F. has been arranged to be held in Weeping Water on April 21st and will consist of delegates from four lodges, Weeping Water, Elmwood, Nehawka and Avoca. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion and a banquet at the close, served by the Rebekahs.

Nasbys In Convention.

Weeping Water and her postmaster and assistant were hosts to the members of the postal profession throughout the county on last Monday.

The Nasbys have an organization known as County Service Council. The meeting was called for the American Legion hall and Postmaster F. L. Cummins of Plattsmouth was selected as the chairman for the evening. The convention was greeted and welcomed by Mayor Oscar C. Hinds, extending the liberty of the city to the visiting delegates.

After the welcome address of the mayor, the assemblage settled down to business, that occupied some time, when a recess was called. Other business out of the way the officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Postmaster Beach of Eagle, Rural Carrier Taylor of Manley, vice president; Mrs. Helen Schneider, postmistress of Elmwood, secretary-treasurer. Plattsmouth was selected as the next meeting place, which is expected to be in July. Then came the banquet, served by the Clara Johnson cafe in the hall. Thirty-five were present and all expressed their pleasure in this their first meeting.

HOW LONG CAN A THREE-QUARTER WIFE HOLD HER HUSBAND?

YOU have to work at marriage to make a success of it. Men may be selfish, ungrateful, but that's the way they're made and you might as well realize it. When your back aches and your nerves scream, don't take it out on your husband. He can't possibly know how you feel. For three generations one woman has told another how to "smile through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three or four years of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

CHAPTER VI

John relaxed comfortably in his easy chair. From the opposite side of the room all Mary could see was the front and back pages of the evening paper above which whirled eddies of tobacco smoke and below which protruded two long legs encased in slippers.

The evening dishes were washed, little Jack was tucked away for the night and Mary wanted a little attention. Presently she stole softly across the living room floor and pushing the paper aside, crawled into John's lap.

"I love you, dear," she said. No response. "I love you, dear," she repeated. "I love you too," said John. "But—" "But what?" asked Mary. "But I'm reading the paper right now." Mary sat still and John continued to finish his news. In the meantime Mary busied herself with scrutinizing his face and hair.

When he had completed his reading, Mary said "you need a hair cut; you look like a wolf." "Not a big, bad wolf, I hope," said John. "No," replied Mary, "just a shaggy, careless wolf. And another thing: I've been wanting to speak to you about this for some time. When did you last visit your dentist?"

"Why bring that up?" said John. "Your teeth are almost as brown as your suit," replied Mary. "I can't tell where your pipe stops and your teeth begin. A man in your position shouldn't be so careless. When did you see Dr. Young?" "Six months ago," said John. "That would be in August," said Mary. "We spent the whole month of August on your mother's farm." "Well, then, seven months ago," said John. "That would be in July," said Mary. "The first half of July you were east on a buying trip. The last half of the month you were working your head off preparing for your vacation. Do you want me to tell you how long it actually has been since you had your teeth looked at? It has been over a year."

"Oh, no," said John. "I know it hasn't been that long." "Yes, it has," replied Mary. "I asked Dr. Young to-day and he looked up your record card. It has been almost fourteen months. No wonder your teeth are stained. Today was my first chance to have my mouth examined since baby was born."

"Find anything?" asked John. "No," answered Mary. "Dr. Young cleaned them but found no cavities. My mouth is in good shape. Now yours must be the same way. Remember you must set an example for your son."

So John went to see the dentist. Dr. Young cleaned his teeth thoroughly. With his hand instruments he removed all the calcareous deposits from about the necks of his teeth, and then he brushed and polished them until the last of the stains were removed.

"Gee," said John, "don't tell me that is food that you are scraping off my teeth." "No," replied Dr. Young, "not entirely, although there are some food particles in it. We call this substance calcareous deposits. The common name is tartar. It is made up mostly of lime salts deposited upon the teeth from the saliva. Naturally, some food becomes mixed with these deposits and clings to the teeth."

"Saliva is manufactured from three sets of glands—the sublingual, submaxillary and parotid. The parotid gland is the one that swells up when you get the mumps. It empties its saliva into the mouth through an opening near the upper incisors. "The submaxillary and sublingual glands empty their saliva into the mouth under the tongue. That is why most tartar is found on the inside surfaces of the lower incisors or front teeth and the cheek surfaces of the molar teeth."

