

Taft's Chuckle Proves Popular Among British

Humor of Chief Justice Marks Him as Distinct From Mental Picture English Have of Jurists.

London, July 2.—(By A. P.)—Chief Justice Taft is the only American visitor to England in the last few years who has rivaled Admiral Sims in popularity with the British public. To those who knew Mr. Taft in his presidential years he has proved a disappointment in the point of his physical dimensions, but to those who met him for the first time he was a delightful surprise. His unflinching good humor, genial smile and unassuming ways are quite distinct from the mental picture the average Englishman carries of one occupying a high judicial rank—Lord Birkenhead, Britain's youngest lord chancellor, being a recent exception.

The word "chuckle" has been more commonly heard and seen in England since Mr. Taft's arrival, and the reporters aver this is the only term adequately descriptive of the jovial smiles which lord chief justice gives his auditors warning that he is on the verge of telling another anecdote. A theatrical manager, sensing the words, enhanced value, has brought out a show entitled "Chuckles."

Criticism Honor List.

Almost every honor list in recent years has provoked criticism of the high titles given to men who have no apparent claim to them, except their great wealth, and the suggestion is made with increasing frankness that noblemen are created in return for large contributions to party funds, the same tale which at one time was glossed of appointments to the American diplomatic service.

The fact that the bestowal of honors is nominally a prerogative of the king, although the nominations are made by the prime minister, has made prominent persons reluctant to discuss the matter publicly because their objections might be considered a reflection upon the action of the crown. The king's recent birthday list, however, has been followed by unusual attacks in the house of lords.

The discussions have been mostly directed against J. B. Robinson, South African millionaire.

Promise to Give Reasons.

Early in the administration of Prime Minister Lloyd George it was promised that embellishments would be coupled with statements giving reasons for which the honors were bestowed. In Mr. Robinson's case the reasons given were "for national and imperial services."

The earl of Selbourne and the earl of Buxton, who have held official positions in South Africa, declared they had never known Mr. Robinson to render such services. Much was said about a lawsuit brought in 1915, in which Mr. Robinson was accused of buying property for the company of which he was chairman and selling to the same company at a profit. He was ordered by the court to pay a sum which, with the costs, amounted to more than 500,000 pounds sterling.

Boys Who Stole Autos Sentenced to Earn Money to Pay Fines

Omaha Bee Leased Wire. East Orange, N. J., July 2.—If four local high school boys who, in nine months stole 40 automobiles for joy rides with young girls, abandoning the cars when they ran out of gasoline, have not been broken of the habit when they have served the sentences imposed upon them today, it won't be the fault of Judge Ellis, who sentenced them.

The boys were placed on probation for 18 months and three were fined $250 each and ordered to work through the summer vacation to earn the amounts. The fourth was fined $150, which he must earn himself. All four must be in bed by 9:30 each night during the period of probation.

Strikebreakers Reported to Be on Way to Perry, Ia.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., July 2.—Fifty men passed through here from Chicago en route to Perry, Ia., where, according to C. H. Marshall, local superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, they will be employed in the Milwaukee shops. The men occupied a special car. Two hundred and fifty shopmen walked out at Perry.

Free State Forces Mopping Up Nests of Irregulars

Snipers Still Active in Dublin — Progress of Armored Cars Marked by Chain of Shots.

Copyright, 1922.

Dublin, July 2.—The Irish capital's worst week ended with the free state forces mopping up the nests of irregulars who have barricaded themselves in at least 100 buildings. The street fighting and sniping in the blocked area kept the people indoors on Saturday, although a few hundreds gathered in the Four Courts, while groups sought safe angles to cross streets down which snipers took pot shots from windows and roofs. The progress of a free state armored car could be followed as by a chain of shots as it sped through the main thoroughfares, probably bearing messengers.

The firing has become intense along the whole length of O'Connell street with an attack by free state troops imminent. Most shops have been closed, only a few venturing to open their doors, although the American consulate was open for half a day. This afternoon, however, the two vice consuls, weighted with books and seals, obtained a cart and moved to the Shelbourne hotel.

Exports to Europe Show Decrease in May

Washington, July 2.—Exports to Europe fell off during May, as compared with the same month a year ago, while shipments to South America held their own, according to foreign trade reports issued by the Commerce department. Imports, however, from both continents increased.

Exports to Europe during May aggregated $169,000,000, compared with $177,000,000 during May a year ago. Imports amounted to $74,000,000, against $61,000,000 in May, 1921. For the 11 months ended with May, exports to Europe totaled $1,860,000,000, against $3,230,000,000 during the corresponding months of 1921. Imports aggregated $754,000,000, compared with $883,000,000 during the same period a year ago.

Italy and Holy See Soon Will Be Reconciled

Chief Reason for Step Is Necessity of Church and State Joining Against Red Menace.

Rome, July 2.—The holy father will officially announce the reconciliation between the holy see and the Italian government before the summer, it is the announcement made by one of the chief dignitaries of the vatican.

According to this authority the latest date at which the proclamation will be made is September 20, the anniversary of the fall of the pope's temporary power in 1870 and the chief reason for the step is the necessity of church and state joining together against the bolshevist and communist menace. The delay in the publication of the pope's first encyclical is due to this coming step.

