

MANLEY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Rauth were doing some shopping and visiting friends in Plattsmouth last Saturday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Frank Bergman and Miss Teresa Rauth were in Plattsmouth a short time last Monday on business.

Mrs. A. Steinkamp departed last week for Wisconsin, where she will spend some time with her brother, Kinney Goodman.

Mrs. J. C. Rauth, who has been in very poor health for several weeks, is able to be up and about, although still not feeling the best.

Elmer Parson and wife, of Denver, visited a few days during the past week at the home of Mrs. Alice Jenkins, mother of Mrs. Pearson.

Miss Nellie McCurdy, of Havelock, was a guest of her friend, Miss Mary Murphy, at the latter's home here, several days during the past week.

Misses Margaret and Louise Dalk departed last Sunday for Peru, where they will attend the Peru State Normal preparatory school for teachers.

While Antone Auserwald was looking after business matters away from Manley, the blacksmith shop was looked after by Fay Herriger, who was able to get away from his work at Springfield.

August Krecklow and son, Lawrence were in Omaha last Monday with some cattle from the feed lots of farmers hereabouts. After delivering their cargo they returned home via Plattsmouth, where they were able to purchase some fresh catfish for dinner.

Mrs. J. R. Kelley, of Plattsmouth, mother of Mrs. Oscar McDonald, accompanied by her grandchildren, the Misses Mary Alice and Betty Ault, came over from the county seat Wednesday morning to visit at the McDonald home. The girls returned home in the evening, but Mrs. Kelley remained for a longer visit.

Attended Stander Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan McCurdy and family of near Havelock, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Erhardt last Saturday. Mrs. McCurdy is a sister of Mr. Erhardt. They remained over night and on Sunday attended the Stander family reunion at Louisville.

Sinking His Well Deeper

J. C. Rauth, who has had one of the very best of wells in years past, found the quantity of water failing recently and in order to get an adequate supply for the stock and domestic use has secured L. V. Davis, and George F. Wilson to sink it deeper, thus hoping to secure enough water to supply all his needs.

Will Make Home in West

Phillip Flemming who has been farming here, disposed of his holdings in the line of farming equipment as well as the crop thereon to Theobold Hansas, of Elba, who has moved here and will farm the place the coming year. Mr. and Mrs. Flemming left with their car and a few of their belongings for the state of Washington, expecting to locate at the point where their children, Mary and Fritz reside. We were unable to learn the name of the town.

Visited at Flaischman Home

Mrs. Rachel Cochren and family are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flaischman. Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gade and Wallace Cochren came over to enjoy a visit and hear of the trip recently taken by Mr. and Mrs. Flaischman. All enjoyed a sumptuous dinner and a splendid visit together.

Home from Pacific Coast

After a three weeks' trip covering the western portion of the United States, extending right down to the water's edge of the Pacific ocean, Herman Rauth and Art Hansen and wives returned home Sunday evening. They went to see and enjoy the great west and surely did that very thing. The trip out was made via North Platte, Cheyenne, Rock Springs and on to Sacramento and San Francisco. While on the coast they visited at Vallejo, where the government's ship yards are located, also at Oakland, from whence they crossed the gigantic bridge to San Francisco. Later they visited at Bakersfield and then went to Los Angeles, seeing not only the sights of that interesting city, but Hollywood and Long Beach as well.

En route home they came via Boulder Dam and the Grand Canyon, with its picturesque beauty, on to Tulsa Oklahoma. At Gallup New Mexico, they witnessed a big Indian pow-wow that was attended by many thousands of Red men, attired in tribal garb. At Tulsa they turned onto Highway 75 and headed north toward Cass county and home. It was a great trip and they enjoyed every minute of it.

However, they were glad to get back home.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Young Jack Reynolds felt quite proud of himself as he stepped down from the dentist's chair. He had just had his front baby teeth extracted and he had undergone the operation like a true man.

"Did it hurt, Jack?" asked his father as he admiringly patted his son on the back.

"No, sir," replied the boy, "only my lip feels kinda funny."

Dr. Young laughed. "Your lip feels funny because of the anaesthetic which I gave you before we pulled the teeth."

"What's an anaesthetic?" asked Jack.

"An anaesthetic," explained the dentist, "is a certain kind of medicine which I put in your gums to prevent pain. The effects of that medicine will wear away in a short time and your lips will no longer feel funny or numb."

"Why is it necessary, doctor, to give a child an anaesthetic before extracting a baby tooth?" asked Jack's father.

"Would you like to have one of your teeth extracted without an anaesthetic?" parried the dentist.

"Can't say that I would," replied Mr. Reynolds, "but the cases are not the same. Permanent teeth have long roots embedded in the bone. There were scarcely any roots left on Jack's baby teeth."

"That's very true," said the dentist. "However, the roots of Jack's teeth were not completely resorbed."

