Protecting the Gentler Sex

By IRVIN S. COBB

A CERTAIN young lady who gives interpretive dances in rather scanty costume was engaged to go to a staid community in New England and dance before the local dramatic and literary society.

The day after her appearance the entertainment committee—all women—held a meeting to discuss the affair of the night before. Several had been heard, when one member raised her voice. "Personally," she said, "I enjoyed it ever so much. To me it was most artistic and symbolic and everything. But if you ask me, I don't say this: It certainly was no place to take a nervous man!" (American News Features, Inc.)

meier who are both students at the state university, were home for the week end and did some good work at the farm, one plowing fifteen acres with the tractor while the other did valiant work to assist Dad, they getting out at four in the morning.

Visiting Here from Kansas.

Irl Wamack, living north of town was with the good wife host and hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Parker of Central, Kansas, and as well to Mr. Louis G. Schutz of Coibey, Kansas who was accompanied by his wife. They were also pleased when Miss Nellie Parker who is taking nurse training in Omaha, came for a visit. The party came on last Friday and remained until Tuesday of this week.

Charles David Keltner.

Charles David Keltner was born at Ames, Iowa, August 20, 1859 and passed away at Lincoln, Nebr., May 1, 1937. Mr. Keltner was a member of the Christian church of Louisville, Nebr., for 30 years, whose pastor was G. W. Mayfield at the time Mr. Keltner was baptized into this faith.

Charles Keltner was the youngest child of Morgan and Sina Keltner, having three brothers, Morgan, Albert and James; two sisters, Sarah and Lizzie, who have all passed away. He spent the last 40 years of his life in Nehawka, was a good Christian, loved and respected by all his acquaintances.

He was married to Jennie Crane in 1879, at Ames, Iowa, who passed away at Nehawka in 1919. No children were born to this union.

The funeral service was held at Mt. Pleasant cemetery Sunday, May 2, at 11 a. m., conducted by Rev. W. A. Taylor of Union, a long time friend.

Buried Last Saturday.

Frank Leslie Trotter was born November 13, 1887 at Paoli, Indiana, the eldest son of William and Anna Trotter and departed this life April 29, 1937, at the age of 49 years, 6 months and 15 days.

At the age of three years he came to Nebraska with his parents and since that time has made his home at Nehawka.

During the World war he was in the quartermaster corporal department and was stationed at Fort Bayard, New Mexico for nearly a year, where he served as an engineer. Since that time he has followed the work of a trucker. He was never married.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anna Trotter, Douglas, Nebr.; five sisters, Mrs. Harvey Barkhurst, Nebraska City, Mrs. Herman Gutman, Burlington, Iowa; Mrs. Eldard Cooper, Alliance, Nebr.; Mrs. Louis Carman, Peru, Nebr.; Mrs. Hugh Parli, Pawnee City, Nebr.; three brothers, Clifford of Nehawka; Clarence, of Douglas, Nebr.; and Cyrus of Omaha. His father and a sister preceded him in death.

Frank had been in poor health for many years and although always in great pain, had never a word of complaint, very industrious, always ready to give and do for others, he was a good friend to all.

He was a three star charter member of the Nehawka Post 157 of the American Legion.

Funeral was held from Nehawka M. E. church Saturday at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. W. A. Taylor, of Union The American Legion had charge at the grave. Interment was at Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Hobson and Son were in charge.

Funeral Held at Nehawka.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sans of Omaha were visiting at the home of Mrs. Nell Wehrlein.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wondra of Plattsouth were visiting at the home of F. T. Wilson on Sunday.

Frank E. Valley of Omaha was a visitor in Murray last Saturday looking after business and visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Deles Derner and children were visiting and looking after some business in Plattsouth last Saturday.

Joseph Staska and wife were visiting with friends in Plattsouth last Saturday evening, also looking after some business matters.

Tommy Troop departed last Friday for Mitchell, South Dakota where he went for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Robert Bestor and husband.

Business called Harry Noel to Omaha last Monday where he secured some material for the use of repairing some autos at the workshop.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nickles were in Lincoln last Thursday where they went to visit friends and attend a session of the Nebraska legislature.

