The most popular Monthly in the world.—notably New York Observer.

We refer in terms of eulogy to the high tone, and varied excellences of Harper's Magazine, and speak with a monthly circulation of about 175,000 copies—in whose pages are to be found as one of the choicest light and general reading of the culture of the American people, and the possibility it has acquired in a matter of only 14 years of reading matter, apparently illustrated with good wood cuts, and it combines in itself every monthly and the most practical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—notably Traveller's Guide to American Literature. London.

The volumes bound constitute of themselves a library of choice literature, reading such as cannot be found in the same compass in any other publication that has come under our notice.—notably Boston Courier.
