MR. BRYAN'S OMAHA SPEECH

But if I am elected and a democratic congress with me, that congress will be pledged, as I will be, and I will call upon that congress to redeem that pledge; it will rise as one man and vote aye, and then we will say to the senate, "Will you obey or will you defy the will of the people?" There is hope if the people vote for it. There is no hope if they vote against this doctrine. (Applause.)

The republican party has also through its leaders defied the rank and file on the labor question. Let me show you what our party says, and I believe the republicans will agree with us; yes the republicans uphold us. Our party says that there ought to be a department of labor with a cabinet officer at its head. The republican party says no. I believe that our party is right. I believe republicans think so, that we should have a department of labor. We have a department of agriculture for the farmers; why not a department of labor for the laborers? They deserve a representative in the president's cabinet, and if I am president I want a representative of the toilers in my cabinet, that I may consult him on all questions that affect labor. (Great applause.) How many of you agree with us that there should be a department of labor in the cabinet? Let us see your hands.

(A large portion of the audience held up its hands.)

Now, is there a republican who will hold up his hand and say he thinks there ought to be no department of labor? Let us see.

(There were no hands.)

My friends, there seems to be an unanimous vote on this subject. I am glad to have the action of our convention indorsed. Here are four questions upon which there is practically no dissent among the mass of the people: First, for publicity; second, the election of senators by the people; third, a department of labor; fourth, the security of the depositor. Here are four important questions where we take one side and the republican convention takes the other. We believe that the anti-trust law should be so amended as to take the labor organization out from under the operation of that law. The republican party opposes us. What is our reason? Because the difference between a labor organization and the industrial combination called a trust is too great to allow one law to cover both. The labor organization is composed of human beings. The trust deals with matter and merchandise, and we are not willing that a man made in the image of his Creator, with heart and brain and soul, should be degraded to a level of dollars and cents. (Applause.)

We believe that the writ of injunction should not be issued in a labor dispute unless the conditions are such as would justify the injunction if there was no labor dispute. That is our position. The republicans oppose it. We say there should be a trial by jury in a case of indirect contempt. The republican leaders oppose it and Mr. Taft bitterly denounces it.

My friends, I spoke of Mr. Taft as to cure indigestion is largely due to the old theory that when the stomach becomes inactive it needs something to mechanically digest its contents, and cathartics, purgatives, etc., are used, which give only temporary relief, because they digest by irritating the lining of the stomach.

Modern science recognizes the fact that it is the nerves that furnish motive power to digest the contents of the stomach.

The nerves agitate and mix the food, and stimulate the secretions. When they become weakened they lack energy, and indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach result.

Dr. Miles'

Restorative Nervine

will relieve obstinate cases of indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach trouble by strengthening these nerves.

"I had severe stomach trouble. Dr. Miles' Nervine, and Nerve and Liver Pills cured me. I can now eat anything without trouble."

GALLOWAY'S

THE ONLY ENDLESS APRON FORGE FEED WAGON BOX MANURE SPREADER

Take my hand and signature and bond on that—as legal binding as any contract ever made on earth. My Wagon Box Spreader is made in three sizes—capacity 50 to 60 bushels. It is built to last a lifetime and it fits any truck or high wheeled wagon—narrow or wide tread. It's the lightest draft and simplest machine made. For those who want a larger spreader, I have just perfected a 60 or 70 bushel pattern, complete with trucks.

It's new. It's in a class by itself. It has all the merits of the famous Galloway Spreaders with some additional exclusive features that will interest you. It is 45 inches wide and has adjustable bolster stakes. Ask for full information about this new machine—all explained in my New Free Spreader Catalog for 1908-9.

the father of government by injunction. I had heard him called that. I thought it had become sufficiently established, so I used it, but I saw a few days ago that he took exception to what I said and denies that he was the father of government by injunction. He said he had not invented it—that some one else had, and that he simply followed precedent. I am so anxious to observe the proprieties in this contest that I am not going to call him that any more, because he has objected to it. But, my friends, he used the writ so often and so willingly that I believe he is a blood relative of some kind and I will let him fix the degree of relationship. (Applause.)

For eleven years laboring men have asked legislation of congress and congress has refused it. In their convention at Chicago they rejected the appeal of the laboring men, and the men whom they nominated for president and vice president are among the most objectionable they could find to the laboring man. I believe our party is right. We ask for these things, not for the benefit of the laborer alone but for the benefit of society.

How can we have harmonious co-operation between employer and employee except on the basis of justice? We are asking for justice for those who toil, that labor and capital may