J. A. Scotten was making some repairs on the roof at the Murray garage which was damaged by the severe wind Saturday of last week.

Thomas Nelson was a visitor with his son in Omaha last Sunday where he enjoyed a very pleasant visit as well as looking after some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shrader of Omaha who are nephew and niece of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Nickles, were guests last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nickles.

Alvin Jensen, the new barber, was looking after some business and as well as visiting with friends in Lincoln last Sunday, returning for work early Monday morning.

E. W. Thimngan was a business visitor in Murray Tuesday of this week.

George Nickles and wife were looking after some business matters in Omaha Wednesday afternoon of this week.

The shed at the lumber yard suffered some with the other buildings when the wind blew a regular hurricane last Saturday was being repaired by Fred L. Hill Thursday and Friday of last week.

Lester Wunderlich who has been making his home in Plattsouth and where he still resides, has accepted a position with the Murray Garage and for the present drives back and forth to his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Newton of Plattsouth, Mrs. Vesta Clark of Murray and Mrs. O. W. Finney of Union attended the funeral of Mrs. Katherine Borne of Nebraska City on Monday afternoon.

W. L. Seybolt was out near Grand Island to see about some business on Tuesday of this week and was accompanied as far as Lincoln by Mrs. Seybolt who visited with Mrs. Margaret Brendel until the return of Mr. Seybolt. They returned to Murray in the evening.

Will Make Home Here.

C. H. Boedeker, sr., who has been making his home at Clearfield, Iowa, with his daughter where he enjoyed the winter, arrived in Murray last Thursday and will make his home with another daughter, Mrs. John L. Young for the summer.

Have Very Neat Place.

The enterprising firm of Tutt and Brubacher have just had their store room newly painted and decorated, which makes the place of business very attractive. The work was done by M. G. Churchill, assisted by Wm. Griffin.

Accepts Position at Orepolis.

Van Allen who was associated with the Murdock garage as mechanic resigned his position there to accept a position with Mr. Cohen who runs a hamburger stand in Plattsouth and also another one out near the Platte river where he has Mr. Allen employed.

Visit Friends at Greenwood.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hansen and Mrs. Myra McDonald and the Moore family made up a party of relatives who went to Manley where they picked up Mrs. O. E. McDonald, then going to Greenwood where Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meyers make their home, where they visited for the day. Mrs.

Meyers is a daughter of Mrs. O. E. McDonald and granddaughter of Mrs. Myra McDonald of Murray and cousins of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hansen and the Moore girls.

Hears From Her Son.

Mrs. Katherine Perry received a letter from her son, Walter Perry and wife of Orange, California, telling of them being on their way to Murray to spend Mothers day with her. This will make five consecutive years that they have driven from California, which Grandmother Perry greatly appreciates and one which would be fine for other sons to do for their mother.

Enjoyed Very Pleasant Visit.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Nickles was very pleasantly surprised when their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Newman who make their home at Alliance, came to visit with them last Thursday. During the time the state legislature was in session in 1935 Mr. Newman and Mr. Nickles were members of the legislature and became very close friends.

The visitors tell of the country being very dry out in the west and that they have not had enough moisture for the spring wheat.

Getting Ready for Surfacing.

There are an even dozen men working through the WPA who are getting the streets ready for the spreading of crushed rock, which will be done as soon as the streets are placed in the proper condition.

Birthday Dinner.

Last Sunday a group of Murray and Union friends went to the home of Arthur Read at Cedar Creek to celebrate the birthday of Earnest Read. Rain didn't matter much as everyone had a very enjoyable time and a very delicious dinner was served by Mrs. Read.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mrasek, Clare Mrasek, Joe Richter, Fred Crunk, of Murray, Charles Crunk and Sheldon Smith of Union, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Read, Ernest, Eva, Marie Read and Bobbie Richter of Cedar Creek.

Celebrating 71st Year.

George S. Ray who has been a resident in Cass county for a half century, was born on April 30, 1866 one mile south and west of where Elmwood now stands, but then a good deal of raw prairie. He lived there for a number of years when a lad, and later went to Missouri to make his home with his parents, and still later came to Cass county again and has made his home in the neighborhood of Murray since it was a town, and some time before.

