Golden Jubilee a Success
Elmwood did herself proud in the carrying out of the Golden Jubilee celebration last week. There were large crowds here each of the two days and everyone went home feeling they had been well entertained and royally treated. The program was carried out nicely. There was no disorderly conduct of any kind to mar the occasion, and the duties of the police were confined to directing the crowds. In the amusement line, there was ample variety to interest everyone, one of the highlights being the Model T Ford hazard races that brought thrills to the spectators. The Junior Drum and Bugle corps from Plattsmouth was applauded for their splendidly executed drill on the closing night. The refreshment stands did a fine business and the two church organizations operating them were able to realize nice sums with which to carry on the work of the church.

The success of the entire show is directly attributable to the splendid co-operation that was shown by the business men, citizens and farmers. All pulled together in fine shape and success crowned their efforts, as it always does when groups of citizens really work together for the common good.

FISHING EDEN ENVISIONED ON TEXAS GOLF COAST
AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—The Texas game commission is going ahead with plans to make the Texas Gulf Coast "fishing paradise of the world."

The commission has requested that U. S. army engineers survey the site of a proposed channel across Padre Island which would carry fresher water into Laguna Madre. Summer evaporation in Laguna Madre now makes the water so salty that many fish die. A similar channel is being cut near Corpus Christi.

Wabash News

August Wendt reported some damage done at his place last Tuesday by the stiff wind which preceded the rain storm that came early in the evening.

Floyd Williams, who resides several miles north of Wabash has begun the reconstruction of a number of his farm buildings which were greatly damaged by the high wind a couple of weeks ago.

Louis Schmidt was busy the greater part of last week with the construction of silos for Wm. Westfall and Gust Stock. A number of other farmers are waiting until he can get time to construct one for them.

The heavy wind that preceded the rain storm last Tuesday evening destroyed a part of the windmill at the farm of Mrs. Theresa Rauth, of York, which is located between Wabash and Manley and is rented to Lawrence Earhart.

Harry Dehning and family, who have been making their home in the western part of the state, have moved to Cass county and are located at present in the Homer Lawton house in Wabash. They expect to remain here for the winter while looking for a location this coming summer.

She wind which preceded the rain last Tuesday evening shook many bushels of apples from the trees at the Schmidt place, causing Mrs. Schmidt to hustle to care for them, as they were not fully ripened and had to be put up promptly to save them from spoiling.
