PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA.
WEDNESDAY, ... NOV. 29, 1865

A PROCLAMATION—BY THE GOVERNOR OF NEBRASKA.

WHEREAS, we are dependent upon God for individual and national prosperity, and "every good and every perfect gift, is from above and cometh down from the Father of light, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning," and

WHEREAS, during the past year our kind Heavenly Father has been pleased to remove from us the scourge of war, and has caused peace to again smile on our beloved country; has witheld from us the ravages of pestilence; and caused the earth to bring forth the rich fruits and harvests, and permitted commerce and agriculture to resume their accustomed channels, causing peace and prosperity to reign once more within our borders, and

WHEREAS, It is becoming in the recipients of these inestimable blessings, to express a nations gratitude and a reliance upon the Almighty for future prosperity, for "Blessed is the Nation whose God is the Lord."

Now therefore, I, ALVIN SAUNDERS, Governor of the Territory of Nebraska, do hereby appoint the first Thursday in December as a public day of Thanksgiving, (being the same day appointed by the President of the United States as a day of National Thanksgiving.) And Thereby recommend to the citizens of the Territory to observe the aforesaid day as a day of public Thanksgiving, by refraining from their secular pursuits on that day, and assembling at their respective places of worship to offer thanksgivings and praise to our Heavenly Father for His loving kindness to the children of men. That simultaneous from all parts of our beloved country, prayer and praise and thanksgiving, the homage of grateful hearts, may raise in one united volume from a grateful and once more united people to Him who holds the destines of individuals as well as nations in the hollow of his hand.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused to be affixed the great seal of the Territory. Done at the City of Omaha this 4th day of November, A. D. 1865.

ALVIN SAUNDERS,
Governor of Nebraska,

By the Governor.
A. S. PADDOCK, Secretary.

B. & M. R. RAILROAD.

It has been a generally conceded fact that this road would be built to the city of Plattsmouth, and thence west to the one hundredth meridian — the commencement of the Pacific Railroad proper—but many have looked upon the completion as a long way in the future. The late energetic action of the company has somewhat changed the minds of thinking, reasoning men upon this point. They now have about twelve or fourteen hundred men working on the road between Ottumwa and Chariton, and a distance of some sixty-five miles will be completed this winter. Their engineers are surveying the road from Ft. Kearney westward, and everything indicates that the road will be pushed ahead with all possible speed. But that which has the greatest significance, and will carry conviction to the mind of every thinking man that this road will not only be completed at an early day, but that it is considered by railroad men as the road of the west, is the fact that the Michigan Central, New York Central, and several others of the most prominent companies in the United States, are taking an interest in the B. & M. R. Road. Three of these companies, including the two above named, have placed the sum of $200,000 each at the disposal of the Burlington & Missouri River company. It is not the amount of money that will create a diversion in favor of this road; but it is the fact that these companies are putting money into it at all. Who is there that knows aught about railroads, or any other business matter, that does not see at a glance that these great thoroughfares of the nation are vitally interested in the early completion of some road across the State of Iowa. We all know that there is an immense trade with the far west, and there is a great strife among railroad men to secure it. The interests of the Michigan Central, New York Central, and other prominent northern roads, lie in getting a road across Iowa before their trade is drawn south, and thus miss their roads entirely. This state of affairs will easily explain the interest they are taking in the B. & M. R. Road. They see that this road can be pushed to completion at an earlier day than any other line across Iowa; and not only be completed sooner, but at a much less expense; and when completed will be capable of doing more business, in consequence of the directness of the route and the nature of the country through which the road will run. The probabilities are that work will be commenced on this end of the road early in the spring, and that next fall will find the road nearly or quite completed across the State of Iowa. This is no mere guess work, for we have it from men conversant with the affairs and intentions of the company. In addition to the number of men already at work upon the road, another instalment of some eight hundred are on the way. This all begins to look like doing something, and those who have held out faithful in the belief that they would yet hear the whistle of the "iron horse" at Plattsmouth, can begin to realize the confirmation of their "hope deferred."

