Undergoes Serious Operation. Word was received here the first of the week that Mrs. C. W. Bish (Blanch Berry Bish) of Denver, had undergone a serious operation, from which she did not rally quickly, and not much hope was given for her recovery. The latest word, however, is that she has taken a turn for the better, and those with her feel much encouraged over her present condition.

Curtain Catches Fire. The L. P. Wolcott family had what might have proved to be a serious fire Monday evening, when, just after returning home from the concert at the high school auditorium, a fire, which originated in the living room of their home, burned the curtain at the west window, and the cover of a table which stood next to the window. As the walls and wood work was also badly burned it was thought to be defective wiring. Quick work by members of the family soon extinguished the fire.

Woman's Club Program. What will always be remembered as one of the Weeping Water Woman's club's outstanding programs for the year was the lecture given Tuesday afternoon at the Chief Theatre, by Miss Marjorie Shanafelt, of the University of Nebraska on "Marionettes and Hand Puppets."

As the subject is one on which the average club woman is not well informed she brought much of interest, and proved the educational value of puppets, telling how they are one of the oldest known methods of entertainment.

Pictures of puppets of different nations were thrown on the screen, while Miss Shanafelt explained their use, after which she gave an exhibition of the actual working of marionettes on an improvised stage on the platform of the theatre, and with her assistant proved without doubt, that puppets may be made to represent human beings, and to carry messages, as was their original use.

A large crowd was present to hear the lecture. Mrs. Harold Bowers was the hostess for the meeting, and it was through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Bowers that the meeting was held at the Chief Theatre.

Welfare Society Meets. Welfare Society met in the basement of the M. E. church Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Ralph Keckler, Mrs. H. A. Harmon, Mrs. Rasmus Lauritzen and Mrs. L. R. Wiseman as hostesses. The afternoon was spent piecing quilts. This group of women are busy preparing comforts for those in need, and their work extends over the entire year. They give aid to those in need, in many ways, by furnishing Christmas baskets, by extending financial aid in emergencies, by donating comforts to those in need, and in many more ways of which the public is not always aware. Theirs is a good work, and many can tell of benefits received.

Enjoying Reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Livingston are enjoying a reunion with all of their family at home this week. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Livingston, and daughter Nancy, of Enid, Oklahoma, and Jesse Livingston, of Columbia, Missouri, are spending a few days at home. They expect to leave Friday. Monday was spent in Lincoln visiting friends and relatives.

Visited at Lincoln Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Jones were in Lincoln last Sunday enjoying a visit at the home of their son, Clifford James and wife as well as the children enjoying a visit for the day.

Off From Work With Mumps. Forest Stock who has been assistant at the Handy service station, was recently taken with the mumps and so serious that he was compelled to remain home and was in bed for a number of days. During his absence Russell Van Every, who is attending the state university at Lincoln had to take a week's vacation and assist with work at the station, which his father, Wm. Van Every manages.

Home From the West. John Cole and John Marquardt, the latter of Avoca, who delivered three automobiles to Long Beach a short time ago, after the delivery visited for a time in that vicinity. They arrived home last Sunday night after enjoying a very pleasant trip. They were able to get passage from Long Beach to Lincoln with a car that was coming through and from Lincoln were able to ride to Weeping Water with Glen Hennegar who with Richard Cole conduct a service station in Lincoln, as Glen was coming over to Weeping Water.

Down Town Every Day. Uncle Wm. Frizzel, 94 years young last August 15, notwithstanding his advanced years, gets down town every day and meets his friends. He is probably the only remaining veteran of the Civil war residing in Cass county, having served through the entire war.

New Enterprise for Weeping Water. Weeping Water is indeed fortunate in that she has gotten a new school house in progress of building, with the community building, a sewerage system, the highway paved through the city and now another very much needed institution just commencing, a refrigerator locker system. One has been in operation at Murdock for some time and which has proved a success. Noting need of such an institution here, Knude Jensen has been investigating the matter, and has made purchase of the residence of Mayme Hillman just north of the property of Sterling J. Marshall on Main street and has had workmen tearing away a portion of it and remodeling the building which is to be turned into a modern refrigeration plant with a locker box system.

From Pacific to Atlantic.

Mrs. Ross Shields has a son in the navy who has been on the west coast, Jack Clifford, who with the fleet has been transferred from the Pacific ocean to the Atlantic ocean, passing through the Panama canal and then on to Cuba where the fleet will remain for some thirty days after which they will proceed to New York. Mrs. Shields was happy to receive a letter from her son via air mail early this week in which the son gave a fine description of the trip from one ocean to another.

