

International Alliance of Coal Miners Planned

Conference Between Unions of U. S. and Great Britain Expected to Be Held in London or America.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 18.—Plans are under way for an international alliance between the coal miners of Great Britain and the United States to aid each other in time of strike.

This was learned when William Green, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, announced that a conference for the purpose of bringing about such a plan of co-operation had been suggested by the miners' federation of Great Britain and had been favorably received by the international officers of the American union.

Such an alliance, Mr. Green explained, would prevent the exportation of British mined coal to America to aid in breaking strikes here, and would also serve to prohibit the exportation to Great Britain of coal dug by American miners when the miners of that country were on strike. He said a joint conference of representatives of the miners' union of both countries would probably be arranged in either London or America.

Members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, which Saturday concluded its session here, tonight expressed their approval of the international alliance and said it would probably hasten the end of coal strikes in either country, if carried out. They took the position that British mined coal imported during the recent miners' strike had served to prolong the strike by augmenting the nonunion stock.

Mr. Green, who also is the vice president of the American Federation of Labor, said that the British miners' union had sent a check for $22,000 to the United Mine Workers of America, to be used in financing the costs growing out of the recent nation-wide strike.

Bellevue Sends 'Big Four' to Convention of Legion

It's a distinguished quartet of representatives that the Bellevue Vocational school for ex-service men sent to the American Legion convention at York, Neb., this week.

It includes John Kelly, holder of a Distinguished Service cross and numerous citations; Ralph Mercer, president of the Bellevue student body; Henry Lafort, commander of the district Disabled American Veterans, and J. E. Collins, instructor, at the school and active in the American Legion movement to establish a community building for ex-service men in Omaha.

The delegation went to York Sunday night printed for one purpose, to put through a resolution calling upon congress and the War Veterans' bureau to establish in each district such a training center for rehabilitation as the one in Bellevue.

"It has done more to rehabilitate men in its short period of existence than any movement of the kind undertaken by the bureau," the men say.

College Head Speaker at Baptist Meeting

Dr. John Mason Wells, president of Grand Island college, gave the principal address last night at Omaha Baptist district conference, in session in the First Baptist church. Seventy-five delegates from towns in eastern Nebraska are attending.

Rev. Fred Young of Fremont addressed the gathering yesterday. The convention opened with a young people's service Sunday. Dr. G. L. Sharp of Benson spoke.

Women of the church serve meals to the delegates, who also are entertained in local Baptist homes.

Four Hunters Fined.

It is a violation of the state game laws to shoot blackbirds, explained Dick Pfeiffer and Buch Ames, deputy game wardens, in the justice court of L. N. Buce yesterday.

The officers are rounding up hunters who do not have licenses and those who otherwise violate hunting laws.

Alfio Amato, 1116 South Ninth street, was fined $5 yesterday. Others similarly penalized were Joe Marillo, 1318 South Fourteenth street; Carl Gullotto, 1219 South Seventh street; Ed Barowsky, Fifty-sixth and Q streets.

Los Angeles, Sept. 18.—The trial of Mrs. Clara Phillips, indicted for the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, went over today until October 20, when the defendant appeared in court without counsel and asked the court to assign the public defender to the case. The Nebraska and Iowa Motion Picture Theater Owners' convention, scheduled to be held in Omaha for three days beginning yesterday, has been postponed until October, the dates depending upon Will Hays' acceptance of an invitation to attend the convention, according to J. Eric Kirk, secretary of the association.

Shopmen on U. P. Quit as Others Go Back to Work

Northwestern and Milwaukee Roads Report Men "in Large Numbers" Returning to Jobs Here.

While shopmen were returning to work on the Northwestern and Milwaukee lines in Omaha Monday, more than a dozen boilermakers laid down their tools and quit work at the Union Pacific shops here, it was reported at union headquarters yesterday morning.

It was stated at the executive offices of Northwestern lines west that men "in large numbers" were returning to work in Chicago and in Omaha. The Northwestern and the Milwaukee are the only lines entering Omaha known to have been parties to the agreement reached last week in Chicago.

Missouri Pacific officials here said they did not know whether or not a settlement had been made with strikers on their lines.

Leaders of striking Union Pacific shopmen here expressed confidence some sort of a settlement would be reached on the Union Pacific system soon. Union Pacific officers still maintain their original position, however, that a new organization of shopmen has been formed, a new wage scale placed in force, and that the road can be operated efficiently with its present force.

Resolution Passed.

Following the signing of an agreement covering rules, rates of pay and working conditions, made effective on the Burlington system September 15, a resolution by the six general agents of the newly formed mechanical department of the Burlington railroad was presented to E. P. Bracken, operating vice president, and other officers. The resolution, among other things, holds that the recent conference "exemplified that employer and employee can get together amicably in a spirit of mutual accommodation and successfully and satisfactorily dispose of all matters of difference."

The old Burlington system federation of shop crafts has thus far failed to negotiate a peace with the Burlington, and Burlington officers assert the new organization has permanently replaced the old federation, members of which went on strike July 1.

All shopcraft men who were out on strike are back at work in the shops of the Milwaukee railroad, General Agent Eugene Duval said.

"We have taken back all the strikers," he said. "A great many of the men who came to us during the strike do not care to continue the work and thus are making room for the former employes."

RADIO B Stations to Get 400-Meter Waves

Special Length Will Be Hard to Acquire—Only Super-Plants Eligible.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The licensing of Class B radiotelephone broadcasting stations by the Department of Commerce under new regulations will enable those fans who desire to "listen in" to the best stations on a special 400 meter wave without interference from some of the lesser lights in radio broadcasting.

But what stations will be selected? As the new regulations require a minimum of 500 and a maximum of 1,000 watts in the antenna, no harmonics, special modulation, a studio and a supervised program, using "canned" music only in an emergency or during intermission, it is not believed many of the 487 broadcasting stations can now meet the requirements.

One "B" Station Per City. Upon application through the nine district inspectors the department will license "B" stations as fast as they qualify, but probably not more than one in each city or section at first. In the event two or more stations qualify in a single district or neighborhood where interference would occur, a schedule will be arranged dividing the time between them.

The "B" stations will have to toe the mark in station efficiency and keep up to scratch on programs, the chief radio inspector states, or they will lose their special wave length and revert to 300 meters with the general broadcasting stations.

Radio Criticisms.

D. W. Campbell, 2924 Fontenelle boulevard, is winner of the $2 prize offered by The Omaha Bee over the radio last week for the best criticism of broadcasting from station WDV.

Announcement of the contest was made solely by radio and numerous criticisms received by the radio editor showed that station WDV plays to large audiences. Other prize contests will be announced over the radio by The Omaha Bee from time to time.

Voland Heads Clothiers.

Fred Voland, Topeka, Kan., clothier, well known in Omaha, was elected president of the National Retail Clothiers' association, in New York Saturday. Voland is generally a speaker at the Nebraska clothiers' annual meeting.
