KILLED AT GREENWOOD

The crew on Burlington freight train No. 50, discovered the body of a man lying on the tracks a mile east of Greenwood, apparently having been struck by a train some time earlier in the morning. The matter was reported to the office of County Attorney J. A. Capwell and Sheriff Homer Sylvester, and Mr. Capwell with Deputy Cass Sylvester drove to Greenwood where they made a survey of the situation and checked up the facts in the case. It was found that the man had had both legs and one arm cut off, death having been a short time before the coming of No. 50 on the scene. He was a man supposedly between 25 and 30 years of age, dark hair and had evidently just recently shaved. He wore a brown soft hat with the name F. Boyce stamped in the sweatband and the hat had been manufactured by Schmitz-Gretmert Co., Aurora, Illinois. He had on blue gray striped trousers, wine colored shirt and a yellow slip on sweater. The man had in his pocket an address case with the name, Mrs. Lelia Munster, but no address, as well as a theatre ticket from Fort Smith, Arkansas. The body was taken to Elmwood to the B. I. Clements mortuary to await possible identification. County Attorney Capwell is having the description of the man broadcast in the hope of locating relatives.

GRASSHOPPER POISON BRINGS GOOD RESULTS

Many kills are estimated at 90% in the grasshopper infested areas by farmers who have used the poisoned bran. Heavy demand has come in from all sections of the county. The west section of the county shows an especially bad hopper situation. One farmer at Greenwood reports a ten acre field of extra early corn cleaned in one day by the hoppers. Farmers who have not yet called for the bran are urged to do so. Sacks of $0 pounds are being distributed at $1.15 to infested areas. The bran should be spread between 6 and 9 a. m. In hot, dry weather spreading may start at sunrise or earlier, but should not continue after 10 a. m. Poisoning in cold, rainy, or cloudy weather is not usually satisfactory. Great care should be taken that bait does not fall in lumps or piles, as these are dangerous to poultry or livestock. Placing bait in piles or scattering so poorly that it lies in lumps not only reduces the kill of grasshoppers but is a violation of the state law governing exposure of poisons. Five to ten pounds of bran, dry weight, are enough to cover an acre. On large areas bait may be scattered in strips from two to four rods apart. The bait should be sprinkled within 48 hours of purchase. Arsenic is slow acting and requires three to five days to make a good kill.

The writer visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Zaar in South Bend precinct, one of the very fine farm homes of Cass county. The surroundings are in keeping with the excellent hom with fish pool and flowers bordering same in profusion. Mr. Zaar who has a work shop equipped with turning lathe and other modern machinery, is a finished workman. He has made many fancy articles for the home. Among these are a smoking set with four ash trays, which can be either used singly or hanged on their pedestal, music rack serving trays, vases for flowers, cigarette holder, though he does not smoke. The wood came from walnut grown on the farm. These are all given a high polish and are indeed works of art.