Picking up the extracted teeth, he explained: "You see each one of these teeth has a small portion of its root intact next to the crown. The root fragments are from an eighth to three-sixteenths of an inch in length. The gum tissue which was firmly attached to the root fragments is richly supplied with nerves. Had I ruthlessly extracted Jack's teeth without deadening the nerve ends, I would have subjected him to some pain. I knew the teeth would come out very easily; nevertheless, the operation would have been painful. There is no use of needlessly hurting anyone, especially a child."

"Jack has been coming into this office regularly, twice a year, for the past four years. On none of those occasions has he been hurt. He has developed a wholesome interest in his teeth. He is going to grow up with no fear of dental operations. Often it is fear that keeps people from getting their teeth fixed. That was the main reason why I gave Jack an anaesthetic—not that the operation was so severe, but to prevent him from developing any antipathy toward dental care."

ONLY WOMAN MAIL CLERK KNOWS STATES LIKE BOOK

CLEVELAND (UP)—If anyone wants information about mail service to any one of Ohio's 1,600 towns, just ask Mrs. Olga Davis.

Her 18 years of experience as the only woman employe of the railway mail service of the Cleveland post-office has made her familiar with Ohio's towns and also Indiana's 1,060 cities and villages.

She says her average day's job of sorting and placing in the proper pigeonholes 17,280 pieces of mail, is "just all in a day's work."

Corn Crop is Cut 100,000,000 During August

Private Crop Forecasts at Chicago Agree That Crop Has Suffered Heavily From Heat.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2 (UP)—Drouth reduced America's corn crop more than 100,000,000 bushels during August, five private crop forecasters agreed today.

The five experts predicted a 1937 crop of 2,625,000,000 bushels in their monthly report, a drop of 156,000,000 bushels from that of August 1.

Today's estimate was 34,000,000 bushels less than the government's last month. The department of agriculture August estimate placed the probable corn yield at 2,659,000,000 bushels. The private estimate of August 1 was 2,771,000,000 bushels.

Despite sharp reductions in the probable yield caused by severe drouth conditions through several of the major corn producing states in the early weeks of August, the estimate ran far ahead of the actual yield. Farmers harvested 1,524,000,000 bushels last year.

The individual estimates:
B. W. Snow: Corn, 2,638,000,000; Spring wheat, 184,000,000.
Nat C. Murray: Corn, 2,792,000,000; Spring wheat, 208,000,000.
H. C. Donovan: Corn, 2,680,000,000; Spring wheat, 200,000,000.
R. O. Cromwell: Corn, 2,638,000,000; Spring wheat, 204,000,000.
Mrs. E. H. Miller: Corn, 2,596,000,000; Spring wheat, 177,000,000.

In addition the firm of James E. Bennett and Co. estimated the corn crop at 2,858,000,000 and the spring wheat yield at 192,000,000 bushels.

Despite the damage done by August drouth conditions in Nebraska, Iowa, parts of Illinois and in the Dakotas the crops in all of the corn states will be of bumper proportions although not as great as expected in the early summer.

BUFFALO HERD ROAMS ALONG RIGHT-OF-WAY

CLAYTON, N. M. (UP)—The unusual sight of buffalo roaming along a railroad right-of-way near here caused trainmen to bat their eyes in amazement. Motorists also reported seeing the animals.

Clayton officers and cowhands went to the scene and pursued the beasts in two automobiles. When they approached too close the animals turned and charged. Screaming auto horns caused them to turn tail and flee again.

Ivan Shoemaker, brand inspector, quit the motor chase and got a horse. The horse on sighting the buffalo ran in the opposite direction.

George Divers, cowboy, lassoed one of the beasts, but it snapped his rope. Shoemaker threw the next loop and his rope went to shreds. Ike Cochran, top-hand cowpuncher, finally made a catch that held.

Where the animals came from is a mystery.

NEW BREEDING OF BEES TRIED TO AID STRAIN

BATON ROUGE, La. (UP)—If science has its way romance will be deleted from the life of the queen bee. In an effort to improve bee strains by controlling the mating of the queen, experiments have been conducted successfully with artificial insemination of the laboratories of the University of Louisiana here.

Left to mate without interference of science, the queen bee ordinarily wings her way to a trust high in the air in spring, her choice of a mate being a matter of chance, according to Dr. Otto Mackensen, of the United States Bureau of Entomology in charge of the experiments.

As a result, Dr. Mackensen explained, science has found it all but impossible to improve the strains by selective breeding. Initial experiments have proved so successful, he declared, plans now are being formulated to make artificial insemination of the queens of commercial value to bee culture.

As a result of appropriations of more than $10,000 sponsored by Gov. Richard W. Leche for control of bee diseases, bee culture in Louisiana has grown to such proportions that this spring 30,000 queens accompanied by 40,000,000 workers were shipped to various points throughout the United States.

Many of the bee colonies are sent to owners of fruit orchards who use the bees to spread pollen and increase their crops.

