Persons calling for the above named letters J. W. MARSHALL, P. M. THE PEAK FAMILY.

We had the pleasure of a visit from Miss Fannie Peak last week. She is an exceedingly lively little business hdy-the troupe a most excellent one. their band a very good one. Mr. Wyman in his numerous characters was very laughable, but the part of the performance that took our young folks the most was the Call boy with his "y-e-s s-i-r," and Dot and Spark generally. Every youngster on the street was holering' "y-e-s s-i-r" next morning at the op of his lungs. When the HERALD came to the office, the first thing be heard was a yelp from the boys' room of y-e-s s-i-r, and all day at intervals we were y-e-s s-i-rred till you couldn't if they're any better than other years. rest. The bone solo was excellent, and we expected to see half the lads in town out next day with a pair, remempering well the time when as a boy we first heard the "bones," The next week every old bone yard for borses. nd cattle was ransacked to get ribs to make "bones" of, and the streets rat-

A GREAT MARRIAGE.

Mr. Nathan, of the firm of Solomon & Nathan was married at St. Jo. Mo., on the 33d inst., to Miss Saunders .-After this interesting event, Mr. and Mrs. Mathan returned to Plattsmouth, and our friend Nathan has hardly been able to contain himself ever since.

All last summer when the HERALD would go down the street, Nathan would say: "Good morning Mr. HER-ALD, how am I, this morning?" Now he says: "Good morning boys, how is Mrs. Nathan this morning?" Oh, well, such little jokes will keep happening The bells are as famous as ever, and to us every now and then in our voyage through life. The only curious thing about it is, that Nathan never has done so before; he is good looking, and so amiable that somebody ought to have carried him off long 'ere this. Then he was so modest-ah! that's the rub-we know. Its leap year,-that's how Nathan came to be the victim just now.

All jokes aside, the HERALD wishes the newly married pair a long life, a happy one, and all made up of leap years,

To those who have never seen our beautiful town, we would say that Preenwood is charmingly situated on the banks of the romantic Saline river, known in vulgar parlance as Salt Creek. This is a splendid business point, and we venture to assert that the time is not far distant when Greenwood will rank first among the cities of the great West. The town does not exist that posesses better agricultural surroundings than this town does, and herein lies the secret of it's greatness. There Plattsmouth Lodge No. 6, A. Mr. Etheredge formerly resided in Plattsmouth. out some six years ago, recognizing the fact that Greenwood would some day make a fine town, he wisely settled on a piece of land about one and a half miles from Greenwood, and about four months ago he bought out the stock of Gus Hinkley. The other store is owned by the Tutt Bros. formerly of Plattsmouth, too. These gentlemen are too well known and respected to require further notice here. We have also two resident physicians of unquestionable D. Root. Dr. Youngstedt keeps a well stocked drug-store and is doing a good business. We have two blacksmith shops, and one wagon and carriage shep, all appearing to be doing well considering the season. Joe Connor is here buying eorn, and it is simply asonishing to see the amount of corn that comes in and he buys.