On last Friday, which was the 71st anniversary of his birth he stopped where Art Hansen was cutting brush along the highway and as all the axes were being used he stopped his horse and buggy. Now take note, horse and buggy, which the crowd called his auto, going up the bank broke down some of the brush and tossed it on a pile to burn. George wanted something to identify the passing of the natal day, then drove on wishing all the boys, for a number had congregated there, good luck, with a wave of his hand saying good bye.

Former Resident Here

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Jensen of El Reno, Okla., were in Murray Saturday, calling on Mrs. Ray Dill and Mrs. C. D. Spangler and Mrs. Catherine Perry who were neighbors and old time friends of Mrs. Jensen many years ago at old Eight Mile Grove.

Mrs. Jensen was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Will, both now deceased. When but a young girl, she, with her parents and older sister, went to Oklahoma to make their home, where the parents and sister have since passed away. This is her first visit back to the old home community since leaving it thirty-six years ago, and naturally she noticed a great many changes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen also visited at the Fred Beverage home, the older generation of Beverages and Willis having been friends a great many years ago in Virginia before they came to Nebraska.

They also called at the Henry Englekemeier farm, which was the birthplace of Mrs. Jensen, then on to the old Eight Mile Grove school house, where she attended school in her childhood days, and the cemetery and other places of her recollections.

Before coming to Cass county they had spent a few days at David City, the former home of Mr. Jensen. The friends here were pleased to hear, through Mr. and Mrs. Jensen of the families of Fred Will, Bert Satchell, Schwartzfishers and Pappas, all former Cass county people, who now reside in or near El Reno or Hennessey. They also report the crop conditions in their vicinity very promising at present.

From here, Mr. and Mrs. Jensen motored on into Iowa, where they would be guests of relatives of Mr. Jensen for some time, and then on south where they will enjoy the beauties of the Ozark Mountains before returning to their home, making in all a most pleasant outing.

COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS

The Nebraska supreme court heard arguments Monday on the appeal of Ciava A. Streight, former resident of Plattsmouth now living in Oakland, Calif., from the refusal of the district court at Omaha to give her $4,000 damages asked from the First Trust company of Omaha and its successor, the Omaha National company. She held $6,000 worth of a $75,000 mortgage bond issue, and claims she was damaged because the company concealed from her that the interest was in default, by itself advancing the interest to bondholders. She charges that this was done by the trust company officials in order to keep an open market for the mortgage bonds, and that it was diligent in protecting its own second mortgage for $3,750. Company attorneys said the statute of limitations prevented maintenance of the action as she had changed her claim from one in tort to one charging conversion. They said she was the only objecting bondholder, and that had she known the interest was in default she could have done nothing on her own account, so that she had no opportunity to protect herself from loss, as she said she could have done had she known.

Mrs. Streight is the wife of Monte Streight, they making their home here for some years at the farm just north of this city.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, May 9th

By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

"Abraham a Man of Prayer"

Gen. 18:17-32.

This eighteenth chapter should be used entire for study; it presents three distinct sections, and they form a whole: (a) The beauty of oriental hospitality; (b) The worth of friendship, and (c) The virtue and power of intercessory prayer. The whole becomes simple if studied under these three heads. Hospitality among the orientals is proverbial—he will share all he has with a guest or a stranger who comes to his tent. Water for his dusty feet and refreshments are provided and the host will do the honors and be servant to his guests. Jesus knew the customs as we read in Luke 7:36-50, and by example showed what was customary, and a neglect was a dishonor to the guest or friend. Angels have been entertained unawares, by extending hospitality (Heb. 13:2); and Jesus, at the day of judgment finds one cause of man's condemnation in these words: "I was a stranger, and ye took me not in." (Matt. 25:43). This was also a characteristic of the first Christians and the pioneers of the west, but by accumulating wealth and independence this virtue has largely been lost.

