Browns Weaken and Yanks Take Final Game of "Little World Series," 3-2

St. Louis Holds Lead Until the Final Inning

Davis Has Better of Pitchers' Battle With Joe Bush Until Final Round—Sisler Fails to Hit.

St. Louis, Sept. 18.—After holding a lead on the New York Americans the Browns permitted the visitors to come from behind in the last inning and take today's game, 3 to 2, thus increasing New York's lead to one and one-half games. The Browns' four errors figured in the visitor's three runs.

Up to the last inning the contest was a pitcher's battle, with Davis of the Browns getting the best of his battle with Bush. He weakened, however, in the ninth and the visitors took advantage of two hits and an error, and scored the tying and winning runs.

The Browns scored the first run in the fifth inning on Jacobson's double, McManus' single and Severeid's sacrifice fly, and added another in the seventh on Williams' double, Jacobson's sacrifice and McManus' double.

The Yankees made their first run in the eighth inning, when Dugan, who had doubled, reached home on McManus' throw over Sisler's head on Pipp's infield single. The tying and winning tallies came in the last inning.

Schang reached first base on an infield hit and went to second on a passed ball. Smith was sent in to bat for Ward, but was removed in favor of McNally when Pruett relieved Davis; McNally, attempting to sacrifice went to first as Severeid threw low to catch Schang on third. Scott walked and Shocker relieved Pruett. Bush forced Schang at the plate. Witt's single brought in McNally and Scott. Dugan hit into a double play, ending the rally.

By taking today's game the visitors also took the series, having won the first game Saturday. The Browns only victory of this crucial series was due to Pruett's great pitching in Sunday's game. Having lost today's game, the Browns are now conceded but little chance to win the pennant. Sports writers agreed that this series would decide the pennant winners of the American league.

Sisler, the Browns' first baseman, broke his string of hitting in consecutive games after getting at least one hit in 41 successive contests, thus establishing a new modern major league record. The previous modern record was made by Cobb, when he hit safely in 40 consecutive games in 1911.

This series between the Yankees and Browns, referred to as a "Little World's Series," drew a capacity crowd. At all three games spectators were admitted to the playing field and ground rules were enforced. It has been estimated by the Browns' management that at least 85,000 attended the three games.

Although the Browns are scheduled to meet the weaker teams of the league while the leaders will play Detroit and Cleveland, it is believed unlikely by followers of the national pastime that the Yankees will lose their lead of one and one-half games.

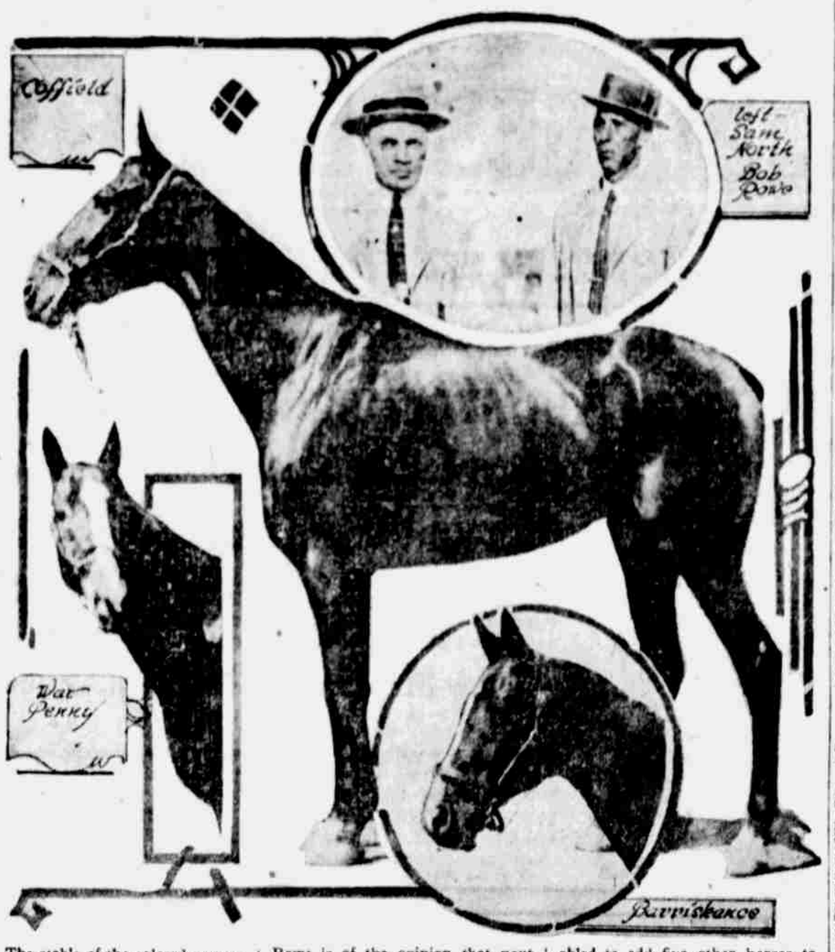
Coffield Star of North and Rowe Stable



The stable of the colored owners, North and Rowe, is cutting quite a figure in the Ak-Sar-Ben races lately.

Headed by Coffield, one of the best platers in training, the N. and R. string has been giving a good account of itself. Coffield won his first start and later it required a brilliant race on the part of Penwell to beat him. Trainer "Bob" Rowe is of the opinion that next time the two horses hook up his star will better the speedy Nesselhaus mare.

Coffield, after winning a number of purses at Tijuana last winter, campaigned on the eastern tracks with success and is now homeward bound, for he will be shipped to San Diego following the Omaha racing.

Off the winnings of Coffield, North and Rowe were recently enabled to add five other horses to their stable, including Barriskane, a fast sprinter; War Penny, a good route goer, and a trio of yearlings purchased in New York.

"Kid" North, fashion plate, and former partner of Joe Gans, attends to the business end of the stable, while "Bob" Rowe directs the training of the horses. And let it be said there are few smarter trainers on the turf than "Bob" Rowe.
