LOOKS OVER SUBWAY

F. R. Mullen, general manager of the Burlington, was here Tuesday afternoon to meet with the members of the Plattsmouth dock commission, A. L. Tidd, T. H. Pollock and E. J. Richey. The matter of the subway under the Burlington tracks that leads to the Missouri river bottoms, was under discussion.

The subway will have to be made larger or new means of reaching the river and dock made when river transportation is started and this was one matter that was taken up and discussed.

There was no decision arrived at in the matter at the railroad has no provision in their budget for this item which will be taken up later.

Mr. Mullen is on a visit west over the lines of the railroad and from here departed for Lincoln and Denver.

H. R. Neitzel Writes of Old Friends' Visits

Former Murdock Residents Meet Many Old Time Friends Who Are Visiting in the West.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 20, 1937.

Dear Journal:
The writer thought it might prove interesting to your readers to hear from far off Idaho, from one of your subscribers who has read the Journal from its infancy. While we have been here for 27 years the coming October, we still find the columns of friends gathered by our old friend Briggs very interesting indeed, although the ranks of our old friends and acquaintances is getting thinner and their names appear less often.

Two weeks ago yesterday, on a Sunday we were delightfully surprised to have visit us Mrs. Alyce Hartung Miller, of Kansas City, a granddaughter of Louis Neitzel. She was with her husband and another young couple Scurlock by name, who were on their way to Baniff, Canada, to attend some convention. We showed them a good time and quite naturally they were pleased with our little city.

The following Sunday we were again surprised and delighted with a visit from former Nebraskans, this time it was Mrs. J. Goehry and her daughter Martha, with Joe Burt, a grandson, as chauffeur; they are now residents of Lincoln. This party was making a tour of the far west visiting their relatives. Not having seen these good people for years, it was a glorious reunion of old friends who had formerly lived in Murdock.

Who should roll in yesterday afternoon (the third Sunday in a row) but our son Francis who brought his grandmother and aunt Minnie Guthmann from Plattsmouth for a month's visit with their relatives here; after which they will take the Portland Rose for home again. They report a very fine overland trip in a new Studebaker and saw some wonderful scenery on the way. Having made this trip via automobile several times before, they chose a new route and in that way they get to see new country every trip out, Francis says that his passengers are both very fine travelers.

We are just wondering who from the east may drop in upon us next Sunday, making it four in a row.

H. R. NEITZEL.

SAVE ANNUALS FROM FROST

Gardeners can save many of their favorite annuals from the first heavy frosts and prolong enjoyment of their bloom by taking them indoors before cold weather kills them.

The following flowers, according to the Ferry-Morse Seed Institute, may successfully be taken up and grown for several weeks indoors: Ageratum, begonia, calendula, carnation, coleus, pinks, dimorphotheca, lobelia, dwarf marigold, pansy, petunia and snapdragon.

The advent of killing frosts must, of course, be anticipated. About 24 hours before removing the plants soak the ground in which they are growing. In digging up the plants, take as much of the soil in which they are rooted as can be contained in the flower pots. Cut away two-thirds of the plant growth, place the pots in a sunny window and treat the flowers as ordinary house plants. Because of their nature, the plants should continue growth and flowering if properly treated.

J. F. H. Rudge of Avoca while on his way to Plattsmouth to look after some business stopped in Union for a short time and visited with his friends here.

Frank and Jack were over to Plattsmouth last Sunday where they went to visit their friend Martin Bloom, they driving over to the county seat in the car of Mr. Bauer.

Charles McNamee of Brush, Colo., was visiting with friends and relatives in Union and vicinity for the past few days, returned to his home last Sunday after a very pleasant visit.

Mrs. Olive Finney was in Plattsmouth for last Saturday, Sunday and Monday visiting with her sister, Mrs. Edgar Newton, stopping at Murray and taking her mother, Mrs. Vesta Clark with her for a visit.

Mrs. James Morris of Johnson City, Tenn., has been visiting here with her cousin, Mrs. C. F. Harris and departed for Peru, Indiana, after the completion of her visit here and also the family of James Tilson of Murray and was accompanied by Mrs. C. F. Harris to Indiana for a visit with relatives. Mrs. Morris also visited with Mrs. Ella McDonald, a cousin, at Differ, Nebraska.

Delbert Munn of Weeping Water and Warren Munn of Nehawka were in Union last Monday afternoon making arrangements for the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Elmer Studor of Rock Valley, Iowa, who was killed in an auto wreck last Sunday three miles west and one mile south of Elmwood. The funeral was held at the Wyoming Methodist church and the interment at the burying grounds near the church on this Thursday.

Married at the Parsonage.

On September 14th, Mrs. O. E. Allis, accompanied by Mary Jane and Ruth Allis, and son, Raymond Allis and Edward Johnstone, all of Omaha were in Union where they sought the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Taylor and had Rev. Taylor perform a marriage ceremony which united the lives of Raymond Allis and Miss Marion E. Bartlett. They will make their home at 604 South 27th street, Omaha.

Could Not Make it Pay.

Otis Keene and Loy Hathaway departed last week for Ogallala where they were offered work at the carpenter trade at 80 cents per hour but the time was so short that they were not able to make anything worthwhile so they returned, arriving here last Sunday night.

Looking After Business in West.

George A. Stites departed Friday of last week to look after some business matters in the west and northing was heard from him until this Monday when a telephone call came from Mr. Stites to Elmer Withrow, who is in charge of the business here, asking how things were progressing and saying that Mr. Stites would be home in due time.

Putting in His Wheat Crop.

Sterling Harris who has been out in Lancaster county cutting fodder with his machine where he just completed harvesting 350 acres went out and brought his machine to Avoca where he is allowing a man to use it on shares. Sterling had to come home to sow his wheat crop which he is preparing the land for this week. As soon as the wheat is in Mr. Harris expects to begin picking his corn for which he has a machine.

Passing Her Natal Day.

On Tuesday of this week Mrs. Jennie Frans, mother of D. Ray Frans, was passing her 79th birthday anniversary and is feeling fine and able to get about and look after her home, doing her own work and feeling pretty well.

Play Ball Here Saturday.

The Giant Collegians of Pine Ridge, Louisiana, a colored baseball team from the sunny south played the Union team a very spirited game which brought five runs for the visitors and three for the home lads.

Sowing His Wheat Crop.

Ray Bramblett who operates the amusement parlor in Union, was closed on last Monday while he was at the farm home north of town and was putting his wheat crop in. He was taking time when there was little doing at the business and getting the work done on the farm.

HEAR FROM FACULTY

The men of the Plattsmouth high school faculty were the guests of the Rotary club Tuesday at their weekly luncheon, who joined in the welcome to the members back for this year and a greeting to the new members.

Superintendent L. S. Devoc, member of Rotary presented the men of the school to the club.

Principal J. R. Reeder gave a short talk on behalf of the faculty and told of the work of the school and many interesting facts of the term now opening.

H. C. Burgess, the athletic coach of the school, spoke briefly and gave a very fine outline of the work of his department and the fine points of the game of football in which he is now busy training the local squad.

Lee Meyers, new member of the faculty, who is teaching the musical department of the schools, gave two very fine numbers that were much enjoyed and showed fine musical talent. Miss Catherine Kinsey was the accompanist.

Don Armstrong, L. M. Gerner and Milo Price, members of the faculty, also greeted the Rotarians. Midshipman James M. Robertson, II was a guest of his uncle, Dr. R. P. Westover.

GOES TO HOSPITAL

From Tuesday's Daily—
