HARVEST OPENS THIS WEEK

From Tuesday's Daily—
Survey of the county by D. D. Wainscott, county agent, shows that wheat harvest in the west section of the county will open within the next three days and in the east section, within ten days. Wages this year vary from $3 to $3.50 per day with board.

A. E. Edgerton of the local state employment office urges farmers who will be needing harvest hands to place their order as soon as possible in order that men may be secured ahead of time. Only experienced men will be sent out from the office as harvest hands, so a check of men on record will be necessary. If there are not enough hands in the local office, harvest workers will need to be secured from outside areas. A number of workers are now registered but more will probably be needed than are on file in this office. If farmers are able to notify the office several days in advance, workers can be obtained when needed.

FUNERAL OF GROVER ELEDGE

From Monday's Daily—
This morning at 11 o'clock the funeral services of Grover Eledge, whose body was recovered from the flood waters of the Missouri river Sunday, were held at the Sattler funeral home.

The short service was conducted by Dr. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, while Frank A. Cloidt gave the well loved hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

DETOUR ON O STREET

From Tuesday's Daily—
A detour on O street beginning today is the forerunner of the paving of the remaining gap in this road later in the summer. The present detour is only for one mile, turning south off the road into Avoca, thence west a mile to Highway 50, and back north on that road to the Weeping Water corner. The three miles of detour road are graveled, insuring no inconvenience to the traveling public other than the two lost miles of travel.

The detour is necessary at this time to permit building of a bridge at a point just beyond the Missouri Pacific railroad grade crossing. The present narrow bridge there has been the cause of numerous accidents in the last few years.

No overhead crossing either there or west of Eagle is planned at the present time, traffic on both these lines being light.

It is also quite certain that the proposed overhead at Union, crossing the main line tracks of the Missouri Pacific will be carried over at least another year, as highway dollars are being stretched to provide the greatest possible amount of paving and hard surfacing of roads.

GIVE A FINE PROGRAM

The Stockyards chorus, a group of some twenty-four men, employes at the Omaha Livestock exchange, came down Tuesday evening to entertain the residents of the Nebraska Masonic Home with a program of selections that were most artistically given.

The Omaha party comprised some seventy-five and included Judge Perry Wheeler.

A large number of the local people also attended the program. With the close of the program the visitors were served refreshments of ice cream and cake.