Enjoy Musical Entertainment.

Every available seat was taken at the high school auditorium Monday evening when the orchestra, band and glee clubs combined to give one of the best entertainments which has been given in Weeping Water for a number of years.

From the time that Jean Jones lifted his baton to lead the first number of the orchestra, which was "Forge Master" and all through the program until the finale "When the Poeman Bares His Steel" from the Uirates of Penzance, which was sung by the high school mixed chorus, the audience followed with interest, and expressed their pleasure at the close of each number.

Each number was worthy of special mention, if space would permit. Dorothy Everett in her cornet solo "Josephine"; Junior Sloan, soloist in "Bells of the Sea"; George Olive and Lyman Lorenson in their trumpet and trombone duets, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" and "I Love Life"; Doris Marshall in her piano solo, "The Old Refrain"; Miss Edna Jones and Jean J. Jones in their duet "The Witch's Flight"; Lyman Lorenson's solos "Uncle Rufus Jubilee" and "The Lost Chord"; all need special mention, while a new singer in our high school, Maurice Shirley captured his audience with his tenor solo, "Little Town in the Auld Country Down." The fine quality of his voice, his excellent diction and his pleasing stage presence brought forth repeated calls for another song.

The work of the choruses was especially good. Novelty numbers were introduced, which varied the program and pleased the audience. Each brought fresh applause. Miss Mary Allen was accompanist and her efficient work at the piano was one of the highlights of the evening.

The station has been taken over by Basil Lather, who has heretofore made his home in Weeping Water, but moving here to take charge of the station a few days ago.

Home From the South.

Harry M. Knabe and Chester Stone, who have been looking over the south as well as transacting some business there, visiting in southern Kansas and Oklahoma, found that there had been good rains coming there for about four days out of the week, which had soaked the soil nicely and in conversation with wheat farmers of that section were told that they had sufficient moisture to mature in excellent shape their wheat crop for this year, and are very jubilant over the conditions prevailing.

A Short Tale, Well Told.

An observing young man gave us the following short, but very sad, story, which he says marked the grave of a tourist:
Here lies the body of Jonathan Gray, He died defending his right-of-way, He was right, dead right, As he sped along
But he is just as dead as if he had been wrong.

Better have a care whether you are right or wrong.

Three Quarters of a Century Here.

Andrew F. Sturm was born on the Sturm homestead on February 7, 1864, that was during the civil war and has resided in and near Nehawka all his life. He was 75 years of age Tuesday and was receiving the congratulations of his many friends in and about Nehawka where he has chosen to make his home his entire life thus far, and we doubt if he could have done better or found a more congenial set of friends and neighbors had he traveled from Maine to California or from the lakes to the gulf. He is hale and hearty and able to tackle any hard task at this period in life. Here's to you Andy, may you live many more happy, useful years.

Ill in Western Hospital.

J. Stuart Rough, a man who has made his home in Nehawka and vicinity for most of his life, and who ceased active work a few years ago, visiting with his children in many places, departed some two months ago for Los Angeles where he is visiting with his son Stuart B. Rough. He was taken ill and compelled to submit last Friday to a major operation from which he has rallied nicely, but it is claimed he must remain in the hospital for some three weeks yet. His many friends here are hoping for a speedy and permanent recovery.

Sketch of Alice Shrader.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 at the Otter-being church north of Nehawka, for Mrs. Alice Shrader, 82, pioneer of Cass county. Alice Albin, daughter of Benjamin and Mary Ann Albin, was born September 21, 1856 at the settlement of Kenosha, northeast of where now is located the town of Union, and died February 1st, 1939, at Denver, Colorado, where she had made her home with her son, George Shrader.

She was one of the first white children born in what is now Cass county and has lived her lifetime in this community, a loved and highly respected figure. Her birthplace was a log cabin erected when the parents came to this section to make their home and to have a great part in the building of this part of the west.

She was married to Joseph A. Shrader on February 8, 1872 and they lived together in happiness for fifty-seven years on the farm five miles north of Nehawka, where Mr. Shrader passed away.

Mr. and Mrs. Shrader were the parents of ten children, three of whom have preceded the mother in death. The surviving children are Benjamin, Boulder, Colo.; Mrs. Dora Murray, Parsons, Kansas; William H. Oakley, Kansas; Mrs. Eva Ford, Laramie, Wyo.; Mrs. Fern Gish, Weeping Water; George A., Denver, and Lester, Nehawka. Thirty grandchildren, thirty-eight great grandchildren and two great great grandchildren survive as well as two brothers, Carter Albin, Union and Frank A. Albin, Hartington, Nebraska.