"Tartar is harmful. Its sharp edges break the gum tissue and cause it to bleed. In time it may push the gums away from the roots of the teeth and cause them to become loose in their sockets. If tartar deposits are not removed they may cause pyorrhea. You are fortunate because you have good teeth. You won't be

Pope Honors Him

Pope Pius XI has designated John C. Kelly a Knight of St. Gregory the Great. Mr. Kelly, a native of Albany, N. Y., is president of the New York advertising firm of Kelly, Nason and Winsten. He was presented with the honor by Patrick Cardinal Hayes, following transmission of the message of the appointment from the Papal Secretary of State, Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli.

troubled with decay, but unless you have them cleaned more often your gums may become sore and as you grow older pyorrhea may set in. "What about smoking?" asked John. "Does that hurt the teeth?" "No," replied Dr. Young, "except that it stains them and makes them unattractive. Heavy smokers must have their teeth cleaned oftener than others. Ordinarily daily brushing helps remove the stains, also tartar, but home brushing alone is not sufficient. (Continued)

DIES IN THE WEST

Mrs. M. S. Briggs Wednesday evening received a message from her nephew, M. G. Hunnicutt of Des Moines, Iowa, telling of the passing of his mother, Mary E. Hunnicutt at Los Angeles at noon. Mrs. Hunnicutt lost her husband, Mr. W. L. Hunnicutt at their late home at Indianola, Iowa, last August, and Mrs. Hunnicutt had gone to Van Nuys to make her home with a daughter and son and has been seriously ill for the past two months. The remains are being shipped to the old home at Indianola, Iowa, where the funeral and burial will occur next Sunday.

DRAWS LARGE CROWD

The Mynard Minstrels last evening repeated their success of Monday night to entertain a packed house at the community center building. The delightful musical selections as well as the jokes and antics of the young men of the cast kept the audience well pleased.

The show will be presented again on Thursday and Friday nights at the Mynard community building and on Saturday at Nehawka.

Recreational School is Held at Farm Bureau

Many From All Parts of Cass County Gather to Enjoy a Very Interesting Session.

Visitors at the Farm Bureau office last Friday, were amazed to see and hear thirty-five or forty grown up men and women skipping around the room and merrily singing such tunes as, "Where, Oh Where is Sweet Little Nellie." Their curiosity was satisfied when it was explained that the group consisted of recreation leaders from various clubs over the county gathered for a recreation school conducted by Ralph D. Copenhaver, specialist in community organization at the college of agriculture.

What fun every one had, playing games, trying the tongue twisters, working out the brain teasers with paper and pencil, and in dramatizing short skits and stunts. There were no dull moments from 9:30 in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon and no long faces in the merry group.

Because it was impossible to write down many notes and keep their mind on playing, the leaders were given circulars and leaflets containing the different types of games which they had played, when the school was over. These circulars will aid them in leading the recreation work in their own communities, for which they are so much better fitted after attending the day's session. The circulars are available for general distribution to anyone desiring help with problems pertaining to recreation, entertainment, dramatics, etc. Some of the most recent and helpful ones are: Circular 531, Dramatics for Rural People; 529, Tongue Twisters; 521, Initiation Stunts; 533, Let's Have a Carnival; 558, April Parties. Many other circulars available, but space does not permit listing them. Send your request to the Farm Bureau office if you are interested in this material.

"Hobbies" was one of the activities discussed during the afternoon. Mr. Copenhaver displayed a part of his collection of over two thousand pencils, which has been his hobby the past eight months. Some of those in the group added their pencils to his collection. Other hobby collections brought by the recreation leaders consisted of pennies, nickels, safety matches, toy furniture, miniature dogs, etc. The discussion brought out that every one has a hobby of some kind, but oftentimes they do not recognize it as such.

INSTALL NEW SIGN

From Monday's Daily—This afternoon a large and newest type Neon sign was placed in front of the Sharpnack liquor store on North Fifth street. The sign is one that can be seen for blocks and will make a very nice addition to the appearance of that section of the city. With the new sign to add to the general appearance of the exterior, the store will be one of the most attractive in the city. Fred and "Shotgun" both are well pleased with the new sign.

VISITING IN THE CITY

Mrs. J. J. Boom and daughter, Mrs. John Mann and daughter, Madeline Jean, are here to enjoy a few days visit at the home of Mrs. Boom's daughters, Mrs. Ed Gabelman, Mrs. Cass Sylvester and Mrs. John Jordan. The visitors are from Guide Rock, Nebraska.