Friendship finds expression here as nowhere else. Friendship is a deep, quiet, enduring affection that is founded upon mutual respect and esteem; it implies some degree of equality, while love does not. One may have love for an inferior or an enemy. Three times Abraham is mentioned as the "Friend of God." (II Chronicles 20:7; Isa. 41:8 and James 2:23). Our Lord called his disciples "friends." (See John 16:14, 15). Who has not admired the extraordinary friendship between David and Jonathan! (See I Sam. 20).

In this mutual confidence, God condescends to meet his "friend" and makes known his intentions and plans; there are no secrets between friends. The most astonishing thing about the whole matter is that the creator of heaven and earth takes man into his confidence, thereby showing his great interest in man—takes him into partnership and man becomes in reality a co-worker with God. (I Cor. 3:9). Do men appreciate the honor? God gives man an interest in his business as seen in Mat. 25:14-29; thus places him under responsibility as well as enjoying participation in the fruits of faithful labor. Having disposed of the first two items, namely, Hospitality and Friendship, we shall now see Abraham in intercessory prayer. After the three men had been entertained and the promise of an heir had been reaffirmed, Abraham goes with them part way, while two angels go on. The Lord (Jehovah) remains behind to reveal to Abraham his purpose of coming. "Abraham has been made the repository of a blessing for all nations. An account must therefore be given to him when any people are summarily removed beyond the possibility of receiving this blessing; he will inevitably desire to know that this execution is to be and why it is to be." (Marcus Dods).

The Lord, speaking to himself said: "For I have known him" (v. 19) what he will do. By obedience and righteousness, his seed will continue in God's favor, an object lesson like the destruction of the cities and the Dead Sea should be ample warning to desist from evil doing. These things would forever cry out to the people: "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." They could never attribute to chance the predicted judgment. Knowing that his nephew, Lot and family live in Sodom, and believing that there should be anyway as many as fifty righteous people there, in his great compassion and sympathy he begins to intercede for the cities.

Here is proof that the "effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." (James 5:16). The best that was in Sodom was saved; and those four were not too righteous. Six times Abraham endeavors to change the Lord's mind. The conditions must have been terrible in those cities—the Lord says: "Their sins are very grievous." (v. 20). Paul gives us the details in Romans 1:26-32, corroborating what we read in Gen. 18:5.

But God will not condemn anyone before making sure the case is as reported; therefore he says: "I will go down now and see." (v. 21). Having seen the conditions, he cannot do otherwise than to destroy them or they would corrupt the whole race. Their doom is sealed—the judgment must follow. In this connection, we should observe the value of a good man in a community, like Lot did for Zoar. "Ye are the salt of the earth." (Matt. 5:12).

It is the spirit filled church that keeps the world from being destroyed; she is staying the judgment of God. "The Spirit and the bride (church) say Come." (Rev. 22:17). "O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord." (Isa. 2:5). May men listen and heed the warning, before God will pronounce his "Woes." (See Matt. 11:23). "Our God is a consuming fire." (Heb. 12:29).

AN INTERESTING LECTURE ON SCOUT TROOP PROGRAM

From Monday's Daily—

Yesterday marked the third consecutive Sunday of the lecture course on "Principles of Scoutmanship" now being carried out in the Arbor Lodge district under leadership of Prof. Clayburn of Peru Normal college. It was also the occasion of one of the two lengthy afternoon lectures being delivered by a Plattsmouth man, Raymond J. Larson, Scoutmaster of Troop 364 of this city. All former lectures in the series have been delivered by college professors at Peru.

Raymond's lecture was divided into three parts, "Troop Program Building; Adequate Yearly Outdoor Program of a Scout Troop and Ceremonies in the Scout Program." It was well prepared and equally well presented. Attendance was smaller than the two former Sundays, due to the rain. Larson's lecture was followed by one on "The Boy's Reading Program," by Prof. J. D. Nabors of the Speech Department of Peru college. The course is due to run three more Sundays, with two lectures each Sunday afternoon, time running from 2:30 to 5:30.

Besides Mr. Larson, Commander Gayer and Elmer Webb of the Legion Scout Troop committee attended. E. H. Wescott and Lee Knolle, two other Scouters from here who are taking the course were unable to attend yesterday's meeting, but will be back again next Sunday for the fourth week's lectures at Peru.
