

Society

Ravitz-Oland. Mr. and Mrs. M. Oland announce the marriage of their daughter, Mollie, to Dr. Sol E. Ravitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Ravitz, on Sunday, August 6, at the Blackstone hotel, Rabbi Grodinsky officiated.

For Miss Leach. Saturday Miss Helen Rogers entertained at a morning bridge, followed by luncheon at Happy Hollow, for Miss Nancy Leach, who is visiting Miss De Weenta Conrad.

For Miss Edna Conover. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Waddell entertained at dinner informally at their home Friday evening when Miss Edna Conover of Danville, Ill., who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. K. Kingham, was honor guest.

For Mr. and Mrs. London. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Glover entertained 18 guests at the dinner dance at Happy Hollow club Saturday evening complimentary to their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. London of Chicago, Ill.

Birthdays Celebration. When Mrs. John Byrne celebrated her 72d birthday on Friday her granddaughter, Mrs. I. Shuler, entertained for her at luncheon at the Lakoma club.

ATTENTION! Teachers of Music. We have a few excellent studios for rent on the third floor of our building. Service of all kinds free, also recital hall privileges, at reasonable rental.

BLACKHEADS GO QUICK BY THIS SIMPLE METHOD. Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body, go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them.

Take Advantage of the Savings Our August Fur Sale Offers

The unusual values, which in many cases exceed a saving of over 30 per cent, offered in this August Fur Sale, are made possible by our out-of-the-high-rent-district location.

National Fur Trimming Co. Factory Display Room, 1921-30 E. 13th Street. Atlantic 3922.

Former Omaha Girl Returns for Visit

Miss Helen Garvin, accompanied by Miss Mabel Gibbois and Miss Helen Garvin.

Mu Sigma Will Study Emerson Next Season

Mu Sigma, one of the oldest study clubs in the city, will review the life and works of Ralph Waldo Emerson at their meetings next season.

Complimentary to Miss Shrock. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Adams entertained at dinner at Auto View Rest, Friday evening when Miss Elizabeth Shrock of Chicago was the honor guest.

For Mr. and Mrs. Schulte. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schulte entertained at dinner Wednesday evening at their home in honor of their son, Albert Schulte, and Mrs. Schulte of St. Paul, Minn., who have been visiting with Mrs. Schulte's parents.

For Miss Catherine Gavin. Miss Clara Brewster entertained Miss Catherine Gavin, who has just returned to Omaha after nearly four years of Red Cross work in Austria and Czechoslovakia, at luncheon at Camp Brewster on Thursday.

Visitors Honored. Mr. and Mrs. DeEmmett Bradshaw entertained 10 guests at the Country club dinner dance Saturday evening when her daughter, Gertrude Irene, and her friends and their mothers were guests.

For Mrs. Albert Gage. Mrs. Albert E. Gage of Chicago, who is visiting her sister, Miss Anna Gage, was honored at luncheon Saturday at the Brandeis tea room when Miss Florence Britt was hostess.

Zeta Delta Club. The Zeta Delta club of Central High school entertained its members and russhes at a luncheon at the Fontenelle hotel Thursday.

Miss Helen Garvin, accompanied by Miss Mabel Gibbois and Miss Helen Garvin.

Miss Helen Garvin, accompanied by Miss Mabel Gibbois, arrived a week ago from Grand Rapids, Mich., to spend the month of August with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garvin.

Both Miss Garvin and her house guest are engaged in Y. W. C. A. work in Grand Rapids. Miss Garvin is in charge of girls work and Miss Gibbois is director of the physical education department.

Library Chats. The library is a place where you will find two friends, books and people. Over a thousand people use the reading room of the library each week.

Priscilla Club Meets. Mrs. Sam Mandelbaum will entertain the Priscilla club on Thursday afternoon at her home, Mrs. Mandelbaum's mother, Mrs. Frank Pearlson of Chicago, will be the out-of-town guest.

At Auto View Rest. Dining on Friday at Auto View Rest were W. L. Pugh and 4 guests and C. W. Adams with 8. On Saturday Dr. A. P. Overgaard had reservations for 4 for dinner.

For Miss Catherine Gavin. Miss Clara Brewster entertained Miss Catherine Gavin, who has just returned to Omaha after nearly four years of Red Cross work in Austria and Czechoslovakia, at luncheon at Camp Brewster on Thursday.

Visitors Honored. Mr. and Mrs. DeEmmett Bradshaw entertained 10 guests at the Country club dinner dance Saturday evening when her daughter, Gertrude Irene, and her friends and their mothers were guests.

