

BRITISH LIQUOR EXPORTS SINCE U. S. WENT DRY

A special cable to The Washington Post and New York Herald, says: London, Jan. 29.—Since America went dry the export of England and Irish spirits has grown to be one of the greatest branches of British trade, and the countries nearest to the United States are taking the bulk of the exported intoxicants. Canada is far in the lead, with the Bahamas second and the West Indies a close third. Official figures compiled at the customs house show not only astonishing figures, but the astonishing increase of the exports for 1920 over those of 1919.

During the first eleven months of last year the number of gallons of whisky and gin exported to Canada was 1,564,740. This is three and one-half times the amount exported in 1919 and sent to Canada.

The same ratio of increase is recorded for the West Indies, where the exports for last year, including December, reached 107,039 gallons. The amount exported to the Bahamas last year was 118,599 gallons. Mexico also is in line, getting 34,436, compared to only 9,266 in 1919. Cuba did well with 43,709, and Panama's quota reached 17,863.

The greatest exportation, compared to the population, went to the Bahamas, which, excepting Canada, Australasia, South Africa and India, bought more than all the other British provinces put together.

CHARGE PROFITEERS TOOK MILLION FROM CHARITY

Charges that "somewhere between the American farmers and the starving millions of Europe some one took an extra 'rake-off' of $1 bushel on approximately 300,000,000 bushels of wheat" are printed in the current issue of Labor, official organ of the railroad brotherhoods.

It is declared that spokesmen of "big business" told farmers that the cause of the slump in wheat some months ago was due to a falling off of foreign demand.

An investigation, it is said, disclosed that 200,000,000 bushels had already been exported, and 100,000,000 had been purchased for future delivery at that time. The article states, in part:

"The farmers started on the trail of the facts. They found:

"The export price of wheat during November, 1919, averaged $2.31 per bushel, or the same month in 1920 the average was $2.61.

"The average price received by the farmer in November, 1919, was $1.70 a bushel. The average price in November, 1920, was about $1 per bushel.

"The European buyer paid 30 cents a bushel more for wheat and the American farmer received 70 cents less.

"It is estimated that $60,000,000 of this went to the railroads in increased freight rates under the Cummins-Esch law. The remainder was pocketed by the profiteers who controlled the banks and manipulated the grain exchanges."—Washington Star.

PURPOSE OF ANTI-BLUE LAW CROWD REVEALED

The first action taken by the so-called Anti-Blue Law association of Cincinnati after it was launched the other day was to pass a resolution protesting against the enactment of the Miller bill providing for a state bureau for the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Pretty good evidence, isn't it, that the old wet crowd is using the trumped-up agitation against the so-called blue laws to cover its agitation against the liquor laws.

The truth is, the enactment of Sunday blue laws are not contemplated in Ohio or any other state. There is no movement on the part of any religious societies or great organizations like the Anti-Saloon League to have such a law enacted, and yet all over the country organizations are being formed for the purpose of combating a movement which does not exist.

It is a safe guess that the whole scheme is being used by the wets for the purpose of organizing their forces under cover of a name designed to deceive the public.—American Issue.

JAPANESE "ADS"

Japanese advertisers believe in a lavish use of similes. "The paper we sell," runs the announcement in a Tokyo stationer's window, "is as solid as the hide of an elephant." "Step inside!" is the invocation of a big shop in the same city. "You will be welcomed as fondly as a ray of sunshine after a rainy day. Each one of our assistants is as amiable as a father seeking a husband for a dowryless daughter. Goods are dispatched to customers' houses with the rapidity of a shot from the cannon's mouth." A grocer proclaims that his "superfine, vinegar is more acid than the tongue of the most fiendish mother-in-law."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation. If you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 88 G Marcellus Avenue, Manassas, N. J.
