived this week-end in Weeping Water to help celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Johnson's father, Peter H. Miller. They will visit old friends the early part of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are former residents of the Weeping Water community.

Mrs. Roy Bines, who has been at an Omaha hospital for some time, where she was being treated for pneumonia, is reported as improving very nicely and was able to leave the hospital a few days ago. She is quite weak from the long ordeal and will need a prolonged rest, before she recovers her strength and is entirely well again.

Will Make Home in Plattsmouth

Mr. A. P. Christwiser, who came here to attend the funeral of his wife, who died some ten days ago, later left for Bennett, Colorado, at which place he expected to spend some time and later return to Plattsmouth to make his home with his mother, Mrs. Martha Christwiser.

Iron Market Skittish

George Lopp was in Omaha last Monday with a load of scrap iron, which he was disposing of. The sale of scrap iron has become a profitable business of late, but Omaha dealers were predicting lower prices as a result of talk of placing an embargo on shipment of iron to foreign countries. Many trainloads have been assembled at eastern seaboard cities during the past few weeks as impending war in Europe seems more and more certain.

Revival Meetings.

A series of revival meetings will begin at the Murray Christian church on Easter Sunday, March 28.

Tod V. Hubbel, pastor of the Christian church of Auburn, Nebraska, will be the evangelist.

REV. T. V. HUBBELL

You are invited to attend all of these services. The service will begin each evening at 7:45.

Don't miss a one of these inspiring, fresh and meaty sermons.

Hear Hubbel. You'll be surprised.

Gave Recital Monday Night

Last Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boedeker and Mrs. Catherine Clow Gearson of Omaha, who was formerly the musical instructor for Miss Jane Boedeker, departed for Fulton, Mo., where Miss Jane Boedeker, who is a student at the William Woods school, was scheduled to have a prominent part in a school music recital, which was held Monday evening. The party are remaining until Wednesday, and on their return will be accompanied by Miss Jane, who will spend the Easter vacation at the home of her parents here.

Miss Jane has not been home since the Christmas vacation and is anticipating a most enjoyable visit with the parents and other relatives and friends here.

Visited Relatives in Murray

Representative and Mrs. A. K. Johnson, of Hutchinson, Kansas, visited in Murray over the week end at the J. A. Davis home. Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Davis are brother and sister. The visitors left Sunday evening for Topeka, where Mr. Johnson was to resume his work as a member of the Kansas legislature.

Many Dogs Poisoned in Murray

For some cause not written in the record a number of the dogs in and about Murray got hold of a quantity of poison, some of them dying and others being saved. The dog of W. G. Boedeker, which got some of the poison, was hurried to Omaha to a dog physician and specialist and his life saved.

It is a bad practice to put out poison, for a good dog can get it as well as the bad one. No one should resort to this method of ridding the town of dogs or for revenge because they may not like the owner of a certain canine.

Spent Fortnight Here

During the past two weeks, Mrs. Lois Bestor, wife of Robert Bestor, of Mitchell, South Dakota, has been visiting in Cass county, spending a goodly portion of the time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Troop. Last Saturday, Mr. Bestor, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Shall of Mitchell on an auto trip to Cass county, all being guests at the Troop home for a short time, and on their return were accompanied by Mrs. Bestor, who had spent a most enjoyable fortnight here. On Sunday the young folks were all dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wehrlein, just prior to starting back to their home in the Corn Palace city of South Dakota.

Gave Excellent Program

Pupils of the Murray high school gave a very fine entertainment last Saturday night in the form of a two act play, which was filled with pathos, wit and humor. A good crowd attended, showing their appreciation and interest by unstinted applause. Following this, there was given a pantomime of the Major Bowes hour which is heard each week over the radio and this brought forth uproarious laughter. The students put in much time rehearsing for the different acts that made up the program, and are entitled to credit for the credible manner in which they performed.

Visited at Auburn

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brubacher and daughter, Beverly Anne, were guests last Sunday at the home of the parents of Mrs. Brubacher, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lash, of Auburn, spending a most enjoyable day there. Eupt. and Mrs. Leo M. Hauptman, of Alvo, were also guests at the Lash home that day. Mrs. Hauptman being another daughter of this Nemaha county couple. Mrs. Hauptman, who has been seriously ill at their home in Alvo for the past two months, will remain at the home of the parents for some time, until she regains her strength and former good health. Mr. Hauptman returned to Alvo to resume his school work on Monday morning.

Found Plenty of Snow

Mr. and Mrs. Will L. Seybolt went to Lincoln last week, where they spent three days, during which time Mr. Seybolt attended a Scottish Rite Masonic convolve and Mrs. Seybolt enjoyed a fine visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Brandel. They were there when John Noddleman, Sr., was suddenly taken ill and hurried to the hospital, where he underwent an operation for relief from appendicitis and is doing very nicely now. They attempted to get word to his father, John Noddleman, Sr., but he was out on an island in the river and could not be reached until the following morning, when he hastened to Lincoln, to learn that the son had come through the ordeal in fine shape.

When Mr. and Mrs. Seybolt came home they found an abundance of snow piled up from Friday night's snow storm and while following a snow plow had to wait while the snow plow was gotten out of the deep snow, where it was stuck. However, they arrived home Saturday night.