THE WAR NOT ENDED.

President Johnson and all the Departments at Washington, it is stated, take the ground that the war is not ended—that the rebels have not shown sufficient inclination to submit peaceably to the national authority. This is not strange when we consider the course pursued by the rebel politicians since the surrender of their armies. It is only through the magnanimity of the government that they are allowed the privilege of living at all; yet they commence at this early day to attempt to rule the government they have so lately been trying to destroy by force of arms. In South Carolina Wade Hampton has had the impudence to run for Governor, and the people have had the indiscretion, to say nothing more, to elect him. In most of the rebellious States they have chosen prominent rebels to fill the various State and county offices, besides electing the same class of men to apply at Washington for seats in the national councils, when they were fully aware that by an act of Congress no one who had taken part in the rebellion could be admitted to a seat in that body.

MEETING OF CONGRESS.

Congress meets next Monday. Many an anxious eye will be on the watch to see what action will be taken in regard to the reconstruction of the Rebel States. No one doubts but that nearly all the members elected from the South will be refused seats, yet every one is anxious to see how far the action of the southern people towards reconstruction will be endorsed, and what will be demanded of them before they will be admitted to full fellowship. The message of President Johnson will be of unusual interest to every American citizen, and will be more generally read than most documents of the kind. The few brief speeches he has made to the different delegations has given a tolerable insight to the views he entertains on our domestic affairs, yet his message is expected to make the thing clear to the minds of all.

☞ We see by a statement published in the Nebraska City News of Monday last that that paper is losing its [illegible] three weeks since they published a statement that their daily circulation was 500, and their weekly circulation 1140. They now make another calculation and find but 325 daily and nearly 1,000 weekly. This is, indeed, a sad falling off in so short a time. We would not be surprised that upon another count they would find the amount still less. Better paste this last count up, so you will not forget what figures to put in next time, as it don't look well to be decreasing.

☞ The Burlington Hawk-Eye says that Colonel Greisel of the Burlington & Missouri River Railroad recently returned from Canada with a reinforcement of laborers, with which he will commence work on the extension of the Road between Ottumwa and Clinton.

☞ Jeff. Davis lately asked an officer at Fort Monroe whether he thought the people of the North desired his execution. The officer replied that he had been so long on duty he could not speak for those at home, but the army was unanimous in the sentiment that he should be hanged!

☞ Washington dispatches state that leading Republicans are urging the consideration of financial matters at the opening of the session, leaving the admission of Southern members until after Christmas, by which time harmonious action may be secured.

PROFITS OF ADVERTISING.

To the Editor of the N. Y. Tribune:

SIR: In a discussion to-day about the profits of advertising, one of the parties stated that Helmbold is paying the Tribune $10,000 per year for advertising. Is it true that any druggist can afford to pay any such sum for advertising?

A BOSTON DRUGGIST.

Boston, Nov. 11, 1865.

Reply.—It is a matter that concerns a "Boston Druggist" and all business men, and we may as well state that Helmbold is paying the Tribune over $10,000 this year. He paid us $1,500 for one insertion of one page in the weekly Tribune, besides his column in the daily Tribune. Bonner once paid us $3,000 for one insertion of an advertisement of The Ledger. He knew that by judicious advertising he could secure a fortune. The old prejudice among druggists and physicians against advertising is dying out, and they, as well as others, see that the cheapest mode whereby they can make themselves and their medicine known to the public, is by a wise and liberal system of advertising. Helmbold discovered this fact, and takes advantage of it.

If, when our Legislature meets, it will at once complete what the Convention left undone, and we can have a new election of members to Congress who are in favor of the Federal Government, we may yet get in during this session; otherwise all will be lost for the present.

☞ Now that the elections are over, and the Democrats are soundly thrashed everywhere, they might as well drop all humbug, and come out squarely for the repudiation of the National debt. That is the logic of their principles and the necessity of their situation. They will come to it after awhile, and there's nothing to be gained by procrastination. —Chicago Republican.

