Bride of the Week.
On Friday evening at 7 o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Jacquetta Heister and Mr. Paul J. Newton.

The marriage lines were read by Rev. George A. Ray of the Second Presbyterian church, and only relatives were present.

The bride was unattended and wore her traveling costume, a smart taffeta frock of black and red shepherd check with a black shadow hat. Immediately after the ceremony a bridal dinner was served and during the evening Mr. and Mrs. Newton departed for Denver and other western points for their honeymoon.

Series of Parties.
The first of a series of social affairs planned by Mrs. F. T. Seybert was given on Saturday when 28 guests were present for a luncheon, followed by bridge.

On Monday six tables of guests were present and the high and low prizes were awarded Mrs. Max Russell and Mrs. Floyd Hendricks respectively.

Eight guests were present and at bridge which followed the luncheon Mrs. W. C. Croesbe of Omaha had high score.

Golden Jubilee Celebration.
Today and Monday will be the occasion for some very unusual celebrating planned by the members of the St. Francis Alumnae association in honor of the golden jubilee of the Sisters of Charity in Council Bluffs.

In addition to the religious exercises the committee in charge promise a very unique entertainment in which former pupils of these sisters will take part.

Mrs. Suing, who was formerly Miss Theresa Paschel of this city and the first graduate of St. Francis, is now in Spokane, Wash., and unable to be present for the exercises, but her daughter, Miss Blanche Suing, arrived in Council Bluffs during the week and brought with her the victory which was read by Miss Paschel on the day of her graduation.

This Miss Suing will read at the entertainment Sunday evening.

The salutatory is to be given by Mrs. Nicholas O'Brien, and is the same one which she used when at St. Katherine's. Miss Katherine Madden she was graduated from this institution.

One clever feature of the program will be a hoop drill, in which a class of the very early graduates, many of whom are now grandmothers, will take part, and a ring drill, to be given by some of the city's sedate business men, when boys, were probably not more adept than now.

Attics and wardrobes are being called upon for costumes which will be worn by the "hoppers of '72," and many other clever numbers will be given on this program.

A golden jubilee song, written by Mrs. George Hughes and Miss Celia Mulqueen, both graduates of St. Francis, will be sung by the alumnae on Sunday and Monday.

A public reception has been arranged for Monday afternoon from 3 until 5, and to this all former pupils and friends of the sisters are invited. At 7 that evening there will be a banquet followed by a program.

Bridge-Luncheon.
Two very delightful parties were given during the past week by Mrs. Millie Graham Butler at her home on Sherman avenue.

Twenty-two guests were assembled for luncheon on Wednesday and the afternoon was spent with bridge. On this occasion Mrs. N. C. Emple was the prize winner and Mrs. Roy Maxfield received the cut-for-all.

Luncheon.

Mrs. Baumelster Hostess.
Mrs. Baumelster entertained on Wednesday last at a very lovely luncheon and bridge which was planned complimentary to Miss Agnes Wickham who sails on Friday for Europe.

The dining table was centered with a most attractive arrangement of blue delphinium, daisies and gypsophila in a wicker basket, and covers were laid for nine.

To Entertain.

Household Hints
New tan shoes should always be polished before wearing. Any scratches will then affect only the surface.

To clean mirrors rub mirror with ball of soft paper slightly dampened with denatured alcohol, then with a duster on which a little whiteing has been sprinkled and finally polish with clean paper. This treatment will make the glass beautifully bright.

Wash windows with warm water to which had been added ammonia in proportion of a tablespoon to one-half pint of water. Rinse with clean warm water and rub dry with chamois. This will remove every vestige of grease and dirt and leave windows with a beautiful, "brand new" gloss.

Plain white flannel skirts are favored for sports wear.

Felt seems to have mistaken its season this year, for instead of waiting for autumn it has made its appearance in many of the very smartest of the materials, while lines will favor panels and draperies. Skirts will in all probability remain short, for designers have signally failed to make the women of America accept long ones, even though their efforts to do so have extended over three seasons. There will be many bright colors, but the smartest frocks will combine them with a neutral tone, so that the effect will be artistic rather than dazzling.

Summer Sweaters Disclose New Beauties in Each New Shipment.
THE sweater department at Burgess-Nash is a resplendent place just now. Each new arrival in Blousesdom indeed, to follow Dame Mod's decree when it comes to the wearing of such aquatics. Slipovers in Iceland lead, with Navajo designs running through the light shades of summer. Chiffon Alpaca's are perhaps the most popular wool sweaters for summer wear and they are indeed charming with their dainty disclosures of delicate French lingerie. The sleeveless "Tux" and slipover models are "going big" in the east, which means that they have achieved immediate popularity in Omaha. "Either very vivid, or white," one's sweater this year, to quote one smart little person. Silks, to be sure, pure silk thread sweaters in a delightfully varied showing, stripes, plaids and fancy "flowers" in price range from $21.75 to $75, the fiber silks in bright shades, $6.95 to $15. Nothing is more charming with a crinoline evening gown than a coiffure and corsage that carry out its quaint effect, and when the latter also serves as a fan milady is doubly fortunate in possessing it.

Exceedingly small beaded bags seem to be replacing the large ones, while leather pocketbooks are growing into satchel-like proportions. Dresden silks are being used for some of the smartest spring purses, however, as silks are always preferable to heavy leathers or beads during warm weather.

Don't Neglect Your Hair During the Summer Time.
YOUR hair gets "gummy" during the summer months, coarsened by dust and wind while driving, its natural oil extracted by swimming, careless drying and dust particles. A scalp and skin specialist is particularly necessary in directing the care of hair and skin during summer. May I suggest the specialists, Mr. Roberts and Mr. Frank of the Black and White Room, Burgess-Nash. The Salon de Beauté, Hotel Fontenelle, and the Blackstone Beauty Shop. If you are planning an overland automobile trip this summer, their advice will prove invaluable.
