

A JOYOUS OCCASION.

Wedding of Mr. O. A. Brown and Miss Anna Coleman.

THE WORK OF A HUMORIST.

He Caught a Large String of Suckers on a Postoffice Appointment Ball—The B. & M. Will Soon Build—Other Local Affairs.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Coleman on West Locust street was the scene of a happy event at eight o'clock last evening, at which hour the marriage of their daughter, Anna, to Mr. Oscar A. Brown was consummated in the presence of some forty of the relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties. Rev. D. S. Davis of the M. E. church of this city officiated.

After congratulations the guests adjourned to the dining room and were treated to a sumptuous wedding supper, prepared with excellent taste.

The groom and bride are held in high esteem by many acquaintances, and THE JOURNAL voices the sentiments of the entire community in wishing them much happiness and prosperity. They will make their home on Locust street, between Eighth and Ninth streets, at which place they will be "at home" to their many friends, after May 1st.

A Cruel Joke.

Some humorist whose identity is unknown created quite a flurry in democratic circles this afternoon by inscribing with chalk on the big bulletin board in the court house a purported copy of a telegram sent by C. W. Sherman, who is now at the national capital, to THE JOURNAL, which gave the information that Mayor Butler had been appointed to the Plattsmouth postmastership, and that the president's decision would be made known tomorrow. The friends of Mr. Butler became exceedingly jubilant while the followers of Mr. Fox, the other applicant, were correspondingly down-hearted, and representatives of both clans to the number of thirteen dozen made a bee-line for these headquarters to inquire as to the authenticity of the report. Needless to remark (for there is thought to be no danger of the appointment being made within the next century) the visitors were promptly informed that no such telegram had been received by THE JOURNAL, and now they are hunting for the alleged humorist.

Silver novelties at A. L. Coleman's.

Will Take Up the Work.

D. S. Guild, supply agent for the B. & M., with headquarters in this city, departed for Sheridan, Wyoming, today and expects to be absent for a week or more. The rumor has been current in railroad circles for some time past that the Burlington would soon recommence work on its new extension to Billings, Montana, where it will connect with the Great Northern railway, and from another B. & M. official THE JOURNAL learns that Mr. Guild's trip to Sheridan is to purchase supplies in the way of ties and timber for the purpose of pushing the new line to an early completion.

IN AND AROUND THE TOWN.

BELLEVUE IN THE BOOM.
"Bellevue is not dead, neither sleeping," said ex-Senator Clarke, who visited Papillion relatives last Sunday. "It is a sure thing that an electric line will be built from South Omaha to our town during the coming summer, and we have assurances from scores of heads of families in South Omaha that they will build homes in Bellevue just as soon as they can be assured of cheap and rapid transportation between the village and the city. At our late election we chose a license board of trustees. We will now have one licensed saloon, and boot-legging will no longer prove profitable in our town."—Papillion Times.

BACK AT HIS OLD JOB.

Tobias Castor, who has temporarily given up the job of distributing federal patronage is now buying the right of way for the B. & M. railway south of this city, where they want to move their track back from the river. Tobias was in the city today and says that he is out of politics.—Nebraska City News.

THE JOURNAL has secured the services of Mr. J. W. Johnson, who will act as canvasser and collector throughout the county. JOURNAL subscribers can rest assured that all transactions made through Mr. Johnson will be acceptable to its proprietors.

Everybody is getting ONTO and INTO those $7.50 suits at Wescott's, and to kind of prolong the fun and meet the wants of some people who are a little late, Wescott has added seventy-five suits to the first lot, all to be sacrificed and sold at $7.50. Not a suit in the lot but what is perfect, and would cost by the car load 25 cents more than we ask for them. And its no joke, as Wescott, you know, does precisely what he advertises to do, and no monkey business. The 100 boys' suits, just placed on sale at $5.00, will save dollars and dollars to the boys.

The remains of the late Henry D. Gilmore, whose death occurred Monday at Lincoln, were brought to this city Tuesday morning over the B. & M., and were interred in Oak Hill cemetery under the auspices of the G. A. R. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Captain O'Rourke of this city and also of the departed and much noted band director, P. S. Gilmore.

Old gold or silver bought or taken in exchange for goods. A. L. COLEMAN.

The Kelly army was booked to leave Council Bluffs today, and as none of the railroads have come forward with offers of transportation, it is extremely probable that the men will be forced to walk. Commander Kelly gives it out that they will eventually capture a freight train and thus ride into Chicago, and for this reason the movements of the army will bear close watching.

The insane commission decided yesterday that Conrad Lauer was insane and the man was accordingly taken to the Lincoln asylum this morning by Sheriff Eikenbary.

WHAT! SPRING?

Yes, spring is here, and I must say to you that if you fail to see my stock of wall paper and room mouldings before you buy, you will surely regret it when you see my paper. Owing to the extremely hard times I think it wise to reduce the price of paper and place it in reach of everyone. You should not overlook the fact that if you would invest a few cents in room moulding it will add fifty per cent. to the appearance of your rooms. Remember the place for low prices.

We Have Every Thing in Cass.
The Plattsmouth News clipped the item we published about the discovery of kaolin (china clay) in Missouri, and adds: "The News ought to get posted on home affairs. Capt. Hoover at Louisville, has as fine a bed of pure kaolin as could be desired. He has some choice specimens of chinaware made from it and the supply is practically inexhaustible, as it underlies thousands of acres of land near Louisville, in many places being but a few inches below the surface of the ground." We are very much obliged to our namesake for the information, as it is the general impression that Cass county contained nothing but farmland and immense coal beds.—Nebraska City News.

COLLEGE HILL.

August Wendt of Chadron came here to see his old friends, and is spending a week or so with them.
Henry Lehnhoff, jr., of the University of Lincoln spent a few days last week with his parents at College Hill.
Plenty of rain lately, and grain looks well. We will state that the prospects for fruit are good, except as to peaches.
Miss Maggie Blessington and Miss Hauss of Plattsmouth attended the College Hill Catholic church Sunday last.

A young German working for Anton Wallinger came very near being killed a few days ago by taking a loaded gun by the wrong end and pulling the same toward him. The gun went off and the load of shot went by his head. One shot lodged in his arm and one in his leg.

A great deal of nursery stock has found its way into this immediate neighborhood and surrounding country furnished by Mr. McLaughlin, our Irish poet and fruit tree dealer. "The best we have ever seen," is the unanimous saying of every one who bought of him. Mac is a scholar and an honest gentleman.

Some thirty members of the College Hill Catholic church met at the parsonage Monday and surrounded the grounds with a good fence, set out ornamental and fruit trees, planted potatoes and made garden for the Rev. Father Nugent. The place looks beautiful and is a credit to the congregation and the surrounding country.

Miss Ellen Bates of Weeping Water, a convert to the Catholic church, was baptised Sunday last by Rev. Father Nugent.

Watches and jewelry repaired in a first-class manner. A. L. COLEMAN.

County Clerk Dickson and Chas. Richey have purchased the Marconit lumber and coal yard at Louisville and have formed a partnership, to be known as Richey & Dickson, under which name the business will be operated in the future. Mr. Richey will attend to the business, and in him Louisville will secure an excellent young business man.

Try us for light harness. We use the very best of leather and employ only first-class workmen. The prices will please. FRED GORDER & SON, Plattsmouth.

The local canning company has arranged to operate the plant the coming season, and the output will be much larger than that of last year. THE JOURNAL trusts that the season's profit may be enough to warrant the company in running the works on an increased scale for next year.