REVIVAL OF TEMPERANCE.

On Thursday evening last an immense meeting of the friends of Temperance was held in the Rev. T. L. Cuyler's church, on Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn. Over 2,000 were present, numbering many of the most prominent citizens. The Mayor, Col. Wood, presided. Dr. Charles Jewett, of Norwich, Conn., delivered a powerful scientific address on the nature of alcoholic beverages. He demonstrated that alcohol contains no nourishment; that, being the product of decay in vegetable matter, it tends to decay and destroy the human frame, and always predisposes those who use it habitually to cholera and violent diseases. Dr. Jewett was followed by the Rev. Mr. Cuyler, who pleaded for total abstinence, on the ground of self-denial for the good of others.

This large meeting is one of the many signs of a general revival of the Temperance Reform. A new "National Temperance Society and Publication House" has lately been organized in New York. Its President is Wm. E. Dodge. Among its Vice-Presidents are Gen. Howard, Gov. Buckingham, Bishop Janes, and Gen. S. F. Cary. William H. Booth is Treasurer, and the Rev. T. L. Cuyler Chairman of the Executive Committee. The Board of Managers is composed of men representing the various denominations and the different temperance "orders" and societies in the country. The payment of one dollar a year constitutes an annual member—of twenty dollars, constitutes a life member—and of one hundred dollars, a life-director.

The new society proposes to open a publication room in New York for the issue of total abstinence books and tracts similar to the "National League" in Great Britain. It also proposes to work through the Christian churches and Sunday schools. Lecturers will be employed and efforts made to awaken a "temperance conscience" in the community. The society will go into full operation and issue its new paper on the first of January. The Rev. J. B. Dunn (No. 186 Nineteenth street) is the temporary acting Secretary of the organization.—N. Y. Tribune, 20th.

☞ The New York Tribune has the following, editorially:

What is a Republican form of Government—which the Union is bound to guarantee to each of the States—and how shall the guarantee be made effectual? Judge Redfield, a distinguished Democrat, formerly Chief-Justice of Vermont, a lawyer who has scarcely a superior in New England, thus forcibly and pregnantly answers the question: maintaining that the freedman legally and necessarily acquires the ballot by virtue of his emancipation and of the Constitution. He says:

"This accession of free native population is not by the ordinary process of growth or accretion, but may be properly said to have been brought about by avulsion or sudden accession. And as it is clearly entitled to [illegible] ed in some form in the creation of the organic law of the State; and as it clearly is not so represented in its newly acquired status, it seems not improper for the National Executive and Legislative authority to require of the several States where the Rebellion prevailed, and where Slavery has been abolished in consequence, that the States shall form new Constitutions, giving all the native and naturalized inhabitants a voice therein. This could only be done by having the Convention forming the Constitution composed of delegates chosen by the vote of the whole people, and then submitted for its adoption to the vote of the whole people. This the national authority may clearly demand, as the very least which will produce a Republican form of Government—one which they will feel justified in regarding as fully coming within the view of the requirements of the National Constitution."

☞ Col. Forney says, in the Philadelphia Press: "The vagrant who offered to add his rags and wretchedness to the wealth of Astor, for the purpose of being able to say that his partner and himself were the two richest men in the country, was not more generous than the Democratic leaders who propose to become honest and powerful by associating themselves with President Johnson. Covered with the disgrace of four years' companionship with treason, and still so full of sympathy with rebellion as to rush to the aid of its friends whenever they give a new sign of hostility to the authorities, they press their disgusting alliance upon Mr. Johnson with an effrontery that would be ridiculous if it were not offensive.

"While Gen. Joe Johnston was in Baltimore recently, a young gentleman of that city, who had known the General before the war, renewed his acquaintance on the street with the remark, 'General, I regret we were obliged to surrender to overwhelming numbers, but I rejoice we are not whipped.' 'You have had no active participation in the fighting, I believe!' inquired the General. 'No, sir!' Under those circumstances,' rejoined the veteran, 'you are not whipped; but I am.'"
