LAME-VERY.

At various times during the past six the attention of the Omaha Herald to the enormous Salt Land Steal attempted by J. Sterling Morton & Co., but were never able to produce even a grunt from that usually noisy sheet. The trial came off this week at Lincoln, and the Herald was driven to open its mouth friend was beaten on the very points cited by us, and by the evidence of the witness which we had called up. We clip the following from an article in the Herald on the subject of the trial:

"The lands in dispute were entered at Nebraska City by the party from whom | transaction was fair and without fraud, plaintiffs claim title in 1859. Patents but they rest their case solely on the were issued for them, but recalled and cancelled, some two or three years afterwards, upon a decision by the Land Department that saline lands were reserved from sale under an Act of Congress of 1854, concerning public lands in New Mexico, Kansas and Nebraska. The right to make this cancellation was the question involved."

> Mrs. Sarah A. Cooke, the lady who recently brought suit against Brigham Young, and in whose favor a mixed jury composed of Mormons and Gentiles rendered a verdict for the full amount of her claims yesterday, was, we glean from the Davenport Gazette, a resident of Davenport in 1848 and 1849. She was CHARTER OAK, then a music teacher. Her husband was a book-keeper. In 1849 they moved to Moline, thence to Dububue, and in 1851 they emigrated to California. They, however, were persuaded to remain in Salt Lake City, and were considered Mormons in theory but not in practice. Mr. Cooke was subsequently elected Sheriff, and was killed while attempting to arrest a criminal. The murderer was hung by an excited mob, and $10,000 in And Other First-Clas gold was raised by the citizens for the benefit of Mr. Cooke's family.
