Three Talented Artists Joined in Designing This Lamp

and the wisdom that is condensed into one paragraph, especially with the help of a third illustration—the seed that fell among thorns?

He gives us an epitome of history. He knew nothing personally about the "scourge of this world" and "the deceitfulness of riches." He had no opportunity to learn from all people in all ages and in all lands that truth has ever been chocked by "the care of this world and the deceitfulness of riches." In one short sentence He gives us a knowledge that must come from on high.

AN OUTSTANDING SOCIAL TRUTH

This is the outstanding social truth with which the good of every generation has had to deal. Reforms of every nature come up from those who suffer, not down from those who profit by the abuses that need to be removed.

Occasionally a great soul comes out from among the aristocrats to thunder against aristocracy. Occasionally some scholar comes out from among the wealthy to plead the cause of the poor. But such figures are rare in history.

The heart knew not his own bitterness and neither mingled together, creates the pressure that finally swept away ob-

Strange that intelligent people should be so much lightly of the problems of life. Philosophy covers all the conditions and supplies rules for the solving of all our problems. Those who do not understand that experience, which afforded Christ an opportunity in the storm and of the mountains that awakened the inquiry, "What manner of man is this?" For He came to do for others and not to turn away and they obey Him.

Christ gives a description of the man who had for a long time been possessed of devils. He wore no clothes and made his habitation among the tombs. He, like others thus possessed, recognized Jesus as the Son of the Most High God and brought not to turn away. These unclean spirits which Christ had commanded to come out had not come out, for the poor man was naked, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness. In Christ's question, "Whom do you name?" He answered that it was "Legion," because many devils were abroad in the town.

A few years ago a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, made a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

The interest of this incident is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

Last week we considered Christ as the Great Missionary. Today we will take command of the mission of Christ because there are more souls ready to receive the glad tidings of great joy even to salvation. That description on a postcard went to one of the two events in our new period. He had taken the five loaves and the two fishes and fed the five thousand.

He had walked on the water of Galilee to his storm tossed disciples. He had foretold to the 13 he would be king, and death and resurrection. He had been transfigured before Peter and James and John. He had healed a little boy grievously stricken; He had called a little child to sit in His feet and talked to children forever in the kingdom of God and the heart of the world.

GOSPEL FOR EVERY-ONE

When those who were drawn to the place by the report of the miracles which He had done and the fact of "sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in His right mind, that was the poor man's gratitude and affection that He wanted to remain with Jesus; but the Master knew a return to his own house that he would reveal the witness among his own people how great things God hath done in this land.

And so the fame of the Great Missionary spread far and wide. After the journey from city to city and from village to village. He went about doing good to all people, saving those who were sick, giving sight to those who were blind and bringing hope and comfort and the joy of life to all those whose sins are a vexation of usefulness to those who have sinned, and the joy of life to all those whose eyes have been opened to see and whose ears have been opened to hear.

And everyone can follow in his footsteps and partake of the life that He revealed to men.

THE WORLD'S GREAT NEED

BIBLE TEXT—LESSON FOR THE 3RD WEEK

After those things the Lord appeared unto them two and two before His face into a bright shining space, and they knew not who he was.

Jesus said unto them, The kingdom of heaven is like unto a man which soweth good seed in his field; another day a strong wind did - (1880-1900) 12

Strange that intelligent people should be so much lightly of the problems of life. Philosophy covers all the conditions and supplies rules for the solving of all our problems. Those who do not understand that experience, which afforded Christ an opportunity in the storm and of the mountains that awakened the inquiry, "What manner of man is this?" For He came to do for others and not to turn away. These unclean spirits which Christ had commanded to come out had not come out, for the poor man was naked, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness. In Christ's question, "Whom do you name?" He answered that it was "Legion," because many devils were abroad in the town.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.

A few years ago I heard a speaker at a meeting held in the interest of a mission, make a new use of this particular exhibition of Christ's power. He measured the value of a soul by the value of the swine. It was a time when the price of hogs was higher than now and hogs were more valuable, but had rendered him so violent that he was often bound in chains; sometimes broken them and driven into the wilderness.

In this extraordinary case of healing is quite extended and ends with the drowning of a herd of swine into which the devils entered.