For Mrs. Albert Gage. Mrs. Albert E. Gage of Chicago, who is visiting her sister, Miss Anna Gage, was honored at luncheon Saturday at the Brandeis tea room when Miss Florence Britt was hostess.

Zeta Delta Club. The Zeta Delta club of Central High school entertained its members and russhes at a luncheon at the Fontenelle hotel Thursday.

Robert Cuscaden School of Violin Playing. Enroll now for fall term. Studio and Concert Auditorium—Burgess-Nash Bldg., Fifth Floor.

Democratic Leaders to Honor Mrs. Funk

Mrs. Antonette Funk of Washington, D. C., democratic speaker and former suffrage worker, will be honor guest and principal speaker at a reception given by the Douglas County Democratic Woman's club and the county democratic central committee Monday evening, 8 o'clock, in the hall room of the Fontenelle hotel.

W. A. Chisman and children, Virginia and Bob, left Monday for Holdrege, Neb., and will return the end of next week.

W. L. London of Chicago arrived last week to join Mrs. London, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dean Glover, for several weeks.

Lee Aitchison, Francis Owen and George Latenser left Monday for a motor trip to Oklahoma City to attend their fraternity reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Webley and their granddaughter, Miss Ruth Lohman, motored last week to Omaha from Des Moines, their former home, and will locate at 3317 Cass street.

Thomas McClure arrived Friday from Los Angeles, to be the guest of his sister, Miss Effie Ann McClure, for a month. Mr. McClure is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity at Leland Stanford, where he has just completed his junior year.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McGlasson and sons, Sidney and Carleton, left Saturday morning for Yellowstone Park. They are motoring out over the Meridian trail. After two weeks in the park Mr. and Mrs. Miller will return to Omaha, while the McGlassons family take a short trip to Salt Lake City.

Mrs. John Chase of Minneapolis motored to Omaha with her sister, Mrs. F. W. Judson, to make a short visit. Mr. and Mrs. Judson were in Omaha and Wally Shephard were just returning from Minnesota after two weeks when joined by Mrs. Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. James Metcalfe have their little niece, Miss Jane Waite of St. Louis, as their guest. The visitor arrived on Wednesday and the latter part of August her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Waite, will motor up from St. Louis to take her home.

Miss Alice Sheehy has returned from a six weeks' visit at Madison, Wis., and Chicago, Ill.

Miss Lillian Head returned the end of the week from a visit of two months in the east.

Miss Lezita Smith leaves today for Minneapolis where she will be a guest at a house party.

Bernard Johnson is expected home the last of the week from a motor trip to the Minnesota lakes.

Mrs. William Barr and small son, Billy, jr., returned Saturday from Boston and Nantucket, Mass.

Personals

Mrs. E. W. Thompson of Burlington, Vt., is visiting Mrs. M. F. Sears.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loomis will arrive the first of the week from Eldora, Colo.

Mrs. Mason Korte and children returned Sunday from a month at Lakecrest, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas have returned from a month spent at Bemidji, Minn.

Miss Lillian Head returned the end of the week from a visit of two months in the east.

Miss Alice Sheehy has returned from a six weeks' visit at Madison, Wis., and Chicago, Ill.

Miss Lezita Smith leaves today for Minneapolis where she will be a guest at a house party.

Bernard Johnson is expected home the last of the week from a motor trip to the Minnesota lakes.

Mrs. William Barr and small son, Billy, jr., returned Saturday from Boston and Nantucket, Mass.

Mrs. T. E. Beebe and son, W. C. Beebe, have returned from a six weeks' visit on the Pacific coast.

Charles B. Lohman returned last Friday from an extended trip to Hot Springs, S. D., and in the surrounding country.

Rudolph Knepper arrived Friday from his home in Sioux City to visit Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Calkins over the weekend.

W. A. Chisman and children, Virginia and Bob, left Monday for Holdrege, Neb., and will return the end of next week.

Mrs. Max Sommers and her brother, Ed Gluck, left Thursday for Denver, Manitou, Colorado Springs and the Yellowstone.

W. L. London of Chicago arrived last week to join Mrs. London, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dean Glover, for several weeks.

Mrs. H. F. Mutschall and children, who have been visiting Mrs. Mutschall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Haynes, have returned to their home in Chicago.

Lee Aitchison, Francis Owen and George Latenser left Monday for a motor trip to Oklahoma City to attend their fraternity reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Webley and their granddaughter, Miss Ruth Lohman, motored last week to Omaha from Des Moines, their former home, and will locate at 3317 Cass street.

