

We present our readers this week with a club list of papers which can be taken with the Herald. In this way you can get two papers or magazines for little more than the price of one.

We should like to have all the subscribers we can get under these rates by the middle of December.

Table listing club members and their preferred papers, including Chicago Tribune, Post & Mail, Daily Graphic, etc.

Don't fret, Zantmeyer, we can edit the Herald yet.

The Fremont Herald thinks the Omaha Editors have plenty of cheek.

And the Centennial Editorials in our County Exchanges have begun "It is just one hundred years ago, &c."

Blaine and Randall had quite a spat on Monday, over the amnesty bill. Blaine is said to have won the heat.

The Crete Sentinel thinks there is no occasion for Grant to get up and howl round that he does not want a third term.

Ed Plummer's farewell letter from a business point of view, appears in his column of advertisements. Mr. P. has been one of our most energetic and reliable business men and we are sorry to lose him from the trade.

COURT NOTICE.

Please observe Judge Pound's notice in regard to the setting of the regular term of Court in Cass county on JANUARY 24TH.

Also as regards JURORS, who are now required to appear on the 24th and not on the 17th as before named.

Now there's our uncle in Buffalo, N. Y. sends us the prettiest kind of an almanac with his name and "Compliments," too printed on it.

"Geo. Dakin, Agent Anthracite Coal Association, General Office No. 221 Main St. Buffalo, N. Y."

And a pretty big coal yard it is, too, only two or three miles long up and down on the wharves.

SETTLE UP!

We are trying to settle all accounts to the first of Jan. 1876. So far we have paid every one that presented us a bill, how long we can do this depends on how well you pay us.

We shall send out a collector on the paper who has orders to present bills to all that owe us and you must not take offense, gentlemen. It is the only way we can keep our books straight and pay the gentlemen who have been so kind as to trust us during the year.

Mr. Ramsey, the new Commissioner, starts out rather brisk, and his first drive is after the newspapers.

Mr. Ramsey shows by his course hereafter, that he is true and fair, and only seeks honest light about all these matters, the Herald will help him all it can; but if it only develops into petty spite against a republican editor, who has done his duty, and a republican paper that has tried to act squarely by all parties, we shall not be slow to defend both ourselves and our friends.

We visited Plattsmouth last week, and of course made the Saunders House our home while in the city. This house, under the management of our old friend J. H. Liggett and wife, is fast gaining popularity at home and abroad.

All who visit Plattsmouth should not fail to make the Saunders House their headquarters, as they can rest assured of getting neat rooms and clean beds, while the culinary department is presided over by a gentleman who cannot be equalled in the west, and a high eye view of the city is sufficient to set at rest all doubts to the contrary, and every other department of the house is conducted in the same masterly manner.

Liggett is a "half fellow well met," and has a faculty of retaining all who once pay his house a visit. While there we had the pleasure of attending a Social Hop under the supervision of the A. F. and M. which was largely attended.—Saunders Co. Republican.

This "last" week means the week before. The Herald meant to notice Mr. Andrews' visit last week, although a half sheet was the consequence next week.

A NEW KIND OF R. E. KING.

A few years ago everybody here knew "Rube" Wood, and for old times sake we give the following pen picture of him by a correspondent of the Omaha Herald.

Rube Wood has blossomed into a railway king. Yes, Reuben is monarch of six miles of railroad. His gauge is three feet and his cars carry two tons each. His locomotives have immense ears and singularly musical voices.

Their power is not computed in dynamical units, though their cylinders are large, and their strokes when tested by standing in the air, is variously estimated at from three to four thousand feet. Rube, generally accompanies his train in person, which, under the steam principle doubling the entire length of the road each day. I met him the other day in his road costume. He cap drawn over his ears, sheepskin mittens, a neck yoke strap buckled around his blanket overcoat, and boots encased in ore sacks, he was a picture for a painter.

His hair is grown gray now, but he carries more of youthful vigor than is often found beneath silvery locks, and tells his wonderful stories with as much relish as when he was numbered among the choice spirits in the days of yore, held their daily conventions at the office of Willbur and Coffman, or slaked their "drown" at Dick Willie's.

GRANGE SUPPER AND INSTALLATION.

CAMP CREEK, Jan. 10th, 1876.

