

High School Students OK as Story Tellers

Members of English Classes Visit the Grade Schools for Entertainment of Younger Students.

A group of young people of the Plattsmouth high school, who comprise two sections of English II classes and who are at the present time studying narration, have collected and prepared a number of interesting stories, story telling being one form of narration. These pupils prepared these stories carefully and then addressed a number of younger pupils in the grade schools of the city.

Lamir Gerner, instructor of English II, made the following assignments of grade schools in which the pupils spoke:

Ronald Lester addressed the seventh grade boys of which Miss Helene Perry is instructor and spoke on the topic, "My Wild Animal's Guests."

"The Gay Old Dog," was the topic discussed to the tenth grade girls of Miss Pohlman's class by Clayton Sack.

Jimmy Maury spoke before Miss Sylvia Korbel's kindergarten class on "The Showmaker and the Elves."

Miss Jane Oakes' room had the pleasure of hearing an address given by Miss Betty Farris on "How Tommy Saved the Barn."

Coach Bion Hoffman's class had the opportunity of hearing an original story, "The Duster," given by Albin Chovanec.

Miss Marie Lenz addressed Miss Selma Diehm's pupils on the subject "The Red Fox."

"The Masque of Red Death," a story presented by Joseph Noble to the eighth grade of Miss Uben, was heard.

The second guest speaker in Miss Sylvia Korbel's kindergarten class was Carter Minor who addressed her pupils on "Rabbit That Wanted Red Wings."

"How Miss Tabitha Cat Taught School," a topic chosen by Miss Emma Reine Topf was given by her to Miss Amelia Marten's class.

Miss Evelyn Engelkemier spoke before Miss Horn's room on the subject "Amelia and the Dwarf."

"What a Lame Boy Did for His Country," was the subject thoroughly discussed by Charles McClain to Miss Horn's room, he being the second guest speaker.

Miss Marie Nolting had Eugene McNair as a guest speaker before her class. He spoke to the young people on "Bare Skin."

Miss Rose Prohaska's room had Miss Josephine Waga as its guest speaker and who addressed the children on "Rikki Tikki-Ti."

Miss Nolting's room had Miss Shirley Leonard as its second guest speaker and she addressed the group on "The Knights of Silver Shield."

"Ferdinand the Bull," was discussed to the class of Miss Amelia Marten's room by their second guest speaker, Miss Frances Solomon.

Miss Berniece Halmes spoke before Miss Marie Nolting's room on the subject, "The Old Piper."

Miss Garnette Clare's room had as its guest speaker Miss Florence Fisher and she addressed the youngsters on "The Pumpkin Giant."

"The Little Braggart," an interesting story, was given by Miss Betty Jo Libershal to Miss Agnes Muenster's class.

James Yelick, Thomas Gradoville, and Leroy Bashus presented a clever skit entitled "The Three Little Bears" to the Columbian school children and their teachers.

Norman Baker addressed Miss Horn's room on "The Twin Brothers."

Miss Dorothy Glock's room had as its guest speaker George Downs who addressed her pupils on "Fleet Foot, the Cave Ball."

Misses Vesta Covert and Alice Rea addressed Miss Bauer's and Mrs. Cummins' rooms in the Wintersteen Hill school. They spoke on "All Baba," and "The Star Robbers," respectively.

Other young people who addressed pupils of the various grades were Misses Shirley Walling, Verona Tolman, Helen Johnson, Peggy Willes, Dorothy Turner, Joyce Seydlitz, Jacqueline Wetenkamp, and Edwin Hiber.

The latter group addressed the Central building pupils on Monday and the former group was heard Friday at their respective rooms of each school.

The talks were all enjoyed by the pupils of each room as well as their instructors.

VISITS IN BOYHOOD HOME

Saturday afternoon W. R. McKinney and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKinney, of Los Angeles, arrived in Plattsmouth for a visit over Sunday with old friends.

Plattsmouth is the boyhood home of W. R. McKinney or "Roy," as he is better remembered by the old friends. He graduated here in 1904 and later removed to the west coast where he has been engaged in the restaurant business until a short time ago when he retired. The party is en route to Pontiac, Michigan, to secure a new car and in which Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKinney will drive back to Los Angeles. On the return trip Mr. McKinney will probably stop for a longer visit with the old friends.

Mr. McKinney in his boyhood days served as clerk at the now Hotel Plattsmouth and was one of the best known and popular of the young men of the community.

DEATH OF AGED MAN

From Tuesday's Daily—Early this morning Clinton C. Branaman, 65, who has been here for the past few days died at the home where he has been under treatment. The man has been living and working in the vicinity of Murdock and Louisville and was brought here Friday night by Sheriff Joe Mrasek.

The sheriff, investigating the case, found that the man was quite ill at the place near Murdock where he resided and he was accordingly brought on here for care. The only known relative is Clark C. Branaman of Charles City, Iowa, a son and whom it is hoped to be able to contact. The man was taken to the Sattler funeral home to await the funeral arrangements and word from the relatives.

ATTENDS BANKERS MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Schneider were at St. Edward and Norfolk Saturday and Sunday, stopping for a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Burdick and family. Mr. Schneider was at Norfolk on Saturday to attend a meeting of the third district bankers and where a large group of the members of the banking interests of northeastern Nebraska were present. Carl D. Ganz, of the Farmers & Merchants bank of Alvo, was one of the speakers on the interesting program.

