

Lincoln Correspondence.

After the services were concluded, the prisoners marched out single file, each man with his hands on his leader's shoulders. They marched into the room where they were confined, and as they passed the long rows of tables on which their dinner was placed—coffee, bread, meat and potatoes—each man in turn took his cup of coffee and his portion of meat and potatoes, they then marched to their cells and halted. At the command (one) they opened their doors, (two) marched in and (three) closed the doors on themselves. The turn-key then passed along and shook each door to see if it was securely fastened and locked. I noticed in some of the cells books, which were borrowed from the Prison Library, which, by the way, is a very large and fine one. In other cells there were pictures and other ornaments, which helped to improve the looks of the little rooms very much. There are now two Indians confined there, and one woman for forger. I failed to get either of the names. In all there are one hundred and one convicts, and only eighty cells, so that two are confined in some of the narrow vaults, six feet high, seven feet long and four feet wide. When visitors are shown around the Penitentiary no two doors are unlocked at the same time, either the door in front or behind you is fastened all the time. It seems impossible for a prisoner to escape with the precautions that are now taken. We were most shown into the cook room, and were informed that 150 lbs of bread was consumed daily. The building is now in an excellent condition, we were surprised at the neatness of everything. It is heated throughout by a large hot air furnace, and with the new addition it is an institution that Nebraska ought to be proud of.

The Term Social of the Palladian Society was held on Saturday evening, Oct. 20th, in the University; many more being present than was anticipated, on account of the inclemency of the weather during the past two or three days. Dancing being forbidden, promenading through the long halls was indulged in quite freely until nine o'clock, when they had the pleasure of listening to a vocal duet, entitled "What are the Wild Waves Saying," by Miss Runyan and Mr. Hartman, with Miss Treman as organist. Refreshments were then passed around; after all had eaten to their hearts content, they were favored with an instrumental duet, the selection being from the Opera of "Marta," Mr. Daniel H. Wheeler presiding at the organ, and the celebrated Fred W. Holman on the violin. As the orders of the Faculty were that the exercises should close at 10 o'clock, sharp, they were then brought to a close to the sorrow of all. It was indeed an enjoyable evening, and many expressed their wish that the socials came oftener, and that there was no inexcusable Faculty to overn their meetings.

HERALDIAN EDITOR. The October number of the Heraldian Student has been issued, it seems that the editors have combined to make it the spiciest and most interesting of any number yet issued, it opens well for the new year.

EDITOR HERALD:—I see by the last Watchman that little Mae is on the war path again. It proposes to have a few first class funerals of some of the men that have obtained an injunction against the city. Well, Mae, go on with your funerals, and while you are at it may be able to furnish you subjects for second class funerals.

We are not in the abuse business, but if it is to be fought out on that line we can take a hand in it all the same. We propose to ascertain through the courts whether those boys are legal or not, and no amount of slang or abuse will deter us from our purpose. The case must and will be tried upon its merits, and no amount of quibbling or calling hard names for the purpose of creating public sympathy will prevent the case from being contested to the bitter end. And why should we not, we are American born citizens. Have we not resided here long enough to gain a residence?

In conclusion we have to say to Little Mae, or any other man, or men, who are alarmed for the credit of the city, that we are ready to meet them on the stump or through the papers.

Chicago editors are calling each others attention to the grammatical errors that creep unobserved into the columns of their papers. What's the use? The reading public are aware that much of the material for a daily paper is gathered on the run—sometimes on the jump—and that every particular sentence cannot be weighed and rounded with that care and precision necessary in the preparation of an article for a first class magazine. Besides, who is there in Chicago that can tell when a sentence is grammatically constructed?—Be.

We have an eminent and profound grammatical scholar in Plattsmouth, to whom all such questions can be left, assured that his decisions are final. We allude to Prof. McDonagh, of the Watchman.