The pope now is fighting a hard battle against the opposition of the conservative and "intransigent" members of the sacred college, and has to deal with the determined hostility of France. On the other hand it appears that all preliminary approaches between the vatican and the Italian government have succeeded without difficulty in laying the foundations of a mutually satisfactory arrangement. The "Law of Guarantees," which the holy see never officially recognized, is being gradually abandoned and the vatican will consent to accept part of the sums which Italy has placed at its disposal but which it hitherto has persistently refused, preferring to live on the charity of the whole world.

It is expected that this epoch-making event, the effects of which will be of incalculable importance, will be solemnly announced by Pope Pius XI in the first encyclical of his pontificate, which was to have been published on June 29, feast of the Apostles Peter and Paul, but which has been delayed owing to the remonstrances of recalcitrant cardinals, led by Cardinal Merry del Val, and to the determined opposition of French diplomacy.

Mrs. Arbuckle Quits Husband

Wife of Comedian to Reside in New York City "Indefinitely."

Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Los Angeles, July 2.—Mrs. Roscoe Arbuckle, who, after several years of complete estrangement from her husband, rushed across the continent to console him when he was arrested and charged with responsibility for Virginia Rapp's death, has again departed from the comedian's roof. Mrs. Arbuckle will live indefinitely in New York with her sister, Miss Durfee.

She journeyed thither two weeks ago. Arbuckle remains at the same palatial mansion on West Adams street which, at the height of his career, was his home. At present he is only a guest in the big house. When his fortune was absorbed by paying the cost of his three trials in San Francisco, he sold the house to Joseph Schenck, husband of Norma Talmage. Lou Angier, Arbuckle's former manager, has rented the house and the comedian is residing with him.

For two weeks, since Miss Durfee's departure for New York, the secret of her eastward trip had been kept with zealous caution. The report was verified today.

Miss Durfee could not be found in New York tonight nor could Mr. Arbuckle be reached. But various persons closely associated with him branded the report of a separation most emphatically as "bunk."

Receiver Appointed for Premier Motor Company

Indianapolis, July 2.—The Fletcher Savings and Trust company of Indianapolis was appointed receiver for the Premier Motor corporation by Judge Hay in the Marion county superior court. The indebtedness of the company was said to be about $1,000,000, with assets sufficient to pay debts. The suit was filed by the American Foundry company.

Woman Serving 10-Year Term for Murder Is Released

McAlester, Okl., July 2.—Ida Hadley, who with her husband, Paul, played a part in one of the most sensational murder trials ever held in Oklahoma, was released from the state penitentiary here after serving six years of a 10-year sentence. Good behavior gained her early release.

Authorities to Test Sanity of Self-Confessed Slayer

Denver, July 2.—Intervention of city authorities in the case of Orville J. Turley, confessed slayer of Mrs. Emma Wisc, rooming house keeper, will result in a jury trial to test Turley's sanity. Following the filing of the report of two alienists, Turley was ordered committed to the state hospital for the insane at Pueblo. As final arrangements were being completed for Turley's transfer to Pueblo, Mayor Dewey C. Bailey, Manager of Safety Frank M. Downer and Chief of Police H. R. Williams presented a petition to County Judge George Luxford, which "respectfully demanded" that the question of Turley's mental state be decided by a jury.

Safety Razor Blades
Sharpened for 12 Cents per Dozen
Why Pay From 70c to $1.00 per Dozen for New Blades
Stop man! Think! No wonder your money goes. You're throwing it away with every dull blade discarded. We'll tell you how to save that cash.
The average new blade costs a dime. It's used only a few times. Then you go down town and shell out your halves and dollars for some more. Don't do it. Hang on to that money—hang on to your blades. With our modern equipment, we can give you an edge that's new—and not only once but TWENTY TIMES. So instead of buying new blades at a dime apiece, let's sharpen that blade and save you money.
* Rake up all the dull blades you have, the more you send the more money you will save. We will get them back to you promptly, with a keen cutting edge, so they will give you a velvety, smooth, satisfactory shave from every blade.
Unless you now throw away dollars, don't throw away blades. Mail them to us. Send them NOW—before you forget.
We're As Close to You As Your Nearest Mail Box
This plan, we have found, is much more convenient for our patrons. Taking your blades to a downtown location, you might have to go several blocks out of your way. To call for them again is another nuisance, and its so easy to forget. How much better to let the mail man bring the finished blades right to your door!
HOW TO MAIL
In sending blades, be sure to wrap them in plenty of old newspapers or other wrapping paper so they will not cut through in the mail. Be sure to place name and address INSIDE of the package as well as placing it on the outside of package so we will know who they belong to. Send remittance at same time, enclosing 1 cent for each blade (either single or double edge), and as we do not pay return postage, enclose 5 cents extra to cover postage and packing.
Or, if you have no handy way of mailing them, send us your name and address on a post card, telling us how many and what kind of blades you have that you want sharpened, and we will mail you one of our handy mailing packages to send them to us in.