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Mrs. Henrietta Ofe, who has been at Omaha under treatment at a hospital, has so far recovered that she was able to return home Saturday afternoon. She has progressed very nicely and is pleased to be home with the family and old friends. Mrs. Ofe is at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ofe.

PARENTS OF SON

From Tuesday's Daily—Mr. and Mrs. Hey Mays have been made the proud parents by the birth of a son to them early this morning. The mother and little one are doing very nicely at the family home where the little one was born. Mrs. Mays was the former Miss Mary Ina Chancellor.

BIBLE CLASS ELECTS

Monday evening the Young Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church met at the club rooms of the church for the 33rd annual meeting since a group of then young boys had dug out the case bank beneath the church and started their club room and class back in 1906.

The reports of the year in membership and activities as well as finance were read and offered some very interesting facts for the class membership. The reports were given by Secretary W. L. Heinrich.

The election of officers resulted in the naming of the following: President—Harry White. Vice-President—Thornton Baker. Secretary—Robert Hall. Treasurer—Ward Whelan. Fellowship Chairman—W. L. Heinrich.

Music Chairman—Don C. York. E. H. Wescott, the first teacher of the class was named again for the post that he has so faithfully discharged through the long years and by his faithful work kept the class together in their fine work in the community.

Motion pictures were shown by Emil J. Weyrich from his private travel pictures as well as views of the holy land, very interesting to all of the group. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

"Paul Crosses into Europe"

Acts 15:36; 16:4-15. The hour has struck that the church of Jesus Christ take another step forward, in bringing the Gospel to "all nations." It is a momentous decision, conceived in the mind of God. His messenger is prepared and anxious to go. A visitation to the churches already established is proposed by Paul to which Barnabas agrees. Here follows an incident that has puzzled many a pious soul, how two such fast friends could fall out, about a trivial matter of choosing workers.

Barnabas suggests that they take John Mark, his nephew, with them, which Paul thought unwise, because he had proven himself unreliable, as he had deserted them on the first missionary tour. This incident proves that two sincere souls may differ in their opinions, and still be true friends.

This quarrel turned out to the furtherance of the Kingdom, for instead of one gospel team, there are now two. Paul chose Silas for a companion and Barnabas took John Mark with him. The latter went to the island of Cyprus, where we lose them. Paul and Silas go into a great mission field, which proves to us that Paul was right.

We follow Paul and Silas—or Silvanus—in their travels. (We think it not important enough to trace their route on the map, but rather confine our study to their work). They visited the churches Paul had established, strengthened the converts in the Lord, by exhortation to follow the rules laid down by the council at Jerusalem; and then they started for new fields, which were not God's choice. Finally at Troas they received definite orders where to go. Passing through Lystra, Paul picks up Timothy, and at Troas Luke is added to the company. In verse 10 is noted the little word "We." Here the writer includes himself in the company. (Some scholars contend the man of Macedonia was Luke himself). These four missionaries are making their way under guidance of the Holy Spirit to their new field of labor. The hour for the torch (the gospel) to enlighten Europe has come. When this company entered Philippi, the prophesy of Isa. 9:2 was fulfilled—"the people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined."

From that day the Gospel light has gone westward until it has encircled the globe. The face of the earth has been changed since that remarkable day. No pen is able to record the effect and result of this event. This firebrand (Paul) did set the world on fire, turned it upside down—the devil in Eden had turned the world wrong side up. Forces were set in motion that reach eternity's shore. Kingdoms and continents have since bowed to the King of Kings. 700,000,000 people worship Him and live in the hope of spending eternity in His presence. All this and more through "Paul, the servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God." (Rom. 1:1).

We note their entrance into Philippi—there is no synagogue here, not even ten Jews, but a little prayer group by a little river, outside the city.

Here is the beginning of evangelizing Europe. What a small beginning. Discouraging? No. The Kingdom of God is likened to a mustard seed—give it soil and time to grow. The first efforts of the meetings—only a woman—yes, but the women are the backbone of the church, they are the teachers of our Sunday schools, they keep the missionary spirit alive in the church, while the men stand idly in the market place and tell us "Nobody has hired us." Why don't they go and find a job, or make jobs? There is plenty of work waiting for them in the church. It's a pity that too many men are only "stepbrothers" to the church; they let the women and children go to church; will the religion of their wives do them any good? This converted woman brought her whole household with her into the Kingdom. Her home, the first home for preachers. God bless her! Her heart was right. But persecution and suffering followed the joy of the gracious revival—soon we find the preachers beaten, in jail, their feet in stocks—but happy, singing and praying—praying for a revival.

God answered their prayers with an earthquake, and a penitent jailor asked: "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" And, forthwith, the revival was on. Any place, any time God's spirit finds souls, either by the river side or in a jail—the most unlikely place of all. The banquet in the early morning in the jailor's home, the kindly treatment these preachers received, then the baptism of the whole family made them forget all their suffering; then the escorting by the magistrates from the jail—altogether a great victory for the gospel.

That is the beginning of the march of the church—one-third of the world's population, is nominally Christian, and yet there is room—are you in the Kingdom?

from this city. A number of other close friends and associates will be present at the wedding of this well known former Plattsmouth young man.