ANNOUNCE BUICK DEALERS

Announcement was made today by W. F. Hustader, general sales manager of the Buick Division of General Motors Sales Corporation, of the appointment of the Rosen Auto Company as Buick dealers in Plattsmouth.

Rosen Auto Company will handle the complete line of 1937 Buick cars, consisting of the Buick Series 40 Special, the Series 60 Century, the Series 80 Roadmaster and the Series 90 Limited. A total of twenty-two models are listed, ranging in price from $765 to $1,995 at the factory.

All are powered by valve-in-head, straight eight engines of Buick design, the type of engine the Buick division has used and developed exclusively throughout its manufacturing history.

These valve-in-head, straight eights, according to Buick engineers, are more efficient and economical than engines of other designs, and because of their cool running characteristics and other features of design, are more rugged, dependable and long-lived.

Sealed chassis, that keeps out dirt, water and other foreign matter from all moving parts, the famous Buick torque tube drive, knee action front wheels, hydraulic brakes and streamlined bodies by Fisher with "Unisteel" turret tops and no-draft ventilation, are among the standard features of the 1937 Buick models.

Complete sales and service facilities will be maintained by the Plattsmouth dealer which will serve a large potential market for new Buicks in this territory as well as the needs of the many owners who now drive this make of car.

A large ad calling attention to the new Plattsmouth dealer and the Buick line of cars appears in this issue of the Semi-Weekly Journal.

TO LOCATE IN CITY

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Weaver are now locating in this city to make their home. Mr. Weaver being engaged as traveling representative of one of the large wholesale rug houses of the east. Mr. and Mrs. Weaver are former residents of King City, Missouri, and meeting Charles Tunnell, the manager of the Farley Furniture store, also a former King City young man, decided to locate here. The Weaver family will reside in the Herold apartments.

HOME FROM NAVY

Winston King, some two years ago one of the well known athletes of the Nebraska City high school, was here Sunday evening for a short time while en route to his home from Omaha. King is now in the aviation section of the U. S. navy and is stationed at the naval base at San Diego. He has been very successful in his training and hopes to secure a rating that will enable him to secure an appointment to Annapolis naval academy.

MRS. RISHEL VERY LOW

The members of the family of Mrs. W. B. Rishel, one of the long time residents of the city, were called to Omaha this morning by the critical condition of the aged lady.

Mrs. Rishel is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nell White and in the past several days has been falling very rapidly. Her condition this morning was such as to give but little hope of her surviving the day.

Officers to War on Traffic Rule Violators

Accidents Causing Three Deaths in a Week Promise a Strong Campaign on Driving.

Three deaths in the past week as the result of accidents on the highways, is opening the way to a campaign against those who do not observe the rules of the road and the state law in regard to driving.

Sheriff Homer Sylvester is planning to take drastic steps in handling the matter of driving on the highways in the hope that other accidents may be avoided.

The law is very much full of teeth and the officers are proposing that every effort be made to see that they are enforced until the reckless driving is checked.

In the two accidents that have resulted in fatalities have been caused while cars and trucks have been parked along the highways and have been run into by other vehicles.

The law provides that where death is caused by accident that a fine of not less than $200 may be levied or not more than $500 or that a sentence of one year or not more than ten be inflicted for the offense.

The earnest and thoughtful co-operation of the car and truck drivers can assist in saving lives by following the established rules of the road and the precautions that the law has placed around the operation of cars and trucks on the highways.

MARRIED AT NEBRASKA CITY

On Saturday afternoon at Nebraska City, occurred the marriage of Miss Mary Jane McClure of this city and Mr. Kenneth J. Dunlap of Fort Crook. The marriage lines were read by T. Morton Simpson, county judge of Otse county.

The young people were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Glen McClure, parents of the bride, who witnessed the ceremony. The bridal party later returned home to this city.

The bride was a member of the 1926 graduating class of the Plattsmouth high school.

CONSULTING SPECIALISTS

Mrs. Herman Thomas of Nebraska City, former resident of this city, is at St. Louis, where she is consulting specialists as to her health. Mrs. Thomas has been in failing health for several months and some time ago had a very serious operation and later spent some time in California for her health. She has failed to show the improvement as hoped and will seek treatment at St. Louis. Mr. Thomas accompanied his wife to St. Louis, returning to Nebraska City Monday.

SUFFERS THROAT INFECTION

D. M. Babbitt, of the local international Harvester agency, was taken to Omaha Monday where he will enter the St. Joseph's hospital. Mr. Babbitt is suffering from a throat infection and will be given a course of treatment at the hospital.