To cleanse Nursery Bottles. After the bottle has been used, rinse it out with warm water, then fill it with warm water containing a teaspoonful of pulverized borax and let it stand, shaking occasionally. If rubber tube is used, let it remain in borax water until needed. Borax will sweeten it quickly. In removing the tube or bottle from the borax-water, it is not necessary to rinse in clear water. The little borax that remains in it will prove a benefit, especially if the child's mouth is sore.

Sunbeams. A Philadelphia girl has one eye that is light blue and one that is deep black. A San Francisco firm offer to supply Chicago with strawberries next month if the demand justifies shipments by the car load.

Until recently human as well as animal bones were used in French sugar refineries; in fact, the former were as lately as 1858 sent from Algeria to France.

A grand international foot ball contest is shortly to take place between teams composed of students of Harvard College and McGill University, Montreal, Canada.

A woman died in Fall River recently from excessive joy. On meeting her daughter, after a separation of many years, she uttered an exclamation of delight, and fell dead.

A Canadian priest lately sued a young man, whom he had married, for his wedding fee, which he stated at $15. The jury found for the defendant on the ground that the youth had received no appreciable value.

An enterprising firm in Cincinnati has asked the city authorities for the privilege of excavating the streets to lay lines of shafting for the purpose of supplying power to persons needing it for machinery and willing to rent it.

There are more than a thousand co-operative societies in Great Britain, having 343,188 members, holding co-operative capital amounting to $6,000,000 and drawing a net profit on their shares in one recent year of $370,721.

Travellers will not be soothed by reading that Mr. Arthur, President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, says that most of the expulsions from the order are for drunkenness. He exhorts engineers to abstinence.

A man whose manner did not indicate insanity ordered a steak in a Sacramento restaurant. He deliberately cut off a piece of the meat, four inches by two in size, and tried to swallow it whole. It stuck in his throat and choked him to death.

In 1835 the quantity of wool exported from New Zealand was 6,243 bales; in 1875, 164,259 bales. Taking the whole Australian colonies and New Zealand, it seems that the export in 1865 was 312,553 bales, and in 1875, 733,383 bales.

An Illinois machinist has invented, and seeks to patent, an apparatus for punishment. It is a gallows, with powerful springs instead of weights, and is calculated to break the neck of the hanged man with certainty and celerity.

A woman was dragging her trading skirts out of a Memphis theater. A man stepped on and tore the expensive fabric. She did not turn and smile sweetly when he begged her pardon. She struck him a stinging blow in the face, and said, "Take that you awkward loafer!"

On the night of Sep. 23, after considerable opposition on the part of the military officers in charge of the Fort Yuma reservation, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company laid their tracks in the Territory of Arizona. On the following day a train was run over the newly-built track, and for the first time the whistle of a locomotive was heard in Arizona.

Electricity has been applied to a novel use in the East Indies. A pair of wire, connected with the poles of a battery, is stretched around a tree, and becoming red hot, is gently sawed, until it burns its way through. It is thought that a tree can be cut down without any waste of timber in about fifteen minutes. That would require two hours to fell in the ordinary way.

All that claptrap about Chief Joseph of the Nez Percés contemptuously declining to surrender to Gen. Howard, the Bible Chief, and offering his gun to Gen. Miles, is exploded. A dispatch to the New York Herald, and other reports from officers present at the surrender, say that Joseph offered his gun first to General Howard. The General, although the ranking officer, remarked to General Miles that the battle had been his, and declining to receive the gun, pointed to General Miles. In short, the Chief did not pass the "Bible Chief" in contemptuous silence and walk up to General Miles and say, "I want to surrender to you." Now will the high-pressure correspondent who invented that dramatic episode report how far he was from the battle-field at the time of the surrender.—Inter Ocean.

An historical drama, entitled "Perfret Lecre," having brought on the stage as a traitor to king and country Marshal Jean de Villiers, who fourished 400 years ago, an action for defamation has been instituted, in France, by his alleged descendants. M. de Villiers of Isle Adam; but the Tribunal, without inquiring into his ancestry, nonsuited him, on the ground that a novelist or playwright is entitled to borrow real names and mix up fact and fiction, provided he does not give a well-known personage a character altogether opposed to historical truth.