Capt. and Mrs. Louis J. Compton of Auburn, Ala., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ford E. Hovey. Captain Compton is in charge of the reserve officers training camp at Auburn.

Mrs. Harry B. Foster and daughter, Janet, have gone to Colorado for a few weeks' camping trip with friends. They are in the mountains near Breckenridge. The Rev. Mr. Foster will take his vacation later on.

Thomas McClure arrived Friday from Los Angeles, to be the guest of his sister, Miss Effie Ann McClure, for a month. Mr. McClure is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity at Leland Stanford, where he has just completed his junior year.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Miller, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McGlasson and sons, Sidney and Carleton, left Saturday morning for Yellowstone Park. They are motoring out over the Meridian trail. After two weeks in the park Mr. and Mrs. Miller will return to Omaha, while the McGlassons family take a short trip to Salt Lake City.

Mrs. John Chase of Minneapolis motored to Omaha with her sister, Mrs. F. W. Judson, to make a short visit. Mr. and Mrs. Judson were in Omaha and Wally Shephard were just returning from Minnesota after two weeks when joined by Mrs. Chase.

Mr. and Mrs. James Metcalfe have their little niece, Miss Jane Waite of St. Louis, as their guest. The visitor arrived on Wednesday and the latter part of August her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Waite, will motor up from St. Louis to take her home.

Miss Alice Sheehy has returned from a six weeks' visit at Madison, Wis., and Chicago, Ill.

Miss Lillian Head returned the end of the week from a visit of two months in the east.

Miss Lezita Smith leaves today for Minneapolis where she will be a guest at a house party.

Bernard Johnson is expected home the last of the week from a motor trip to the Minnesota lakes.

Mrs. William Barr and small son, Billy, jr., returned Saturday from Boston and Nantucket, Mass.

Mrs. T. E. Beebe and son, W. C. Beebe, have returned from a six weeks' visit on the Pacific coast.

Charles B. Lohman returned last Friday from an extended trip to Hot Springs, S. D., and in the surrounding country.

Omaha Party Views Battlefields.

(Continued From Page One.) They have 11 miles of underground passages for making and storing champagne (the demand for which has fallen off appreciably, they say, since the United States went dry). Even now, however, they have 14,000,000 bottles stored there.

The wine is bottled and tipped up toward the cork. It remains in this position for six months or a year while the sediment collect at the bottom. Then wine is frozen near the tip, making a solid sediment. The bottle is uncorked and from the pressure due to fermentation the icy sediment at the top is shot out of the bottle leaving perfectly clear wine.

New corking, labels, straw wrapping and the juice of the grape which grows abundantly in the southern part of France is ready for market. Champagne is not good after it is 12 years old.

In the War Area. Two days in the battle area north and east of Paris offered us many moments of deep feeling. The cemeteries of Marne-Airne, (near Belleau Woods), Aisne-Oise, and the lone grave of Quentin Roosevelt, buried some cathedral there and the former importance of the city.

The town was under fire for 110 days, (not consecutive). Of 77,000 prewar buildings only 13 were left intact when firing ceased. Our party stayed here over night and, as we walked about in the early evening it seems like a city of the dead.

Portions of wrecked walls shot up from the ground like ghost fingers and caverns (cellars or shell holes) yawned on either side of the shattered road. We seemed to hear the echo of our own voices.

The first day out we lunched at Chateau Thierry, where our American boys did some of their bravest fighting. The second day we stopped at Soissons. In the lobby of the hotel there is a framed page from the Saturday Evening Post of May 15, 1920, a story of the battlefields, written by Irving Cobb, in which he mentioned favorably the Red Lion inn, where we were.

Between Chateau Thierry and Soissons we saw acres and acres of trenches, dugouts, miles of wrapped barbed wire, remains of war machines and some construction going on. Two of Ann Morgan's girls passed us on their relief rounds.

Our wonder was that the French have been able to rebuild roads and clear fields as well as they have since the war ended, and those of us who saw the devastated area know it will be many years before this land and its buildings will be back to the condition of 1914.

Near Compeigne our car struck off on a branch road, into the beautiful forest and to the spot where Marshal Foch's car stood when the armistice was signed.

Among the Chateaux. Most conspicuous among the chateaux of France is Versailles, a palace of gold and glory, about 20 miles southwest of Paris. Its spectacular history dates back to Louis XIII, who used the place as a hunting ground, and Louis XIV, who built it. The fact that the world war peace treaty was signed there gives Americans and allied peoples a more intimate interest in Versailles than even the deed of an extravagant Louis or an ambitious Napoleon could inspire.