Members of the Chriswiser and Haney families are to stage a reunion at Garfield park in this city on Sunday, September 12. The event is expected to bring a large number here from Mills county, Iowa, as well as from all sections of Cass county.

BOY BUILDS MINIATURE TOWN

PAINESVILLE, O. (UP)—Using soap, tinfoil, pebbles, matchsticks and pieces of wire, 13-year-old Billy Craig, who has been ill for nine months, has completed construction of a miniature village replete with town hall, church, park, school, radio broadcasting station, homes and gardens.

Commission is Holding Hearing for the Truckers

State Railway Commission to Explain Law Regarding Certificates to Transport Freight.

Hearings now are being conducted by examiners appointed by the state railway commission in order to permit truckers to prove their so-called "Grandfather" right under Legislative Bill No. 178, in which hearings it is necessary for the trucker to prove that he was in operation prior to the first of April, 1936, in the territory which he then was covering, and that he has been in operation since that time and covered the territory in question.

The examiners appointed by the commission will conduct hearings in all counties of the state for the convenience of the truckers, and they will aid in every way in bringing out the facts in the case. It is not necessary for any trucker to have an attorney at the hearings. When the hearings have been concluded, the examiners will stay as long as is necessary in the particular town in question to aid truckers who have not yet completed applications in correcting them, giving such advice and information as any trucker might want. The dead line on filing applications, if a trucker is to preserve all his rights, is October 16, 1937.

It is not necessary for a trucker to hire anybody or join any association to have his application properly completed, but, if he does think it necessary for advice and does not find it convenient to contact our examiners at the various county seat towns while they are there, any lawyer undoubtedly will be willing to give the few minutes which will be required, and at the most the charge will be nominal. The commission is most interested in seeing that this law and the commission be not used as a vehicle by any organization or persons to milk the trucker.

Discontinue Night Agent

The local Rock Island station, beginning September 1st, has no night agent. Mr. Bradley, formerly of Kansas, has been the night agent for the past 18 months.

Since the night agent has been dispensed with, a local person has been hired to hang the mail sacks for the two night passenger trains to pick up. Clayton Fairfield was low bidder for the position and has been given the job.

Discard Unified Service Plan

During the past three months the unified Sunday school-church plan has been in effect, but a vote taken by the Sunday school and the church boards last Sunday morning revealed a general desire to return to the old system of having Sunday school and church in separate services.

So, beginning yesterday, service hours are as follows: Sunday school at 10 a. m. Mrs. A. B. Stroemer, superintendent. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Rev. Ben Wallace, pastor. A number of other towns, including Louisville, have been trying out the unified service plan, and we believe Alvo is the first to officially discard it.

It will be interesting to note what the reaction to it will be in other towns where it is being tried.

Epidemic Among Horses

Several farmers of the vicinity have been unfortunate to the extent of having horses become afflicted with sleeping sickness. Some horses have died, while others are gradually getting better.

Among the farmers whom we have learned that have sick horses are S. C. Hardnock, Walter Collins, Charles Holmes and Charles Martin.

It is hoped that a cure may be effected for this malady and the loss through death not prove heavy in this vicinity.

Corn Crop Going into Silos

A large percentage of the corn crop is being put into silos this week. The farmers are making a great effort toward saving as much of the feed for the stock as possible.

Farmers have attempted in vain to grow fall pastures, but grasshopper infestation has frustrated their efforts. So, with a second siege of hot winds and dry weather during the present season, causing a heavy loss daily to the feed value of the corn, farmers have been finding it rather difficult to secure the use of enough corn binders and ensilage cutters to meet their needs in this line.

BOOSTERS VISIT THE CITY

From Thursday's Daily—
This morning a delegation of the Weeping Water citizens were here to visit our city and extend the invitation to come to Weeping Water when the county fair is to be held. The delegation was accompanied by the band which gave several numbers.

The county fair is a real attraction and it can be depended on that Plattsmouth will have a large group over to take in the fine exhibits from all parts of our county.

Alvo News

The Alvo schools opened this (Monday) morning. Students registered during the forenoon and were dismissed at noon.

Earl Bennett and family returned home Tuesday evening from visiting Mrs. Bennett's sister at Kimball and a step-sister at Cheyenne. They also visited many beautiful parks and interesting places on their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Green of Washington, Iowa, who were en route to Salt Lake City stopped off Wednesday afternoon and night for a visit with Mr. Green's sister, Mrs. William Mickle and family. They report the fine crops in eastern Iowa this year will attain near record-breaking proportions.

Ladies Aid Society Meets

The Ladies Aid society met at the church basement Wednesday afternoon with 24 ladies present to enjoy a good meeting and delicious refreshments served by Mesdames Ganz, Timblin, John Elliott, Jr. and Mullen. The new president, Mrs. Ben Muenchau, had charge of the meeting. Mrs. Muenchau has her work and plans well under way for the new fiscal year.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!
