FACTIONS—PAST AND PRESENT.

The excuse that some Republicans make for opposing the nominees of the party is that the convention or machine was run by some party leader whom they do not like. That excuse or reason is not a good one, and if all members of party or other organizations would adhere to the idea of opposing the majority whenever some prominent party man happens to be dubbed a leader, or a factionist, then the party would seldom be successful; for the bolters by joining with the "common enemy" of the Republican party, can usually defeat the ticket although nominated by a fair majority of the party.

There are party leaders in every county just as there are in this; there always were and always will be; and when there are leaders there are always so-called factions. We have heard people, thoughtlessly, as we believe, deplore the fact that there are party leaders; but leaders of a party are just as necessary, for effective work and success, as leaders in any other organization. Party leaders are not only necessary but inevitable. People everywhere and in all the walks of life naturally look for leaders, through no personal favoritism, but as a representatives of ideas and principles, and they as naturally follow them as long as they are true to those principles and are successful in carrying them out.

There exists at this time considerable dissatisfaction in Nemaha county, amongst a portion of the party because the regular nominees of the party do not belong to the faction which they belong to; but it is a fact that the oldest settler cannot remember the time when there were not leaders, and consequently factions since there has been party lines drawn in the county. They remember when —and but a few years ago—the factional struggles between Tom Majors and Bill Daily were as bitter and unrelenting as it now is between those allied gentlemen and Church Howe. Then if Daily succeeded in having himself or any friend nominated Majors would bolt, join the Democrats and defeat him if possible. And if Tom or friends got on the ticket Daily would kick, and so it was up to the time when Church Howe entered the arena. They would have been fighting yet had not Mr.

Howe proved a formidable opponent to both of them; and if they could kill Howe politically, or should he in any way be removed from the field, Majors and Daily would without a doubt, begin their old factional feud where they left off two years ago, and the party would again be divided between Majors and Daily as it used to be and as it is now between those two and Mr. Howe.
Our old readers remember how a few years ago Daily captured the primaries from Majors and was nominated for county treasurer, and that Majors bolted, and helped elect the Democratic candidate. Then when Wils. Majors afterward run for county clerk Daily organized his forces and did all in his power to defeat him, and so they had it at every election. And then as now they worked for spite, for revenge, for purely self, and never a lick did they strike, prompted by unselfish loyalty to the party.

When Gov. Furnas was nominated for governor Majors opposed him and supported—worked for and voted for —the Democratic candidate, and it is proverbial in this county that when one of those men are not on the ticket or they are not permitted to dictate who shall be on it, they try to defeat it, either openly or treacherously.
Other factional leaders, in this county, when defeated at the primaries or convention, acquiesce, accept the situation as the will of the majority, and help elect the ticket. Even Church Howe, whose alleged defective Republicanism is now calling forth their usual hypocritical groans, has never done otherwise than support his party ticket. Majors and Daily wear the belt therefore, as the only reform leaders we have in Nemaha county! When a ticket is nominated that does not carry a Majors or some resemblance to the Majors family, it must be beaten to "reform Republican politics in Nemaha county"—the language used in our presence by one of them.

right in a legitimate sense, but when abused as the Majors-Daily factions have always done, then they are productive only of demoralization, Republican defeats and Democratic victories.

Readers of THE ADVERTISER, we appeal to you as candid honest men if this is not true?
Tom Majors said the other day—"I have nothing against the Republican ticket—they are all good men—but it's the way they were nominated, and the man that ran the convention is what I object to." Is this not a most disgusting display of cheek and egotism for one whose record as a politician is that of a bolter and disorganizer, and as a representative at Washington, that of a criminal. It is such a man, as this man Majors who now has the audacity to undertake to dictate to the solid voters of Nemaha county—and he, by the way is dictating to both parties—a ticket for them to vote—who they shall elect and who defeat. It is this man Majors, whose record officially and politically is a stretch in the nostrils of all the Republican party of Nebraska, who is brazenly demanding the defeat of such honorable men as Judge Church, George R. Shook and Jacob Good.

O, they say it is a Howe ticket. Well suppose it is—had it not been a Howe ticket; and would that have made it any better? Suppose Tom had run the primaries, and he could have succeeded in nominating his father for senator, Bill and Wils. for representatives and Johnnie for county commissioner, would that have united the people any better than the nominees chosen? Of course not. It would simply have been more gratifying to Tom's egotism and family pride.

THE ADVERTISER can consistently take the ground it does, for we never bolted, and always supported the nominees of the party without regard to the leader or faction charged with bringing them out.
When the party nominates men of questionable ability and character, voters may be in a measure, excusable for defeating them; but at this time they can have no such reason for doing so; and we have too much confidence in the honesty of purpose and good sense of the people, to believe that they will defeat the present Republican nominees, for no better reason than that Majors, and a few of his vindictive helpers, desire it on purely personal and selfish grounds.
