Pretty faces are daily seen about us marred and marked with pimples, blotches and eruptions.

Senator LaFollette has interested himself in the case against his colleague.

Joseph W. Blythe, general consul for the Burlington railroad system and for many years a prominent citizen of Burlington, Iowa, died suddenly while on a hunting trip.

Congress met in special session March 15. The tariff will be the special subject under consideration, although Representative Crumpacker of Indiana says he will re-introduce the census bill which Mr. Roosevelt vetoed.

Oyster Bay dispatches say that Mrs. Roosevelt and children with the exception of Mrs. Longworth and Theodore, Jr., will spend most of the time while Mr. Roosevelt is in Africa, visiting in Italy.

A Boston dispatch carried by the Associated Press says: "In connection with a movement to establish an old age pension system, former United States Senator C. W. Hinds of Mississippi was in this city. Mr. Hinds has embodied his views in a bill which, together with a strong petition bearing the names of citizens in all parts of the country, he proposes to present to the coming extra session of congress. The bill provides for the creation of an 'old age inquiry pension commission,' to be composed of five persons to be appointed by the president of the United States, with the advice and consent of the senate. This commission would be instructed to make a comprehensive investigation of the condition of all persons over the age of sixty years in the United States and report to congress."

Congress met in special session March 15. In spite of the fact that a number of republicans rebelled against the re-adoption of the Cannon rules, Joseph G. Cannon was re-elected speaker. As soon as Speaker Cannon took the chair Dalzell (rep.) of Pennsylvania moved to adopt the old rules. The democrats, under the leadership of Champ Clark and supported by a number of insurgent republicans, voted against Dalzell's motion and it was defeated amid great cheering by democrats and their allies. After a heated debate Fitzgerald of New York proposed what he called an amendment to the old rule. Practically the Fitzgerald amendment provides no relief from "Cannonism." Fitzgerald and several other democrats, together with several insurgent republicans, voted with Cannon republicans for the Fitzgerald amendment and it prevailed. Champ Clark's proposition to have the house itself appoint a committee of fifteen on rules was defeated. So in spite of all that has been said Cannon and "Cannonism" prevails.

and there are doubtless many more owners of such machines who will be glad to know that while such old machines have no actual value the DE LAVAL Company continues to make liberal "trade" allowances for them because of the opportunity such exchanges afford for the most practical illustration possible of the difference between good and poor separators and putting a stop to the sale of others like them in the same neighborhood. Nobody is injured through the re-sale of these old machines as they are simply broken-up and "scrapped" for their old metal value.

Then there are many thousands of DE LAVAL users who should know that they may exchange their out-of-date machines of from 10 to 25 years ago for the much improved, closer skimming, easier running and larger capacity machines of today.

Write in a description of your old machine—name, size and serial number—or see your DE LAVAL agent.

Two Men Make $10,000 Net in One Year From Onions

Two men came to Mission a year ago with two teams and a few hundred dollars in money, rented 43 acres of irrigated land, paying therefor $20 per acre rent, and planted Bermuda onions. Notwithstanding it was a year when the markets were unfavorable, these two men received net from each acre of onions the sum of $358.01. The men are W. P. Stites and W. E. Nicholson, whose address is Mission, Hidalgo County, Texas, and they will gladly verify these statements. Their 43 acres produced 34 car loads of onions, containing 17,061 crates, netting the growers $15,394.64, the commission men $1,320.00, the crate men $2,900.37 and the railroads $8,291.79. Off of these 43 acres of onions, Messrs. Stites and Nicholson paid their total living expenses, labor bills, rent, cost of crates, freight and all other incidental expenses, amounting to a little over $5,000 and for their one year's work, they put in bank something over $10,000. These men have now made enough to purchase their own lands on the LaLomita ranch at Mission, and are enthusiastic over the conditions and outlook for progressive farming at Mission.

The LaLomita lands at Mission are in the delta of the Rio Grande, and are rich sediment lands, with an abundance of river water for irrigation; in climate, fertility and products these lands are the equal of the Nile delta in Egypt. In truck growing this land produces earlier vegetables and fruits than any other part of the United States. Even as early as the first of January the Mission truck growers ship to northern markets carloads of cauliflower, cabbage, string beans and peas. Onions grown at Mission net from $200 to $500 per acre. Table grapes ripen two months earlier than in California, are shipped to northern markets early in June, and are also 1,000 miles nearer these markets than the California raised grapes.

We cordially invite your correspondence and investigation.