Ed. Herald.—I arrived in Camp Creek last Saturday afternoon, and was kindly invited to attend a Grange supper and public installation of officers of Charity Grange No. 494, of Lancaster County, which was to be held at the school house on Stevens' Creek, about seven and one half miles from Lincoln.

Accepting the invitation, we were soon on our way over the prairies towards the school house, arriving there just after dark, where we found a house full of Patrons and invited guests, who gave us a warm welcome, many of them being old friends and acquaintances.

A few moments devoted to handshaking and introductions, the meeting was called to order and opened with prayer and singing. Patron J. P. Loder made a few remarks about the business of the evening, and then proceeded to install the officers elect for the ensuing year, as follows:

Master—D. M. Swisher. Overseer—R. Reed. Steward—S. Tiger. Treasurer—S. E. Jacoby. Chaplain—D. Dohrt. Ass't Steward—H. Franks.

Mr. Loder was assisted by J. H. Painter, of the Nebraska Patron, and Judge Jennings, of Weeping Water. After the installation came the principal business of the evening for many, which was supper; I think I was one of them, also. The ladies soon arranged the tables, which looked as if prepared for about a hundred couples, instead of the fifty that were there.

In a few minutes the order was "Come to supper," and for about an hour we did nothing but discuss the merits of a piece of this turkey or that chicken, and try a piece of this cake and that, and this, and this, and this, and this, till all had a surfeit, and sighed to think they could not empty the dishes which were filled and refilled from a seemingly inexhaustible larder with almost magical celerity.

After supper the young folks adjourned to the residence of Mr. Riley, where they tripped the light fantastic for a few hours, when we adjourned in the hardest storm we have had this winter.

Times are hard with the farmer in this neighborhood at present, but all look for better times next spring.

WILL.

The Herald settled up its postage bill for the year the other day, and got a pile of papers a foot high by way of receipts.

PERSONAL.

Major Wheeler and his brother Birney went over to Glenwood on Friday last.

Ben McMurry, one of our oldest telegraph operators, leaves us this week for a home further East.

R. B. Claiborne was in town last week. The weather immediately registered ten degrees colder.

B. Seibold, one of the Herald's oldest and firmest friends, dropped in to see us yesterday.

H. G. Race, of Weeping Water, passed through town for the East, Monday, where he has gone to attend the funeral of a sister.

The Rev. Mr. Crippen, new County Superintendent, came up from Weeping Water to see the Herald; and kept marrying folks all the way.

Prof. Wise, our earnest and respected county Superintendent for 10, these many years, retired last week, to make way for the new incumbent. We shall notice both men more fully next week.

Charley Black, formerly with A. White, has taken up his quarters at J. H. Buttery's, and will hereafter mix his medicines instead of sanding the sugar.

Dan Johnson, of Weeping Water, has more than two bushels of nickels. He is going to melt 'em down and make a tin coffee-pot of 'em.

Judge Maxwell, our judge, drew the long straw and is fairly scarce as judge for six years. Judge Lake got a short nip, and is chief justice for two years.

Mike Schmiedlacher, the Blacksmith comes to time with a few "seals" for the Herald, and we wish Mike long life, and plenty of money all through it.

Prof. Secord, at Decatur, principal of the High School there, returns his thanks for very handsome Christmas presents. Now we're right glad of that, for Secord is one of our friends.

We were very much pleased to hear that the Rev. Mr. Orr and Regent Adair called at the Herald office on Monday. Mr. Adair is an old acquaintance of the Herald's in Dakota, and has just drawn the six year's term as Regent.

Webster Eaton, Register of the U. S. Land Office at Bloomington, (Glory!) we've got a share there, so has Billy Stadelmann, and President of the Press Association of Nebraska, went East in a double breasted, silk lined coat covered, Pullman palace car, last week.

Col. L. C. Bartlett, the efficient Deputy U. S. Surveyor General of Nebraska came down from Plattsmouth on Saturday to visit his friends. So cordial was his reception and so bounteous his entertainment that he still tarries there. The great railroad bridge is a monument to his engineering skill.—St. Joe Herald.

Jos. A. Connor, one of our most prominent Grain Merchants, goes to Greenwood this week to buy corn, and he will pay a good price for it. Mr. Connor will close up his Plattsmouth office for the present, as he has two others, one at Greenwood and one at Ashland, Fetch on your corn now, farmers, for 'em is bound to buy.
