MR. FOLTZ don't want to 1un for representative, but he ought to, nevertheless. The people's wishes ought to rule in this case.

THE supposition is that Senator Hill will be the democratic nominee for governor of New York at the approaching convention. It would be a good thing to have him beaten out of his boots, just to take the conceit out of him. If there ever was a complete hypocrite in politics Dave Hill is the man.

WHAT IS DEMOCRACY?

Democracy is the rule of the people. In Nebraska the voice of democracy this year is in favor of forming a combination with all the elements of opposition to republican rule. The great majority of the party throughout the state has already spoken in unmis takable lauguage in favor of that policy. Every man who believes in the democratic rule of the majority within the lines of the party as well as in general governmental affairs is in duty bound to stand by that decision of the majority of his party associates and help to accomplish the result of overthrowing dishonest and boodle govern-hesitation about it-no halting between two opinions. Patriotism as well as party discipline demand this action. As J. Sterling Morton said in 1990--"the elements of opposition to continued republican rule should get together." No "middle of the road' policy is justifiable. Let us clean out senate.

Accouding to the Independent, Nebraska City has an intelligent republican who gives as his reason for being against the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 that the present size of the silver dollar was "large enough." "If the government would make it sixteen times larger than it is at the present time," says this bright political economist, "it would be teo large, as a man that was lucky enough to have five or six of them would have too much of a load to carry."

EDITOR POLK is to be congratulated As a populist leader he is a success. On Saturday last he was again at the populist county convention and had the Plattsmouth delegation vote to suit his wishes, and his delegation exercised the deciding vote in the convention. The only thing he failed in-and that was the main reason for his taking such an active part in the matter-was in getting the populists to put up a candidate for county attorney against Mr. Travis.

THE New York democracy gave David B. Hill the gubernatorial nomination yesterday, and there is hardly any doubt of David Bennett's triumphant election. Here is a smooth politician. He knows that to carry New York state this fall will make him a formidable candidate for the presidency in '96. To carry the state under the present adverse circumstances will give considerable weight to his claims and perhaps secure his nomination two years hence. You can bank on Dave Hill every time.

passes and postoffice promises, the democratic state convention was so constituted as to pass resolutions endorsing the president in promoting the single gold standard, and practically condemning the course of the only democratic member of congress from this state in advocating bimetallismall because men in its leadership were seeking or holding government offices. After a year of discussion, and when the offices have all been doled out, the democrats of the state have come to themselves and now are found by a large majority on the side of the people and against gold monometallism. The masses have been heard from. They don't propose to be driven bodily out of the democratic party, but propose to be heard in vindication of their own right to rule and to honestly express their sentiments in behalf of fundamental democratic principles and the coinage of the constitution-gold and silver at 16 to 1. For a whole year they have stood under the odium of favoring a policy repugnant to their wishes and destructive of their interests. But now, thank God, they are freed from that stigma, and in the coming state convention will declare to the world the true doctrine of the democratic faith, in favor of the money of the fathers.