The guide at Versailles shows his party the balcony from which Marie Antoinette said "Then give them cake," when told there was no bread for the angry mob. He tells you that Versailles with its thousand rooms contains only one bath tub. He leads you through room after room finished and furnished with the richest and most beautiful things the earth possesses or mind conceives.

Pure gold leaf, masterly painting and rare tapestries adorn the walls. The gorgeous splendor of the styles, which cannot respond. Amusement, not inspiration, overwhelms. Relief comes with the forest fountains, flowers and famous statues out of doors at Versailles. Fontainebleau, about 35 miles south of Paris, is smaller, less luxurious, but much more appealing. It looks as though Napoleon had moved out only yesterday, so personal is it in tone, and so completely, even to trifling details, have the furnishings been retained. The Gobelin tapestries here were a pure delight, so too the floors which might be called "mosaic in wood." Fourteen varieties of wood were used in making up the pattern for one of the rooms. The woods of Fontainebleau need no further compliment than Corot gave them when he chose them for the subject of his master brush. Not far away is another shrine for artists, the little church which appears in Millet's picture, "The Angelus."

America and France we found linked at the Chaumont chateau. Our great statesman, Benjamin Franklin was at one time a visitor there, and today clay wall plaques of him are sold along with those of Catherine de Medici, Diana de Poitiers, Henri IV and others of French fame. Chaumont still has its drawbridge and, like places of defense, was built on a hill. Cedars of Lebanon spread themselves along the parkway of approach to the state. This was the only occupied chateau we visited.

Frank Pendleton of Kansas City is spending the week-end with his father, W. G. Pendleton, who is very ill at his home in Dundee.

Others holding reservations last evening were C. C. Belden, nine; I. F. Dale, five; F. R. Straight, four; and W. L. Wilcox, six.

Country Club. Miss Blanche Deuel entertained 14 guests at the Country club dinner dance Saturday evening, complimentary to her cousin, Miss Martha Morton of Nebraska City.

Ed Pettis entertained a foursome at the dinner dance Saturday evening and Dr. Allyn Moser had three guests.

W. J. Mansfield "The Devoe Paint Store" Artists' Materials, Picture Framing and Sign Writers' Supplies 1322 Farnam AT 4833 (Opposite W. O. W.)

Omaha Party Views Battlefields.

(Continued From Page One.) They have 11 miles of underground passages for making and storing champagne (the demand for which has fallen off appreciably, they say, since the United States went dry). Even now, however, they have 14,000,000 bottles stored there.

The wine is bottled and tipped up toward the cork. It remains in this position for six months or a year while the sediment collect at the bottom. Then wine is frozen near the tip, making a solid sediment. The bottle is uncorked and from the pressure due to fermentation the icy sediment at the top is shot out of the bottle leaving perfectly clear wine.

New corking, labels, straw wrapping and the juice of the grape which grows abundantly in the southern part of France is ready for market. Champagne is not good after it is 12 years old.

In the War Area. Two days in the battle area north and east of Paris offered us many moments of deep feeling. The cemeteries of Marne-Airne, (near Belleau Woods), Aisne-Oise, and the lone grave of Quentin Roosevelt, buried some cathedral there and the former importance of the city.

The town was under fire for 110 days, (not consecutive). Of 77,000 prewar buildings only 13 were left intact when firing ceased. Our party stayed here over night and, as we walked about in the early evening it seems like a city of the dead.

Portions of wrecked walls shot up from the ground like ghost fingers and caverns (cellars or shell holes) yawned on either side of the shattered road. We seemed to hear the echo of our own voices.

The first day out we lunched at Chateau Thierry, where our American boys did some of their bravest fighting. The second day we stopped at Soissons. In the lobby of the hotel there is a framed page from the Saturday Evening Post of May 15, 1920, a story of the battlefields, written by Irving Cobb, in which he mentioned favorably the Red Lion inn, where we were.

Between Chateau Thierry and Soissons we saw acres and acres of trenches, dugouts, miles of wrapped barbed wire, remains of war machines and some construction going on. Two of Ann Morgan's girls passed us on their relief rounds.

Our wonder was that the French have been able to rebuild roads and clear fields as well as they have since the war ended, and those of us who saw the devastated area know it will be many years before this land and its buildings will be back to the condition of 1914.

Near Compeigne our car struck off on a branch road, into the beautiful forest and to the spot where Marshal Foch's car stood when the armistice was signed.

Among the Chateaux. Most conspicuous among the chateaux of France is Versailles, a palace of gold and glory, about 20 miles southwest of Paris. Its spectacular history dates back to Louis XIII, who used the place as a hunting ground, and Louis XIV, who built it. The fact that the world war peace treaty was signed there gives Americans and allied peoples a more intimate interest in Versailles than even the deed of an extravagant Louis or an ambitious Napoleon could inspire.

The guide at Versailles shows his party the balcony from which Marie Antoinette said "Then give them cake," when told there was no bread for the angry mob. He tells you that Versailles with its thousand rooms contains only one bath tub. He leads you through room after room finished and furnished with the richest and most beautiful things the earth possesses or mind conceives.

Pure gold leaf, masterly painting and rare tapestries adorn the walls. The gorgeous splendor of the styles, which cannot respond. Amusement, not inspiration, overwhelms. Relief comes with the forest fountains, flowers and famous statues out of doors at Versailles. Fontainebleau, about 35 miles south of Paris, is smaller, less luxurious, but much more appealing. It looks as though Napoleon had moved out only yesterday, so personal is it in tone, and so completely, even to trifling details, have the furnishings been retained. The Gobelin tapestries here were a pure delight, so too the floors which might be called "mosaic in wood." Fourteen varieties of wood were used in making up the pattern for one of the rooms. The woods of Fontainebleau need no further compliment than Corot gave them when he chose them for the subject of his master brush. Not far away is another shrine for artists, the little church which appears in Millet's picture, "The Angelus."

America and France we found linked at the Chaumont chateau. Our great statesman, Benjamin Franklin was at one time a visitor there, and today clay wall plaques of him are sold along with those of Catherine de Medici, Diana de Poitiers, Henri IV and others of French fame. Chaumont still has its drawbridge and, like places of defense, was built on a hill. Cedars of Lebanon spread themselves along the parkway of approach to the state. This was the only occupied chateau we visited.

Frank Pendleton of Kansas City is spending the week-end with his father, W. G. Pendleton, who is very ill at his home in Dundee.

Others holding reservations last evening were C. C. Belden, nine; I. F. Dale, five; F. R. Straight, four; and W. L. Wilcox, six.

Country Club. Miss Blanche Deuel entertained 14 guests at the Country club dinner dance Saturday evening, complimentary to her cousin, Miss Martha Morton of Nebraska City.

Ed Pettis entertained a foursome at the dinner dance Saturday evening and Dr. Allyn Moser had three guests.

W. J. Mansfield "The Devoe Paint Store" Artists' Materials, Picture Framing and Sign Writers' Supplies 1322 Farnam AT 4833 (Opposite W. O. W.)

Our 9th August Fur Sale

In all our August Fur Sales, this being the ninth consecutive one, never has the response been greater, nor has more enthusiasm been manifested. Our showing has never been more varied and complete and the prices are the most attractive Aulabaugh has been able to offer in many years.

The skins and pelts used in the making of these wonderful garments are received direct from the Aulabaugh Trading Posts in far northern Canada. Only the perfect skins—"the cream of the season's catch"—skins which are thick, rich and luxurious are held for our patrons. Skins of inferior grades are placed on the open market.

Come in and inspect these wonderful Fur Garments; there are values here which exceed your expectations.

We will gladly place any garment you select in our vault until fall . . . without charge.

A Few of the August Fur Sale Prices

Table with 2 columns: Item description and Price. Includes Hudson Seal Coat, Jap Mink Coat, Hudson Seal Collar, Jap Mink Cape, Natural Hudson Bay Sable Cape, Jap Mink Cape, Black Caracul Cape, Two-Skin Mink Choker.

Aulabaugh Furs

Southeast Corner 19th and Farnam

The Store of Thomas Kilpatrick Co. Established in 1870. A Sale of Daytime Silk Dresses Worth Talking About. Late August days bring thoughts of Silk Dresses, especially the fashion favored colors—black and navy. A new shipment, just in and not before shown, autumn styles, including drapes, panels and 3/4-length sleeves, are beautifully priced to $59.50. Added to these new dresses are about 60 others taken from regular stock, some of which were originally and conservatively priced to $59.50. The materials are of Canton Crepe, Taffeta, Satin, three-piece Krepe Knits, Georgette, Roshanara, Satin Canton and Foulard combinations. Sport shades as well as black, navy and brown. Junior Dresses Are Included in this sale and have for convenience been transferred to the women's and misses' sections. Sizes 14 to 52—Plenty of large sizes. Formerly Priced to $59.50, ALL AT ONE PRICE $24.75 Monday Morning, 9 O'clock

